And that service to humanity is the best work of life.

TEN OUTSTANDING YOUNG PERSONS SELECTION 1987 AWARDS PRESENTATION

REGENT HOTEL BALLROOM
1st DECEMBER 1987

PATRON

The Hon. the Chief Secretary.
David R. Ford, LVO, OBE, JP

MESSAGE FROM PATRON

Over the years, the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection has given recognition to the talented young people of our community who have made important contributions to Hong Kong in different ways. They were selected not only on the basis of their achievements in their own respective fields but also on the wider interests of Hong Kong which they have served.

As Hong Kong enters a new era in its history, commitment to the future of the territory is, I believe, another factor which should be rated in the selection process. Hong Kong has strived on the strength of its human resources. We must maintain the quality of this valuable asset in order to remain competitive.

On the 15th Anniversary of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection, I congratulate the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce on its achievements in the past and wish it continued success in the years to come.

MESSAGE FROM SPONSOR

Over the past sixteen years, the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection has been recognizing Hong Kong's young leaders for their exceptional achievements and contributions to the local community. Like the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce, Philip Morris is fully convinced of the need to recognize excellence and success. We are therefore very honored to once again sponsor the 1987 Selection.

The calibre of this year's candidates has been high, a fact that bodes well for the future of Hong Kong, but which made the task of members of the selection panel extremely difficult. Aside from the candidates' achievements in their respective fields, a crucial factor in deciding on the final list of awardees has been their concern and dedication to the people of Hong Kong.

Each of the young people chosen by the panel of judges now has his or her own challenge to confront – that of continuing to excel, not only in their individual fields of endeavour, but also as models for others who are striving for personal achievement and for betterment of the community they serve.

It gives me great pleasure, and pride, to once again participate in the search for Hong Kong's young leaders. The exceptional talents of the people of Hong Kong, make it the exceptional place that it is.

MESSAGE FROM JUDGES

This annual Ten Outstanding Young Persons programme for Hong Kong Jaycees conduct is certainly most meaningful, not only because Jaycees the world over pay tribute to outstanding performance by young people in their communities, but also because it provides the opportunity to recognise those individuals who have excelled in their fields of endeavour.

Almost half of Hong Kong's population is composed of young people – in a community such as ours, which everyone is hard-working and exerts their efforts towards a better tomorrow, it is not easy to select the best among the excellent, who have made particularly noteworthy contribution to our community.

I am very pleased to have been invited to participate in this year's TOYP Selection, and I wish the Jaycees of Hong Kong continued success in the future.

Sir Roger Lobo, CBE, LLD, JP

I am greatly honoured to be a member of the Judging Panel for this year's Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection.

The Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce should be congratulated for having initiated and sustained this very worthwhile annual event. Since the first selection in 1970, a great number of young persons have been encouraged in their continuing search for excellence and in their service to the community.

Today, Hong Kong is facing up to the economic and social challenges of the future. We are seeking to develop a society which, in the words of the Governor, Sir David Wilson, "combines a strong, expanding and competitive economy with concern for the quality of life of all its inhabitants". Young persons with leadership qualities and a sense of social responsibility have a key role in shaping our future. I am sure that, like their predecessors, the successful candidates of this year's selection will play their part.

Mr. John Chan, LVO, OBE, JP
Deputy Chief Secretary

MESSAGE FROM JUDGES

Hong Kong has succeeded in becoming a prosperous and dynamic city in spite of its total lack of natural resources. It has had no aid from wealthy countries. It has created its own wealth through the work and enterprise of its people.

Every year the JAYCEES mount this campaign to identify outstanding young persons. If anyone has any fear that Hong Kong will fail to continue to live up to the challenges of the future they need only contemplate the achievements of the winners of this year's nominations.

They are all worthy of our congratulations. Their endeavour has been in many and varied fields. They are typical of the best of what has made Hong Kong.

Mr. Denis Bray, CMG, CVO, JP
Executive Director of the Community Chest of Hong Kong

I am indeed honoured and delighted to have been afforded the opportunity by the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce to serve as a member of the Judging Panel of this year's "Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection" and to contribute a brief message to the souvenir programme of the Awards Presentation Ceremony.

First of all, I wish to extend to all the award-recipients my heartiest congratulations. These aspiring young men and women are chosen after a very lengthy and thorough selection process and I am pleased that, through this selection, their outstanding achievements are being publicly acknowledged and recognized by the community at large. The result of the selection will no doubt provide an incentive to all the promising young people of Hong Kong to seek further advancement in areas of their personal as well as public interests.

I also wish to take this opportunity to praise the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce and especially the Chairman and members of the Organising Committee on their tremendous efforts in once again holding this prestigious event. I wish the organisers every success in their future endeavours.

Dr. John L. Clark
Director of Hong Kong Polytechnic

MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT JAYCEES INTERNATIONAL

It is with a deep sense of pride that I congratulate all the members of Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce on the occasion of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons's Project through the medium of this souvenir book.

I congratulate these young people who are being honored this year with the hope that they will feel some satisfaction from our efforts to recognize them. They have accomplished a great deal at an early age.

Each honoree has shown their commitment, reminding all of us that no problem is too difficult to solve with creative enterprise and hard work. They are living examples of the Jaycee belief that "Earth's great treasure lies in human personality and that service to humanity is the best work of life." I am convinced that they have a lot more to contribute to society in years to come.

Let us accept the many difficult and exciting challenges offered by today's society; let us strive to provide solutions to those challenges; let us demonstrate to our communities that we are a leadership development organization; and let us exist in cooperation and consultation with our fellow Jaycees around the world and thus highlight the benefits of international brotherhood.

"It CAN be done".

MESSAGE FROM EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT JAYCEES INTERNATIONAL

Jaycees around the world believe that the shaping of today's young people holds the key to our world's future.

The Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection Program crystalizes our firm conviction that young people of all colours, race, nationalities, or religions share the same aspiration – the aspiration to strive for excellence, and to strive for the harmony of global interdependence. Without exception, these desires form the basic ingredients for the achievement of each of our TOYP Awardees.

Our future has to be shaped now. My congratulations to the Hong Kong Jaycees for their dedication in the implementation of this meaningful program, reiterating our faith in the strength of human and moral qualities as the cornerstone of our future.

Let us all salute our 1987 Outstanding Young Persons of Hong Kong.

Jennifer C.W. Yu
Executive Vice President

MESSAGE FROM VICE PRESIDENT JAYCEES INTERNATIONAL

It is indeed a privilege to congratulate the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce for successfully implemented the 1987 Ten Outstanding Young Persons programme for Hong Kong.

The TOYP Programme is one of the important programmes that Jaycees International carries out yearly. The Hong Kong Junior Chamber Of Commerce has been consistently participating this worldwide search since 1983. In 1984, your nominee, Mdm. Doreen Leung, was named one of the seven Outstanding Young Persons of the world, which is a great honour for Hong Kong.

Jaycees is the worldwide leadership development organisation. We train and develop young leaders. We provide valuable training courses. And the dramatized stories of outstanding young persons present a perfect example for young people today to follow, and to be inspired. This Program is currently running its fifth year in the worldwide search. The successful nominees this year from Hong Kong will be nominated for the sixth worldwide selection. May I wish them all the very best.

May I take this opportunity to congratulate the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce for the successful implementation of the 1987 Hong Kong TOYP.

MESSAGE FROM HON. LIFE PRESIDENT HONG KONG JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Hong Kong is a progressive community with achievements truly hard to match. There is this year, just as there has always been, a group of new achievers with their own remarkable record.

It is right and proper for the community to honour their work. Theirs is usually a story of hard work, strong discipline, civic consciousness and concern for others. What they have done in their own way is an example for other young people to emulate and even excel in the service of our society.

A. de O. Sales
Hon. Life President, HKJCC

MESSAGE FROM NATIONAL PRESIDENT HONG KONG JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The 1987 Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection is an annual project organised by the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The objective of this project is to give formal recognition to those young people who excel themselves in their professional endeavours and commitment to the community and to serve as a living example for those who follow.

It is gratifying to note that the number of nominations and publicity for this program have grown in prominence throughout the year, and each year outstanding individuals continue to be recognised via this project. As young men and women of Hong Kong it is our responsibility to contribute in shaping a better future for the society.

As organiser of this program, we are pleased to witness that awardees selected each year continued to serve the community, and contributed themselves to worthwhile causes thus making this world a better place to live in.

My sincere thanks to the Patron Mr. David Ford, LVO, OBE, JP and the panel of judges for their assistance, without their support, this program would not have been a success. Finally, congratulations to the awardees for their outstanding achievement.

MESSAGE FROM SUPERVISING OFFICER HONG KONG JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The implementation of Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection each year relies very heavily from the support of the public in the nomination of the young person who has not only excel in his own field, but most important of all, his contribution to the welfare of this community. In the past, the Hong Kong Jaycees have been fortunate that this project received encouraging support from the public and this year is no exception.

As the Supervising Officer of this program, I am pleased to witness yet another successful project which has provided tremendous learning and practising opportunities for our members. A truth reflection of our believe that "Service to Humanity is the Best Work of Life".

William Wu

MESSAGE FROM SELECTION CONSULTANT PRICE WATERHOUSE

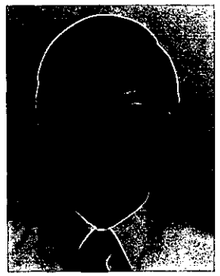

I would like to extend my hearty congratulations to this year's winners of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Award.

They have truly excelled themselves in both their professional endeavours and commitments to the community. Their achievements have indeed been outstanding and deserve the public recognition they are now receiving.

I am sure that this year's winners will continue to play a prominent role in shaping a better future for the people of Hong Kong and, in doing so, inspire others to do likewise.

Charles Fung
Selection Consultant

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN THE OUTSTANDING YOUNG PERSONS' ASSOCIATION

Increasing respect to the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Award in Hong Kong is reflected by the increasing number of candidates willing to come forth to be judged. Amidst the many "Ten Outstanding ...." selections held in our community, the TOYP selection carries unique meaning in that contribution to Hong Kong is heavily stressed.

After selection the recipients are welcome to join The Outstanding Young Persons' Association (TOYPA). It unites all past recipients of this distinctive award – now numbering 100 – and makes concerted efforts to serve our community. We believe the Association adds depth of meaning to the Award. The social status of TOYPA is now endorsed by the distinguished patronage of His Excellency the Governor, Sir David Wilson, KCMG.

This year amidst a busy service schedule, TOYPA is seeking to form a trust fund that will perenially finance the social service projects of the Association. In the fund raising events (pop concert, charity ball, Ocean Park carnival and go-karting), TOYPA provides enjoyment for the general public whilst the public reaps extra fun for normal expenditures for events of similar nature. We are hoping that from next year onwards TOYPA can serve Hong Kong in bigger and better ways.

For now, we are glad that the HK Junior Chamber of Commerce has again helped to choose outstanding young people of Hong Kong to serve as examples for their contemporaries. We are grateful that TOYPA will have more members and so more strength from yet another successful TOYP selection.

Lam Kui Chun
Chairman

MESSAGE FROM TOYP SELECTION CHAIRMAN HONG KONG JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

My sincerest congratulations to all the recipients of this year's Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection.

My wholehearted thanks to all the nominators who care to propose those they see fit for this Selection.

To be the chairman of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection is my dream ever since I joined the Jaycees in 1980. Also I am sure to be the chairman of this project is the desire of many other Jaycees as well. Dream is no longer a dream when I was appointed as the chairman in early May. I envisaged that the privilege will also bring to me mixed feelings, worries, frustrations and sleepless nights.

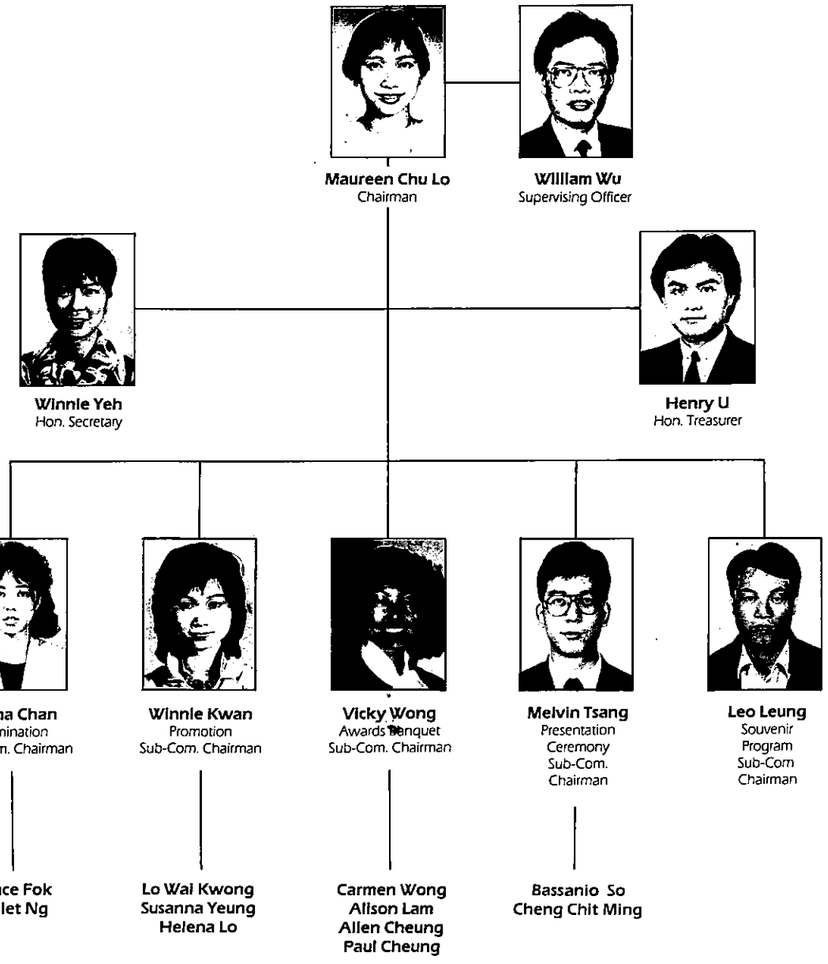

But tonight I am full of happiness and satisfaction when I can see everyone of you enjoy such a good and glamorous Awards Presentation.

The success of the project relied very much on the support of the many individuals. They are our Patron, The Hon. the Chief Secretary, Mr. David R. Ford, LVO, OBE, JP, our financial supporter Philip Morris Asia Incorporated for their continued generosity towards this Selection. Also our deep appreciation to the Panel of Judges comprising Sir Roger Lobo, CBE, LLD, JP, Mr. John Chan, LVO, OBE, JP, Mr. Denis Bray, CMG, CVO, JP, Dr. John Clark and Mr. D.S. Devitre for their time, effort and fair judgement on all the nominations. Of course we should not leave out the professional assistance from our Selection Consultant, Price Waterhouse and especially to Mr. Charles Fung for his recommended list of candidates for final interviews. Last but not the least, my gratitude goes to the organising committees for their devotion towards this project.

I owe you all very much, thank you!

THE 1987 AWARDEES

Mr. Chris Bale 費 桂 思

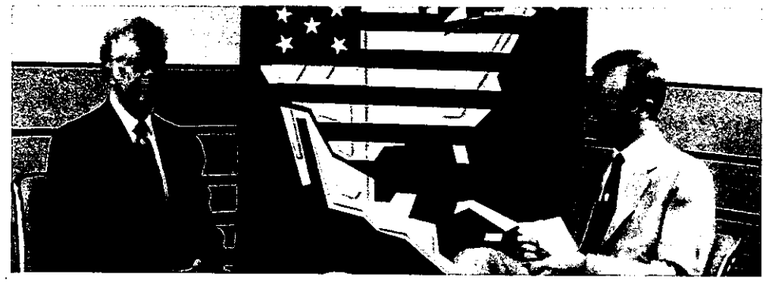

Mr.Bale first arrived in Hong Kong in 1978. He worked his way up from a news reporter with a local English newspaper to news anchorman and news administrator on TV; within nine years he has established himself as one of the most prominent figures in news media. He had also produced several award-winning documentary films that aimed at arousing public awareness on the care of those mentally handicapped, disabled, and the poor.

In 1984, Mr. Bale made a courageous decision by giving up his well-paid job on TV and became the director of Oxfam (Hong Kong) which targets at building up relief and development programmes for those developing countries that plagued by disease, poverty, and famine. Under his leadership, Mr. Bale has impressed everyone by raising Oxfam's annual income from HK$ 1 million to $ 6 million within four years. His appeal of saving millions of famine stricken refugees in Ethiopia was promptly and solidly responded by our community's more than 10 million dollars worth of donation.

In addition, Mr. Bale founded the Methodist Study Trust which provides financial assistance to those disabled students in Hong Kong in order to complete their formal education. Even though the current society is still reluctant to offer fair opportunities to them, Mr. Bale is keen on finding suitable employments for these deprived youngsters upon their graduation.

His genuine concern for those less fortunate saw an expansion of his involvement to embrace other agencies, viz. Hong Kong Association of the Blind, Society of Homes for the Handicapped, etc.

With his diligent efforts in directing or supervising all these charitable organizations, no doubt he has made immense impact to millions lives of various cultural backgrounds. However, Mr. Bale always remains as a modest and tireless workhorse in dedicating his service to the pressing need. His foremost, selflessly, and inspiring contribution has enhanced Hong Kong's image internationally as a city with a soul; one whose inhabitants are warm, caring, and generous.

THE 1987 AWARDEES

Mr. Chan Shun Chi 陳 愼 芝

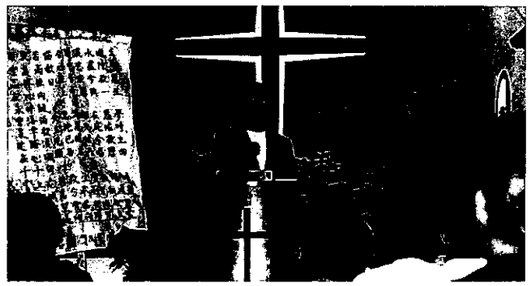

Mr. Chan, the vice general secretary of the Wu Oi Christian Centre (WOCC), was once a member of a triad gang operating in Tsz Wan Shan district. Before joining WOCC, his life was marred with five criminal records, nine years of heroin addiction, and more than ten years of crime involvement.

In 1973, Mr. Chan's corrupted life came to a dramatic change when Christianity seeds in his soul. He went through a spiritual treatment organized by WOCC; since then, he has reformed himself and dedicated his life to the service of fighting drugs and helping drug addicts or triad members to get themselves back on the right track. Over the past thirteen years, he has become a familiar figure in social work. Other than working for WOCC, he has been invited to share his knowledge of fighting and preventing drugs or triad activities involvement through all local mass media. His crusade against drugs addiction is also recorded in the vicinities of the devilish Golden Triangle.

His continuous effort has won him true respect and most sincere appreciation from criminals and drug addicts. Consequently, Mr. Chan is a living testimony that how a shameful life can be restored and re-established into a contributive and meaningful one. Mr. Chan is much more capable than any formally trained social workers in dealing with drug addicts, prostitutes, and criminals due to his incomparable understanding of the inner dark side of their mind and their helplessness.

Like many other community services, Mr. Chan's work inevitably faces numerous obstacles in terms of tight budget, emotion let down, and failures; he attributes his determination and diligency to his religious belief from which he finds affluent support, comfort, and rewards.

THE 1987 AWARDEES

Dr. Francis Chin Yuk Lun 錢 玉 麟

With only Canadian $500 in his pocket, Dr. Chin proceeded his tertiary education in the University of Toronto. Without losing any time, Dr. Chin was able to support himself by working as a bus boy, laboratory assistant, and site worker etc. Besides being a gifted student, he also demonstrated his strong determination to attain further education by finishing his M. Sc. and Ph. D. studies in three years from the University of Princeton. In the following eight years, Dr. Chin had been working in numbers of educational institutions in North America. Due to his admirable academic achievement, he has established himself as an outstanding scholar in the field of computer science.

In 1983, Dr. Chin returned to Hong Kong and lectured in the Chinese University. He joined the University of Hong Kong in 1985 and in the next year, Dr. Chin has become the Director of Computer of Science. Under his leadership, Dr. Chin has impressively strengthened the computer programme at the University of Hong Kong. He has also aroused supportive research interest among his faculty members by linking up their research with some local corporations like Hong Kong Bank and Cathay Pacific Airways.

Moreover, Dr. Chin has contributed a lot towards the setting of a Computer Literacy course for Form I to III in schools along with his organizing the development of educational software packages at the University. In addition, he has organized short courses and workshops to help school teachers refresh their foundation in computer science. Dr. Chin's determination of promoting computer awareness in the general public and in schools is further self-described in some of his involvement as:

- Member of the Computer Studies Subject Committee, Curriculum Development Committee, Education Department
- President of the Hong Kong Association for Computer Education
- Program Co-Chairman of the International Conference on Computer Processing of Chinese and Oriental Language
- Advisor and Keynote Speaker for the Microcomputers in Education Conference
- Member of the Society of Hong Kong Scholars
- Member of the Hong Kong Association for the Advancement of Science and Technology

Dr. Chin advocates the exchange of HiTech between the University and the local industries would be of positive assistance to the future development of Hong Kong. His diligent effort of promoting computer awareness indeed helps Hong Kong to preserve its international image as an advanced financial and high technology centre.

THE 1987 AWARDEES

Ms. Dana Chu 朱 丹 娜

Ms. Chu is best characterized as the forerunner in elderly social service. Her enthusiasm, perseverance and creativeness injected in the field of social work has won herself the Zonta Achievement Award in 1983.

Ms. Chu started her social service career as the Programme Secretary of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs Association between 1975 – 1980, her pioneer accomplishments like Outreaching Social Work and Playleadership Scheme had since been modelized by today's many social service programme.

In the past seven years, Ms. Chu has been working as the Centre Supervisor of the Holy Carpenter Church Multi-service Centre for the Elderly. She has demonstrated her innovativeness by launching dancing classes for the elderly, encouraging the elderly to register as voters at District Board elections, and introducing a volunteer scheme aimed at bridging the generation gap between the old and the young.

Ms. Chu has established her leading role in elderly service by her foremost insight into social service system through her frequent participation in overseas study tours. In 1982, as a delegate of the Hong Kong Council of Social Services, Ms. Chu attended the 10th International Conference of Social Gerontology hosted in France in which she has enriched her knowledge in the area of hospice care and community nursing for the elderly. In addition, Ms. Chu has been consistently exchanging views with overseas social groups and subsequently, she has shared her valuable experience and expertise with her colleagues.

Being recognized by the Government for her outstanding achievements in social services, Ms. Chu was appointed as a Convener of the Working Group for drafting Working Guidelines for Community Education Workers in the Elderly Service in 1986.

With her increasing involvement in various community and governmental committees, Ms. Chu indeed finds herself facing pressure from different sources; but she manages to bring the best out of herself in all occasions and to uphold the positive image of a devoted social worker who is ready to pay rather be paid to do good to others.

THE 1987 AWARDEES

Mr. Chu Hung Cheung 朱 鴻 章

Mr. Chu's father died when he was only five months old and was brought up by his illiterate mother. Financial hardship compelled him to quit day schooling at Form II. He worked as an office boy to earn his living but studied hard in evening schools to complete his secondary and matriculation education.

With a strong desire to serve the equally underprivileged, Mr. Chu started his social work career as an untrained junior social worker in Social Work Department where he worked for two years. For self improvement, he then enrolled the Social Work Department of the Hong Kong Baptist College for formal training and took up heavy part-time commitments for self- support. Mr. Chu graduated with distinction and joined the newly established I.C.A.C. and contributed greatly to the fight against corruption, a deep-rooted social evil at that time, in the capacity of a community liaison officer working mainly with the grassroots people. Two and half years later after completion of his contract, Mr. Chu went to Canada, self-supporting and, in two years, graduated with a Master of Social Work degree from the world-renowned University of Toronto.

In 1980, Mr. Chu returned to Hong Kong where he was born to serve the local community. He joined the Hong Kong Physically Handicapped and Able Bodies Association where he worked diligently and constructively as the chief executive for the past seven years. His unselfish and devoted service for the promotion of integration of the physically handicapped and the able bodied in the community is highly commendable and has made PHAB integration a common concept in today's Hong Kong society.

Mr. Chu's life history demonstrates great perseverance, determination, initiative, and dedication in pursuing his goal of social service as well as how a young man develops his potentialities in difficult situations.

THE 1987 AWARDEES

Ms. Fok Pui Yee 霍 佩 儀

Ms. Fok was brought up in a poor family. She lived in the Kowloon Bay resettlement area for a number of years, during which time she experienced the problems and poor living conditions of lower income groups in Hong Kong.

Determined to improve and enhance the living conditions of these people, she has been actively participating in the Hong Kong People's Council on Public Housing Policy and has been awarded a certificate of outstanding services. At present, she is the Secretary to the Council.

Ms. Fok is concerned with the appropriation of social resources especially the formulation of a more effective and efficient housing policy. She believes that lower income groups are not asking for "free lunches" from the government nor are they putting pressure on the government. They do have their rights for improved and enhanced living conditions.

As a result of her efforts, the government has approved the provision of electricity, water and mailing services to the temporary resettlement quarters, a separate review of rent and rates when rentals of public housing are revised by the Housing Authority, the prohibition of electronic games shops in public housing estates, and more.

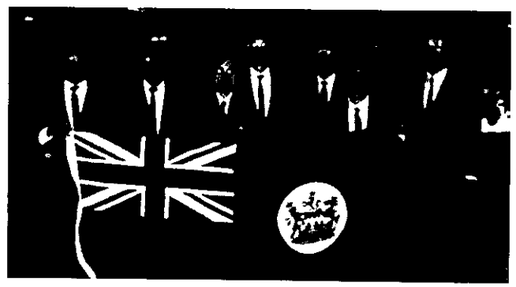

At present, Ms. Fok is still vigorously striving for the provisions of housing for single-member and two-member families.

Ms. Fok has also received a certificate of appreciation from the Agency for Voluntary Service in recognition of her outstanding voluntary service benefitting the community.

Notwithstanding that she is a housewife with two children, she successfully stood for election to the Urban Council in 1986, in the hope that lower income groups could be properly represented and their opinions better reflected.

She considers her representation in the Urban Council as a means to reduce the disturbances and inconvenience to the grassroots population. Instead of putting aside their works to attend petition activities, which would certainly affect their already meager revenues, they can now present their views to her during their spare times, thus effecting a more comprehensive reflection of public opinions.

THE 1987 AWARDEES

Mr. Wan Sek Luen 溫 石 麟

Mr. Wan is destined to be an exceptional person even in his early childhood. He started his formal education at four; finished his secondary education at 15; and enrolled in the Chinese University of Hong Kong at 17. He was nicknamed 'Computer' at the time slide rule was still the prime calculating tool on the market. He was particularly proud of being called 'Frankenstein' back in his days in university.

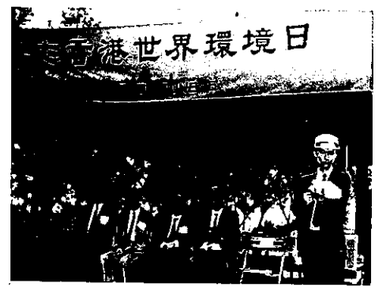

Mr. Wan is acknowledged as the pioneer of Hong Kong's environmental protection. In 1972, he successfully motivated and organized a group of secondary and post-secondary students to form Hong Kong's very first Youth Environment Action Group, at that time he was only 18. In the following year, he and the other 4 scholars had launched a project named 'Clear Water' in which a total of 17,000 primary and secondary students efficiently collected raw water data of more than 200 rivers and creeks in Hong Kong. Their valuable research findings were then submitted for reference of government agencies.

Mr. Wan's dedication to the service of pollution control had made him Chairman of the Conservancy Association from 1978 – 1986 and now is an Advisor to that Association. Currently, Mr. Wan serves several civic organizations including Hong Kong Productivity Council, the World Wildlife Fund (HK), Hong Kong Environment and Environmental Pollution Advisory Committee, the Hong Kong Polytechnic Advisory Committee on the Centre of Environmental Studies, and chairs the World Environmental Day (WED) Working Group. He is also an editor of several publications including SOS Environment, Glossary of Environmental Terms and Green Productivity. In 1979, Mr. Wan was nominated as a member of the Commission on Education by the International Union for Conservation of Nature and Natural Resources (IUCN).

His enthusiasm and expertise in environmental engineering is well recognized by the local authorities as well as the officials of PRC. In July 1987, Mr. Wan was nominated by the Hong Kong Government and was invited by the Queen to attend the Annual Royal Garden Party at Buckingham Palace.

Over the past 15 years, Mr. Wan has been continuously promoting the awareness of the need to protect the environment of Hong Kong. He attributes his source of enthusiasm and determination to his Christian faith. The more he knows about the nature, the deeper he believes that it is everybody's duty to take good care of his environment.

THE 1987 AWARDEES

Mr. Chris Wong Ho-Ching 黃 河 清

Mr. Wong was recognized as an exceptionally bright and outgoing student throughout his school life. In 1968, he earned himself a trip to Japan as a representative of the Hong Kong Federation of Students.

After obtaining a degree in electrical engineering Mr. Wong joined Hong Kong United Dockyards as an apprentice in 1969. But following his apprenticeship, Mr. Wong was rapidly promoted within the company and eventually became the Head of the Electrical Design Office.

In 1973, Mr. Wong accepted a moderate lecturership from the Hong Kong Polytechnic and in 1974, based on a staff exchange scheme, Mr. Wong worked as a visiting lecturer at the Loughborough University in U.K. In 1982, he was selected and appointed to the Industrial Centre where he manages, plans, and directs industrial training programmes for over 3,000 students.

His recognized leadership and outstanding achievements also earned his being selected by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) and the Government of Cyprus a one month long consultative mission to set up an engineering education and training programme. Moreover, he was invited to be Session Chairman for the First International Symposium on Education and Training of Technicians jointly organized by the National Council for Education Awards and UNESCO in Ireland in 1986.

Mr. Wong has devoted considerable effort in promoting an awareness of the need to apply computer aided engineering and industrial automation in Hong Kong. He has been successfully organized seminars and workshops which aimed to link up the local industries with the latest computer aided manufacturing technologies. By the same token, Mr. Wong has been actively promoted technological exchange between Hong Kong and mainland China. He was one of the professional representatives from Hong Kong in the 3rd Representative Meeting of China Association of Science and Technology in 1986.

Mr. Wong is keen to promote industrial safety and his valuable research findings have been adopted by the Labour Department in setting up industrial safety programmes.

THE 1987 AWARDEES

Mr. David Yeung Fuk Kwong 楊 福 廣

Mr. Yeung's parents were refugees from China in late 1940's. They were very poor at that time, struggling to make ends meet every day. Thus, even during his days as secondary school student, Mr. Yeung had to work in factories and construction sites to supplement the household's income.

Upon graduation from secondary school, Mr. Yeung joined the Royal Hong Kong Police Force as an inspector. He began to develop an interest in law while serving in various divisions. Encouraged by his uncle, he enrolled in the School of Law of the Newcastle-upon-Tyne Polytechnic, and applied for no-paid study leave to complete his studies. At that time, he was already married and had a child. During his four years of studies, his only financial support was his savings and his wife's income.

Upon return to Hong Kong, he quitted the Police Force and served as an Articled Clerk. In 1984, he established his own law firm.

Encouraged by Ms Maria Tam, Mr. Yeung became very active in community services. Despite his increasing workload, he has been enthusiastically supporting the Law Society Legal Advice and Assistance Scheme and has contributed numerous hours of time in providing free professional services to the residents of the Tsuen Wan District. Seeing the increasing demand of legal aid services, particularly to the poorer sector of the public, he has first voiced out the need to set up a legal aid permanent branch office in Tsuen Wan, seeing it as the pioneer step towards the extension of legal aid services to each and every districts in Hong Kong.

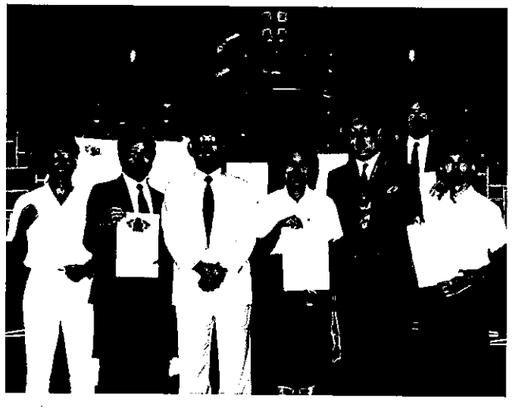

He has also contributed substantially to the move for fairer terms in Deeds of Mutual Covenant and the improvement of management standards in multi-storey buildings.

In 1985, he was elected to the Tsuen Wan District Board, in which he has carried out his manifests diligently and has made an impact in several areas. For example, he conducted an extensive survey into the problem of noice pollution in the Tsuen Wan District, which led to the subsequent promulgation of the Noise Control Bill in 1987.

He is also actively involved in the Royal Life Saving Association, the Hong Kong Lifeguard Club and the Hong Kong Boy Scouts Association. In addition, he serves as honorary legal advisor to several fraternal and business organizations.
