OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

President's Welcome

Junior Chamber International Delegates:

It is a great privilege for me to have the opportunity to welcome all of you to JCI World Congress.

I want to take this opportunity to commend each one of you for all the work you've done and will continue to do throughout the rest of your lives as Jaycees. Service to humanity is one of the organization's most basic beliefs and, as we meet together in Las Vegas, remember that in this new millenium, you are striving to raise your chapter's, your state's, and your national organization's service level to even greater heights.

In this new age, the subject of inclusion is one of utmost importance, and I want to take this opportunity to encourage each of you to meet as many people from as many different countries as possible. Form friendships that will cross national lines so that our organization will become as global as we can be.

Enjoy this World Congress!

Salvi Batlle
JCI President

Secretary General's Welcome

Dear Friends,

It is truly a pleasure and honor to welcome you each to the 57th JCI World Congress being held this year in the United States in Las Vegas. This congress promises to be an exciting and wonderful event with many highlights, outstanding training, and opportunities for friendship and many fond memories.

You will make this an Outstanding Congress! Your participation, your excitement, your attendance and involvement in the events and training programs will make Las Vegas special! The United States Junior Chamber and the Las Vegas Organizing Committee have worked with professionalism and pride over the past two years to plan, develop, and deliver to you the best possible Congress.

As JCI Secretary General, it gives me great pride to welcome you to Las Vegas and to the United States. I urge you to take in every opportunity that this congress has to offer, from the Opening Ceremony, to the outstanding training featuring Dr. Stephen Covey, to the General Assembly Business Sessions, the 50th JCI Senate program to the Closing Presidential Congress Gala. Enjoy, learn, meet new friends, and have a great time!

Sincerely,

Benny Ellerbe
Secretary General
Junior Chamber International

President's Welcome

Jaycees of the World:

It is my honor to be able to welcome each of you to this year's World Congress and a privilege to host you in my own home country!

The United States has seen both the worst and the best of mankind in the past fourteen months, and it is inspiring that each of you have come to America to represent the best of the world's youth. What Jaycees can achieve when working together will only bring the countries of the world closer together, promoting understanding and unity among all peoples. That is what we as members of the Junior Chamber can offer mankind.

It is my hope that each of you will use this time at World Congress to search out people from countries that are vastly different from your own. Take the time to get to know them, learn about their culture, build friendships with them that will last past this one short week we spend together.

Take advantage of the many training opportunities presented to you to build your own base of knowledge, and then carry that back to your home and help build up the knowledge of others. Never forget that service to humanity is the best work of life, and we are the individuals who can carry that message around the globe.

Best wishes for a successful World Congress and always take the opportunity to positively . .

Change Your World!

John Nguyen

U.S. Jaycee President, 2002

Director's Welcome

To Our Fellow Delegates:

On behalf of the more than 250 members of the Las Vegas Congress Organizing Committee, the USJC Senate 50th Anniversary Organizing Committee, and the USJC delegates joining us here as your hosts: Welcome to the most exciting place on Earth--The Junior Chamber in Las Vegas!

Our Congress logo says: "Viva!" as we celebrate with you "Life" and the lively enthusiasm of you, the young leaders of the world. Our Congress theme is "Entrepreneurs in Action" as we celebrate with you the creativity and innovation you will experience at this meeting.

Every day we are reminded why we should be thankful for our global Junior Chamber family, so it is appropriate that we should all come together during the U.S.A. national holiday week of Thanksgiving, November 24-28th. On Thanksgiving Day, the final day of the Congress, we invite you to join us in Service to Humanity as we have organized several community service projects off the "Strip" to assist the communities within the "real" Las Vegas. Then we will close our "Global Day of Thanks" family holiday with a traditional U.S.A. Thanksgiving meal gala with our global Jaycee family.

The Las Vegas COC has been traveling far and working hard to build global friendships with you so that we can bring you a very special experience. Please let us know what we can do to make this a very memorable week.

Viva Junior Chamber and Happy Thanksgiving!

Tilman Kai Adair, JCI #57331
Congress Director
57th JCI World Congress

The Birth of Junior Chamber International

The international chapter of the Junior Chamber began in 1923 with the Winnipeg Board of Trade's becoming the first Junior Chamber outside the United States. By 1928 the idea of an international body crossed the Atlantic Ocean to England.

In 1940 a resolution was passed by the United States Junior Chamber approving a program to further mutual interests among countries in Central and South America. This lead to the establishment of Junior Chambers in Mexico City, Guatemala City, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, and Panama City in 1943.

The realization of Junior Chamber International had begun. In 1944 the first international conference was held in Mexico City. Raul Garcia Vidal of Mexico was elected the first President. The countries which formed Junior Chamber International were: Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama and the United States of America.

The First World Congress

Two years later, in February of 1946, the first World Congress was held in Panama City. This congress was attended by 44 delegates from 16 different countries. The international organization was formally constituted, a temporary constitution was approved, and the word "Commerce" was omitted from the official name.

Erasmo Chambonnet of Panama was elected the second JCI President at that Congress, and Australia and Canada were officially affiliated.

In 1948 the JCI Creed was officially adopted at the IV JCI World Congress in Rio de Janeiro, and in 1952 a permanent Secretariat was established. In 1972 the name was changed to Jaycees International; however, in 1988 the name was changed back to Junior Chamber International.

The Establishment of a Permanent World Peace

The dream and purpose of Junior Chamber are most clearly expressed in the words of founder Henry "Hy" Giessenbier who said:

"From within the walls of the soul of this organization, wherein the foundation of character and citizenship are laid, I hope a message will come forth in the sometime of tomorrow that will stir the people toward the establishment of a permanent and everlasting world peace."

Giessenbier had the foresight to believe that character and citizenship could contribute toward a permanent world peace. His dream and purpose for Junior Chamber were to offer the membership opportunities that would build strong, positive characters and a sense of citizenship, not only for communities, cities and countries, but for the world.

The purpose of Junior Chamber, inspired by the Declaration of Principles, is:

"To contribute to the advancement of the global community by providing the opportunity for young people to develop the leadership skills, social responsibility, entrepreneurship, and fellowship necessary to create positive change."

The organization operates on the premise that the development of individual character and personality will result in communities that are better developed and, eventually, in a more peaceful world.

A People Organization

Junior Chamber is a people organization. People resort to violence when communication, understanding, patience, tolerance, reason and love cease to exist. Junior Chamber's plan is to offer opportunities to the members that will reinforce these positive qualities.

The idea is to bring people together. Many opportunities are created when people with various social, cultural, ethnic, religious, economic, and national backgrounds meet. At national conventions, Area conferences, and World Congresses, members come face-to-face with one another to share experiences and exchange ideas which lead to better understanding and cooperation.

A bond of brotherhood and genuine friendship is established as Junior Chamber members seek the ways and means to improve themselves and the world in which they live.

The purpose of Junior Chamber is to show the rest of the world:

- That all human beings can be developed.
- That all are equal.
- That the world is interdependent.
- That the world does not belong to humans, but that humans belong to the world.
- That every human being is a citizen of the world.

JCI's Temporary Headquarters

JCI has opened a temporary headquarters in Chesterfield Village in St. Louis, Missouri. This temporary headquarters will operate until the permanent new headquarters is built in Chesterfield Village in 8 to 10 months. The provisional 4000-square-foot office space was offered to JCI in a short-term lease until the new headquarters is completed.

Until the new permanent headquarters is built and open for business, you can contact the provisional JCI Headquarters:

The New JCI Headquarters

The generous contribution of a benefactor specializing in land development, Louis Sachs, will help JCI build its new headquarters in its birthplace city. He donated nearly two acres of land in Chesterfield Village.

The donation, worth nearly US $2 million, is the largest gift Junior Chamber has ever received. An architect has been engaged to design the new Headquarters. JCI will build a one-story, 10,000-square-foot edifice, designed with open spaces and flexibility to meet the organization's current and future needs in the Third Millennium.

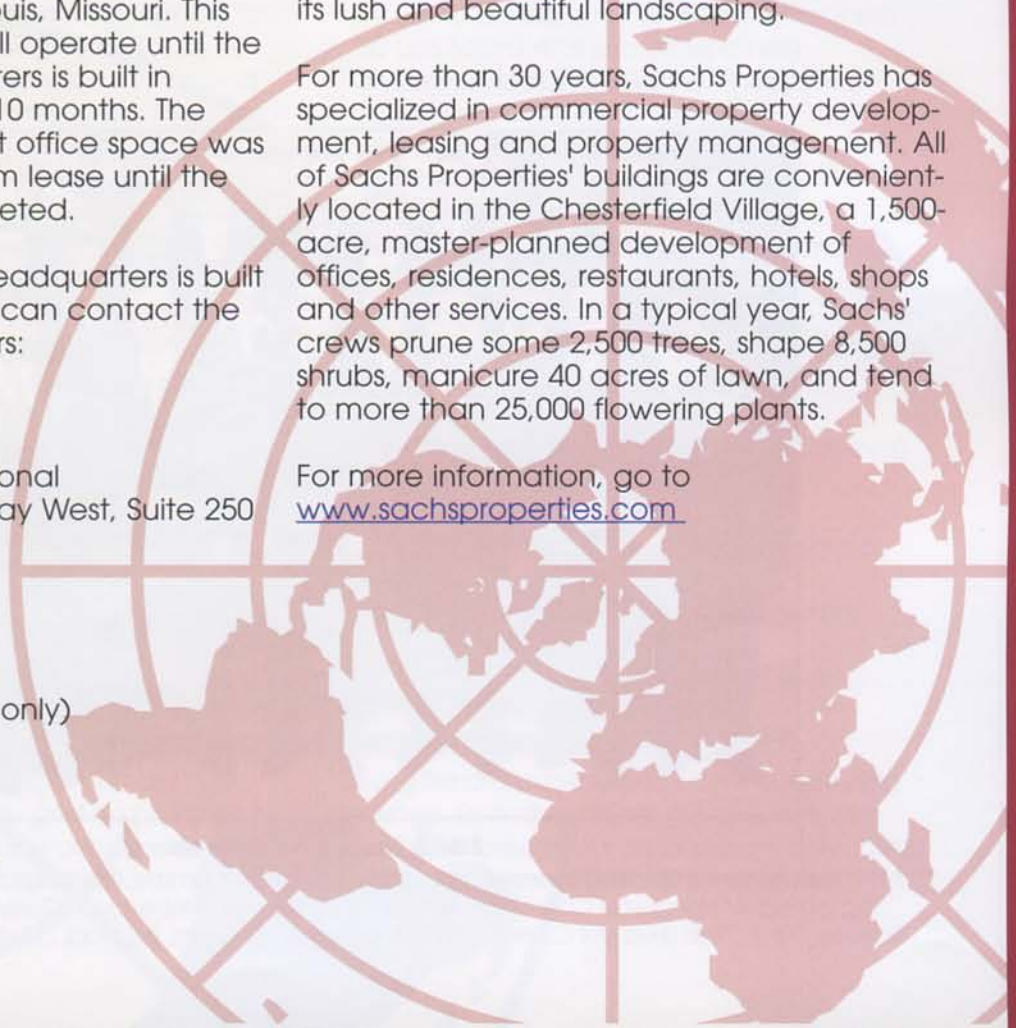

When the new Headquarters opens, JCI will purchase new computers, 2003 software, a new server, and new office furniture.

Upscale, Dynamic Community

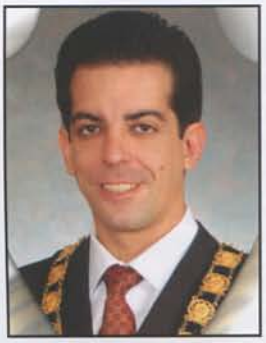

Chesterfield is an upscale, prosperous and dynamic community with a population of 40,000. Situated along the high-tech corridor of Highway 40/Interstate 64, only twenty-five minutes west of downtown St. Louis, Chesterfield Village is particularly known for its lush and beautiful landscaping.

For more than 30 years, Sachs Properties has specialized in commercial property development, leasing and property management. All of Sachs Properties' buildings are conveniently located in the Chesterfield Village, a 1,500-acre, master-planned development of offices, residences, restaurants, hotels, shops and other services. In a typical year, Sachs' crews prune some 2,500 trees, shape 8,500 shrubs, manicure 40 acres of lawn, and tend to more than 25,000 flowering plants.

REMEMBERING PHILIP PUGSLEY

As we celebrate the 50th Anniversary of the JCI Senate, it seems fitting to pay tribute to one of our leaders, Philip T. R. Pugsley, who was instrumental in the formation of the Senate program.

Born in Montreal, Canada, Philip T. R. Pugsley had a long association with the Jaycee movement at the local, national and international level. In 1951, at the VI JCI World Congress in Montreal, Canada, he was elected president of the international organization.

Pugsley did much to support the global growth and development of Junior Chamber International and provide members lasting means to repay the organization for all it has given them. During his travels as President, Pugsley investigated why chapters were awarding trophies and trinkets to commemorate outstanding service of members. He believed the funds could be better utilized to support expansion of the Junior Chamber movement.

Pugsley conceived the idea of the Senatorship as a distinct honor by which to recognize achievements of outstanding members, while also enabling them to retain contact with the organization for life. Through his efforts, the JCI Senate was formed in 1952 at the 7th JCI World Congress in Melbourne, Australia.

The JCI Senate Foundation was established in 1979 to provide long-term financial support for JCI. Its name was later changed to Jaycees International (JCI) Foundation, Inc., to appeal to the broadest possible donor base. The principal is invested to generate interests, which are used to support JCI programs, activities, and expansion around the world. Only the interests are used; the principal remains intact.

Contributions to both the JCI Senate program and the Foundation have significantly assisted JCI's growth and development over the years. They have also funded training schools and courses, strengthened existing NOMs, and extended the organization into new countries and to more young people around the world.

THE FIRST 50 SENATORS

During the Melbourne Congress, the first JCI Senatorship was awarded posthumously to Joaquin V. Gonzalez from the Philippines. JCI's first voluntary Secretary General, Joaquin V. Gonzalez was killed in a plane crash while en route from a national convention. Senatorship number two was awarded to Phil Pugsley, and number three to John Armbruster, who was a charter member of the first Junior Chamber organization.

Spanish traders en route to Los Angeles along the Spanish Trail in the early 1700s sought a route that would pass through the then unexplored Las Vegas Valley.

At the time, the Spaniards referred to the route through the valley as "jornada de muerte," journey of death. A young scout named Rafael Rivera was the first person of European ancestry to look upon the valley. His discovery of a valley with abundant wild grasses growing and a plentiful water supply reduced the journey by several days. The valley was named Las Vegas, Spanish for "The Meadows."

The discovery of minerals, including precious metals, lead to the beginning of the mining industry in the late 19th century. The State Land Act of 1885 offered sections of land at $1.25 per acre. Farmers moved in and agriculture became the dominant industry for the next 20 years.

The completion of the main railway, linking Southern California with Salt Lake City in 1905, established Las Vegas as a railroad town. The availability of water made Las Vegas an ideal refueling point and rest stop. The railroad was the principal industry in Las Vegas for the next 25 years.

Las Vegas was founded as a city on May 15, 1905, when 110 acres of land situated between Stewart Avenue on the north, Garces Avenue to the south, Main Street to the west, and 5th Street (Las Vegas Boulevard) to the east, were auctioned off.

The city was governed as part of Lincoln County until 1909 when it became the county seat for the newly established Clark County. Las Vegas became an incorporated city and adopted its first charter on March 16, 1911. At the time of incorporation, the city encompassed 19.18 square miles, and had approximately 800 inhabitants, less than 1 percent of the state's total population. Clark County had a population at the time of 3,321.

THANKGIVING is a U.S.A. NATIONAL HOLIDAY -
Post offices, banks and many businesses will be closed.

Blackjack:

Everybody loves to play 21 The dealer gives each player two cards and himself one card up and one card down. Everybody plays against the dealer. The object of the game is to draw cards that add up to 21, or as close to 21 as possible without going over.

Tens, Jacks, Queens, and Kings count as 10; Aces count as either 1 or 11, as you choose. Other cards play at their face value. You are given a chance to draw additional cards, one at a time, to get closer to 21. If you "bust," (go over 21) you lose, and the dealer collects your bet.

If your count is closer to 21 than the dealer's, you win. If it is under the dealer's, you lose. A tie is a standoff and results in a "push" (nobody wins).
The dealer has no choice on hitting or staying; he must hit when holding 16 or under and stay on 17 or over. After each player is satisfied with the number of cards he has asked for, the dealer turns up his hidden card. If he has 16 or less, he must "hit," that is draw an additional card or cards, until he reaches 17 or over. Dealer must stand on 17. If he "busts," he must pay all the players left in the game.

Craps:

The most basic bet is placed on the "Pass Line" before the shooter rolls the dice. If the shooter rolls 7 or 11, you and he win, and he keeps the dice to roll again. If he hits 2, 3, or 12, the bet is lost but he remains the shooter and continues to roll the dice until he either makes his point and you both win, or he shoots 7 and the bet is lost.

In the above case, you have bet with the shooter. If you want to bet against him you place your bet on the "Don't Pass" line and the rules are entirely reversed except that if, on his first roll, the shooter rolls 12, it is a standoff (you neither win nor lose).

After the roll has begun and the shooter has a point, you can make a bet by placing it on the "come" line. The same rules apply to you as if the shooter were making a first roll: it the next roll is 7 you win; if it is a 2, 3, or 12, you lose; if it is any other number, that becomes your "come point" and, for you to win, it must be rolled again before a 7 If a 7 comes first, the bet is lost.

A beginner might do well to start with a "pass" line bet and then perhaps try a "come" bet. And don't worry about making an error. The dealers will be happy to explain more about the game to you.

Roulette:

Roulette is a truly enticing game. It is fast-paced and easy to play. The Roulette wheel spins around and around and a pearl-like ball drops down and settles into the winning slot.

Checks (chips) ranging in value from $1 to $500, can be bought from the dealer. Each player is given different colored checks. You may bet money as well as checks and make as many bets as you wish. The amount of return on a winning bet is determined by the amount of the wager and the type of bet made. Odds on Roulette range from 35-to-1 to even money, and are determined by the combinations of numbers selected by the player.

Below are the various bets and their odds:

- Single number - Pays 35 to 1 (Straight Up)
- Two numbers - Pays 17 to 1 (Split)
- Three numbers - Pays 11 to 1 (Row)
- Four numbers - Pays 8 to 1 (Corner)
- Five numbers - Pays 6 to 1
- Six numbers - Pays 5 to 1
- 12 numbers - Pays 2 to 1 (Columns, 1st 12, 2nd 12 or 3rd 12)
- 18 numbers - Pays 1 to 1 (1 to 18 and 19 to 36)
- Even or Odd - Pays 1 to 1
- Black or Red - Pays 1 to 1

Keno:

Keno has its origins in China. Because Keno is entertaining and easy to learn, it has become widely popular. Like Bingo, keno is a lottery-type game of chance where anyone can win big.

Simply mark a blank keno ticket with the numbers of your selection. Then present your ticket to the Keno desk with your wager and the clerk will give you a duplicate ticket. In a few minutes, twenty numbered Keno balls will be drawn by a caller, and if enough of numbers which you have selected are drawn, you are a winner.

The amount of money you win is dependent upon the type of tickets you play and the number of "spots" (numbers) caught. You may play as many tickets as you wish, and it is possible to win as much as $50,000 on a dollar wager in some casinos.

Playing lotteries in other states is definitely exciting, but that experience cannot match the thrill of watching a live Keno race in action.
