MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN
THE OUTSTANDING YOUNG
PERSONS' ASSOCIATION

It gives me great pleasure to join with many others in giving public recognition to the FIVE outstanding young persons in Hong Kong, whose dedication to their profession and undertakings has resulted in exceptional achievements for the progress of our society and the advancement of various fields of service.

Few would dispute the recipients are indeed outstanding and most worthy of the award. However, the award carries with it certain responsibilities; it expects the recipients to maintain and make further outstanding contributions to our community. For this very purpose, the Outstanding Young Persons' Association (TOYPA) was formed in November, 1977.

Our Association had successfully completed a Career Guidance Project for Young People. Through a series of 13-part half-hourly television programme (鵬 程 萬 里) which were shown in both Chinese channels, a radio 'hot-line' programme and a correspondence service, we had unfolded clearly career requirements and prospects of selected professions/ trades which have high employment opportunities for over a million people in Hong Kong.

In response to the United Nations International Year of the Child (IYC), our Association has recently organized the Project on the "Selection of Model Children in Hong Kong". Let us hope that the model children of today will become the outstanding young persons of to-morrow.

TOYPA heartily welcomes the five new members of 1979. With added strength, we look forward to another fruitful year as we congratulate the Hong Kong Junior Chamber for its success in the 1979 TOYP Selection.

Y.F. Hui
Chairman
The Outstanding Young Persons' Association

MESSAGE FROM THE PROJECT CHAIRMAN

Jaycees International is an organisation which involves young people in the betterment of the community throughout the world, and the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection is one of the many community projects organised by the Jaycees for this purpose.

Through recognition of the outstanding young persons in Hong Kong for their achievements in their profession as well as contributions to the community, the project, as it gets more widely known to the community, serves as an encouragement to other young persons for attaining an equally outstanding goal.

It is definitely not an easy task to select some outstanding young persons who really deserve the award. In this respect, we are grateful to the Panel of Judges and the Selection Consultants for having gone through a lot in keeping up the consistenly high standard of the awardees.

Thanks are also due to RTV, the press and other public media for their assistance in giving the project much publicity.

The successful execution of this project is a result of the unfailing efforts of members in the Organising Committee and I wish extend to them my heartiest appreciation.

Andrew Wong

MRS. CHAN WONG SHUI

Mrs. Chan is the chief executive of a voluntary welfare agency which has 74 service units and 300 staff members serving more than 120,000 children and parents. Through here dedication and leadership, Mrs. Chan has made significant contributions towards the advancement of the welfare of children and youth in Hong Kong.

Mrs. Chan has gained wide recognition as one of the leading authorities in Hong Kong in her field of service. She is currently the elected Chairman of the Children and Youth Division of the Hong Kong Council of Social Service and is also a member of the Advisory Committee for the School of Social Work of the Polytechnic. In the past few years, Mrs. Chan's expertise has often been called upon to represent voluntary agencies in working with Government to formulate and review social welfare policies and plans for children and youth services.

Mrs. Chan has made substantial contributions in the planning and organization of local programmes and activities of the United Nations International Year of the Child (IYC). She is also instrumental in promoting a few surveys which will promote the interests and welfare of children in Hong Kong.

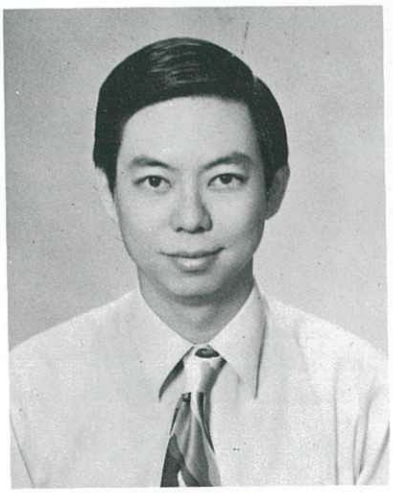

MR. KAN TAI-KEUNG

Mr. Kan's success story is one of hardwork and perseverence. He has neither family nor educational background to support him in his pursuit of an artistic career. With a humble beginning as an apprentice-tailor, Mr. Kan worked his way slowly but steadfastly towards becoming a top designer/painter in Hong Kong.

Mr. Kan is one of the pioneers in developing techniques, combining traditional Chinese and Western methods in painting. He is also the member of the One Art Group which is of high repute and renowned for pioneering new techniques.

Design is the area in which Mr. Kan has most distinguished himself as is indicated by the long and impressive list of local and overseas awards. It should be pointed out that he is the first local designer to have his stamp designs accepted for use by the Post Office. This is not only a significant personal achievement, but has served to open the door for other local people as well.

With his down-to-earth manner and personality, Mr. Kan voluntarily shares his skill and experience with many young people. He also lectures now and then at the extra-mural courses of the University of Hong Kong and the Chinese University of Hong Kong as well as at the Design Department of the Polytechnic.

DR. LAM KUI-CHUNG

Dr. Lam has made significant contribution in the understanding of an internal dsease and has established the cause of tis disease which is a killer in our local population. Then, through his research work, Dr. Lam collected evidences that this disease is largely preventable, contrasting sharply with views extrapolated from overseas findings. Currently, Dr. Lam is working to bring a vaccine to Hong Kong for prevention of this disease.

Dr. Lam declined an attractive overseas offer and returned to Hong Kong after his post-graduate studies to build up a special unit in the University Department of Medicine, Queen Mary Hospital, to the level that some South-East Asian countries are now sending their post-graduate doctors here for training in this field.

Recently, Dr. Lam has been a prime mover to pool together scanty resources for medical research in Asian-Pacific area to advance knowledge in this disease. This research activity is now subsidized by the World Health Organization (W.H.O.), thus acknowledging the importance of the work.

Dr. Lam has also declined lucrative private practice where the income could be many more times his current salary. Besides being an outstanding doctor, teacher and researcher, Dr. Lam is also involved in the area committees of the City District Office. His in-depth understanding of the pros and cons of those committees has amply demonstrated his conscientiousness for the welfare of the local people.

Please note:

Due to ethical practice of his profession, we regret our inability to release Dr. Lam's specialty.

MISS LEUNG SIU-GUN

Miss Leung has proved to be a builder in all her areas of endeavour: as a teacher, in her church, and in the Girl Guides, and her greatest measurable contribution to the community beyond performing her job well has been in the latter.

Miss Leung joined the Hong Kong Girl Guides Association in 1971 and has risen to the high level of authority and responsibility of a Division Commissioner which comprises of several districts with almost 100 groups of girl guides. Miss Leung's Division is in the New Territories, therefore, she has to overcome a major obstacle to the growth of Girl Guide movement in her area. This is the resistence of parents, especially those of the farming communities, to the idea of their children giving significant time to activities other than study and/or work.

Miss Leung began her teaching career some 15 years ago and through hardwork and dedication, she is now the Vice Principal and Director of Extra-Curricular Activities of a school. Miss Leung also worked diligently in the work of a Catholic Credit Union to help those in financial difficulty.

Miss Leung projects an attitude of thorough dedication, and her leadership qualities are well attested. Her motivation is clearly not financial, the reward she seeks is mainly the satisfaction of serving people.

DR. POON CHUNG-KWONG

Dr. Poon is an outstanding researcher and teacher at the University of Hong Kong where he is Reader to the Department of Chemistry. Besides being a well-known scholar in his field, Dr. Poon has gained international reputation in the field of Inorganic Chemistry through his numerous researches and publications. He is a referee for the Journal of Chemistry Society (London) to review scientific papers submitted for publication. Dr. Poon has also been invited by many universities abroad to conduct research sminars.

To confirm Dr. Poon's international standing in his field, another honour has been conferred on him. Dr. Poon has just been awarded the degree of Doctor of Science by the University of London, the published criteria for which indicate that Dr. Poon's work is of a high standard containing original contributions to the advancement of knowledge and learning.

Dr. Poon impresses people as a man who genuinely loves science. Pure science is motivated by the desire for knowledge, regardless of whether that knowledge will ever have any practical application. Dr. Poon has maintained this scientists' criterion in his research, but has also demonstrated the teacher's desire to share knowledge, and more important, share effectively the techniques of seeking it.

Dr. Poon displays a conscientious citizen's desire to contribute directly to society out of his specialist knowledge. He has done on a voluntary basis a number of testings for the Consumers Council. He also serves in committees of the Examination Authority, and the Committee for Scientific Co-ordination which organizes public lectures on science topics.

HOW JAYCEES BEGAN, GREW AND BECAME INTERNATIONAL

IT BEGAN . . . .

In 1915 when the thought of utilizing the young man-power of a community for public service came forcibly to a young man who conceived the Jaycee ideal, Henry Giessenbier.

The idea met with immediate response and on 13th October, 1915, at the Mission Inn, in St. Louis, an organization called "Young Men's Progressive Civic Association" was found, whose name became "Junior Citizens" until 1916.

After two years activity under that name, the local Chamber of Commerce gave its blessing to the movement and its name was changed to Junior Chamber of Commerce. Henry Giessenbier was elected President and Andrew G. Mungenast Secretary.

A caucus was held on 21st January, 1920, in St. Louis, at which 24 cities were represented. It was decided to organize the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce and held a convention in St. Louis in June to perfect a permanant organization.

In the United States, and it was also developing in other countries. By 1926, both England and Canada had chambers, and enquiries were being made from such distant countries as New Zealand and South Africa.

By 1933, Junior Chamber had grown to 158 units in the U.S.A., 16 in Canada, 14 in England, and one each in Australia, Colombia, Mexico, New Zealand and South Africa.

The year 1942 was a year in which hundreds of millions of men and women, and most of the nations of the world, were engaged in a war of unparalled destruction and tragedy. Yet within Junior Chamber individual actions were being taken which, while small in themselves, were a significant sign of the desire to achieve in the future a better understanding and relationship between men and nations.

In this year, the young leaders of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce change their bylaws to offer a seat on their National Executive Committee to President of the Canada Junior Chamber. In the same spirit, they passed a further resolution to sponsor the creation of Junior Chamber in Central and South America.

IT BECAME INTERNATIONAL . . . .

In early 1943 when two Junior Chamber members, Allyn Taylor, Canada, and Vance Graham, U.S.A., undertook an extensive tour in South America and formed Junior Chambers in Mexico, Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Costa Rica, Panama and Nicaragua. Later that year the International Relations Committee Chairman of the United States Junior Chamber, Ray Wolff, visited the same countries and, through his efforts, plans were made for an inter-American Congress to take place in Mexico City in December 1944.

This Congress, which began on 7th December, was attended by 36 delegates from nine nations. Four days later, on 11th December, 1944, Junior Chamber International was born. Raul G. Vidal, of Mexico, was elected at this meeting as the first JCI President.

The first formally constituted JCI Congress followed in February, 1946 in Panama City, Panama, six months after the termination of World War II. Delegates and observers attended from Argentina, Brazil, Costa Rica, Chile, Ecuador, U.S.A. Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Mexico, Panama, Peru, and Uruguay.

Today, over 600,000 young men and women in some 84 countries share the same ideals and principles and constitute the largest organization of young men in the world.

IN HONG KONG . . . .

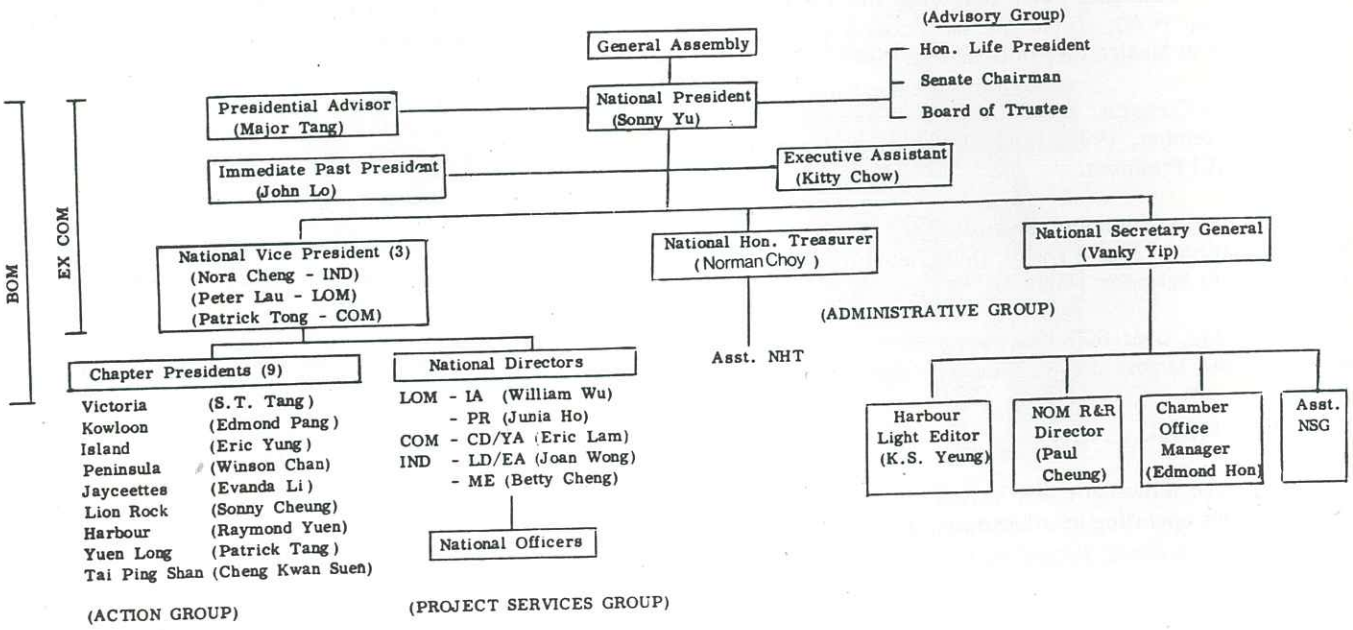

Jaycee Movement was introduced in 1950 by a group of enthusiastic young men who were inspired by the work of the Jaycees operating in other parts of the world certainly benefit the young people of Hong Kong and the community at large.

It began with the establishment of the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce, in 1950. Its continued expansion and growth gives rise to the present development whereby there are eleven chapters in Hong Kong, listed as follows:—

1.	Victoria Jaycees	(Established in 1965)
2.	Kowloon Jaycees	(Established in 1965)
3.	Island Jaycees	(Established in 1966)

1. Purpose
This project seeks to give communal recognition to the young people of Hong Kong, whose dedication to their profession or life undertaking, has resulted in exceptional achievements in the form of significant contributions to the progress or the community at large, or to the advancement of their respective fields of endeavour. CHAMPION

The Concorde Supersonic Jet Is Equipped With Champion Igniter Plugs

The Champion Spark Plug Company is the leading supplier of spark plugs and igniters to the aircraft industry. Champion entered the aviation business in the early days when most aircraft engines were using automotive type spark plugs.

Champion maintains a major share of the aircraft business by continuing to develop new designs to meet the needs of industry.

The confidence Concorde designers have placed in Champion turbine igniters is further proof of Champion's advanced technology — a technology which is already recognized by automobile manufacturers and motorists around the world.
