The JCI Creed

We believe:

- That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life;
- That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations;
- That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise;
- That Government should be of laws rather than of men;
- That earth's great treasure lies in human personality; and
- That service to humanity is the best work of life.

JCI History of the Creed

The year was 1946; the place, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, U.S.A.; the event, the United States Junior Chamber National Convention. Visitors came form Canada, Mexico, South America, Europe and the Philippine Islands. It was here that the idea of a JCI Creed was born.

Past President of the Ohio Junior Chamber and National Vice President of the United States Junior Chamber C. William Brownfield realized at this convention that the organization did not have a Creed. He was inspired by the devotion of Junior Chamber members "to the purpose of serving mankind in a thousand different ways, right down at the grass roots where freedom lives or dies."

Brownfield saw Junior Chamber as "the potential for a new force in the world, one capable of changing the balance between victory or defeat for our chosen way of life in a time of crisis."

The actual writing of the Creed took place in July 1946 during a drive from Brownfield's hometown of Columbus, Ohio, to his coal mine in New Lexington, a journey of about 75 minutes. He started that journey with a firm conviction in his mind to work on the Creed. It was during that trip that the following words came to mind and were put on paper:

The brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations.

Economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise.

Government should be of laws rather than of men.

Earth's great treasure lies in human personality.

Service to humanity is the best work of life.

In 1950 the first line, "We believe that faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life." was added.

Since the Creed was written, Junior Chamber members all over the world recite the Creed at local, national and internationl meetings and functions. During that time there has been much discussion of the interpretation of the Creed. The author himself said, "Every Member is free to interpret the Creed in the light of his own conscience."

Message from National President

A lot has happened in the last four months! The programs and projects which had been postponed due to SARS were all being launched in the second half of the year.

Firstly, "You and I Bring Hong Kong Back" Campaign was formally launched on July 6. This is an initiative under Hong Kong Junior Chamber to help relaunch Hong Kong and bring her back to the international road map. The results of survey on Hong Kong citizens' sense of belonging were announced and we had a forum where guest speakers (The Hon Mrs Rita Fan, Prof Joseph Cheng Yu-Shek, Prof Dennis Lam Shun-chiu, Mr Peter Wong, and Mr Derek Ko) and members of the public exchanged views on what an individual can do to bring Hong Kong back.

In September, the 38th National Convention was successfully held with the hard work of all the members of the hosting Chapter, Peninsular Junior Chamber. The Convention Theme is "Enhancing Corporate Governance, Reinforcing Business Ethics". As leaders in Junior Chamber, we strive to promote corporate governance in our society and our organization alike. I sincerely hope that upon increasing awareness of these qualities, we can act and enhance our organization administration in this direction. We were honored to have the Hon. Frederick Ma, Secretary for Financial Services and The Treasury of the Hong Kong Special Administration Region as our Guest of Honor for the Opening Ceremony of the Convention. We were also delighted to partner with the Institute of Directors in offering a wide range of seminars under the Convention Theme.

For the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection, we announced the awardees on October 11 at the press conference. The award banquet will be held on November 28 and I look forward to receiving you then.

Turning to international events, Hong Kong Junior Chamber has once more been in the limelight at the Asia Pacific Conference. By becoming the winner of the speaking competition, Jayceettes Elaine Ho would represent Area B to compete in the World Speaking Competition in Copenhagen in November. I hope to bring you good news very soon! We had also won a number of awards and you can check out the details in this issue.

All very exciting, right? But more is to come. It is our turn to host the Greater China Young Entrepreneur Summit to be held on Dec 1. Delegates from mainland China, Taiwan and Macau will join the event and I would like all of you to join and be the host of this very prominent event.

Let's make the most out of 2003!

NEVP Interview

National Executive Vice President (NEVP), Senator Clement Woo oversees Information Technology, Public Relations, International Affairs and Business Affairs for HKJC this year. Other than those, how deep do you know about him? On the National Day Eve, an interview was conducted with the NGLC 2004. Let's explore him more in our interview below.

(Roseline Chan reports)

Q How do you allocate your time while being a manufacturing company director, a father of a young kid and Hong Kong Junior Chamber NEVP?

A In fact, apart from those mentioned by you, I am also a member of the Youth Federation of Henan Province and Zhongshan city, an auxiliary police, a committee member of the South China Athletic Association, University Alumni Association...

I enjoy being hardworking. I believe life is more than family and business, and service to humanity is the best work of life.

Roughly speaking, I allocate half of my time to my family and business, a quarter of my time to JC, and the remaining quarter to rest and sleep. I must say I am lucky enough to have strong support from the people around me. My parents help look after my son; my wife, business partners and colleagues help run the business; my teammates at the National Board and chapters help plan and implement the programs this year...

Q The result of a recent Public Relation Survey conducted this year indicated that Hong Kong Junior Chamber is not very well known among the general public. What strategy would Hong Kong Junior Chamber adopt to further enhancing Junior Chamber image?

A Yes, Hong Kong Junior Chamber commissioned the Hong Kong Institute of Asia-Pacific Studies of the Chinese University of Hong Kong to carry out the survey earlier this year. The survey suggested that only about 10% of the general public in Hong Kong heard of HKJC. This result is far from satisfactory. However, the report also revealed that about 90% of the people in Hong Kong heard of Ten Outstanding Young Persons (TOYP) Selection but only a small percentage of them knew the Selection was actually organized by HKJC. It is recommended that HKJC can make use of TOYP Selection to enhance its public recognition in the community by, for instance, putting the name of HKJC prior to the name of TOYP Selection.

Besides, 14 of the 18 chapters have established relationship with 14 of the 18 District Offices in Hong Kong so far this year. I believe as the relationship strengthen and joint programs start to roll out in the future, HKJC will become more well known by the general public in Hong Kong.

Q Can you share with us the most challenging assignment you have as an NEVP?

A In the capacity of NEVP, SARS brought me challenges I have ever faced. Apart from the PR work, two major projects under my supervision, On-to-Cebu ASPAC & Greater China Young Entrepreneurs Summit were postponed from end of May and end of June to end of August and end of November respectively. This clashes with my personal business schedule, which is very busy in the second half of the year, especially from August to October. This is also the case for some of my colleagues at the National Board. I suppose this is not only for us, but also for all Hong Kong people who were faced with such unprecedented challenge. As a Junior Chamber member, I take the positive side of it as a self-development opportunity.

Q What do you gain/learn most from this organization after joining Junior Chamber for more than 10 years?

A There are indeed a lot of skills and knowledge I learnt from Junior Chamber: meeting skills, project management, protocol and China knowledge. But the most I treasure is friendship. I made a lot of JC friends in Hong Kong and abroad. In addition, via JC, I made friends in mainland China. I treasure every opportunity to work with and to learn from these young and energetic people. Above all, I met my better half in JC!

Thank you very much Senator Clement Woo, wish you every success in the year to come.

Thanks a lot.

Hong Kong Junior Chamber's - Opinion

Hong Kong Junior Chamber's Opinion on Corporate Governance Review by the Standing Committee on Company Law Reform

Hong Kong Junior Chamber has provided its opinion on Corporate Governance Review ("CGR") by the Standing Committee on Company Law Reform ("SCCLR") with particular focus on it's application to the non-profit making organizations in Hong Kong.

The report focuses on the relevant sections in the CGR, in our view, will be applicable to non-profit making organizations. The report outlines the findings and proposals by the SCCLR in the CGR, and recommends how such proposals can further be applied to non-profit making organisations.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

Directors' Duties:

- Organisations should orientate new directors and give a copy of these guidelines to new directors
- Directors should be encouraged to refer to more detailed reviews of the roles and duties of directors in law. Directors should refer to codes of best practice to improve the manner in which their organisations are managed
- Ongoing training should be provided to directors (please refer to section 3)

Directors' Qualifications and Training:

- The organisation has a responsibility to ensure that the directors receive the training necessary for the performance of the full range of duties
- Training should be planned and continuing process at all levels and should cover:
  - Basic training - providing the knowledge of the organisation includes protocol, regulations, procedures and the decision-making processes of an organisation and knowing how it is structured
  - Development training - includes the management and organisational skills on how to conduct as a management role

Directors in relation to self dealing:

- It is management's responsibility to maintain an internal control system and to ensure that the organisation's resources are properly applied in the manner and on the activities intended and that this includes responsibility for the prevention and detection of conflict of interests, fraud and corruption by directors
- It is therefore recommended to set up an individual committee to maintain the internal control systems
- It is also recommended directors should fully disclose their interests / potential interests in any transactions with the organisations
- Such transactions should be brought to the Board of Directors meeting for adoption if they exceed certain amount as prescribed in an organisation's guideline
- Directors should abstain from voting in the transactions they are interested
- The transactions should be disclosed in the annual report of the organisations

Shareholders' Approval for Connected Transactions:

- Tender process should be applied if certain amount of transaction value is exceeded
- Amounts for seeking board or shareholders' approval could be different
- Guidelines of such amount should be set up in each organisation
- Directors should abstain from voting in relevant transactions
- Non-profit making organisations should consider to appoint independent non-executive directors in the board (please refer to section 7)

Roles and Functions of the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer :

- It is not applicable to non-profit making organisations and it is also difficult to separate the duties between Chairman and Chief Executive

Structure of the Board and the Role of Non-executive Directors:

- It is recommended to introduce and maintain both executive directors, non-executive directors and independent non-executive directors in the board of non-profit making organisations
- It is proposed that there should be a minimum number of independent non-executive directors in the non-profit making organisations
- In case of any significant connected transactions between the executive directors and the non-profit making organisations, such executive directors should abstain from voting. Approval from independent non-executive directors should be obtained

Audit, Nomination and Remuneration Committees:

- An audit committee, usually comprising the non-executive directors, should be set up in order to
  - Appoint statutory auditors to audit the accounts of the organisation
  - Undertake studies which make recommendations for improving economy, efficiency and effectiveness of services
  - Assess and report on the adequacy of the organisation's standing orders relating to the associated financial regulations
  - Review and report on the extent to which procedures comply with the policies and procedural rules of the organisation
- Remuneration and nomination committee should be set up as independent commission. Reporting and management system must be well developed in order to identify the duties and responsibility of these commissions.

Board Procedures:

- It may be difficult to hold a "full" board meeting for non-profit making organisations. However, it is recommended 80% or more physically present for every board meetings
- Notification of one week instead of two days in advance should be given to board members
- Regularly seek professional advises to make sure all policies and decisions made are complied with legal requirement

Company General Meetings:

- It is recommended notification should be given to members 14 days before the meeting as according to Company Ordinance
- It is also recommended both formal and informal notice and promotion can be given in order to invite more members to participate
- A more transparent process regarding the use of proxies is recommended

You & I Bring 你我同獻 HONG KONG 生機再現 Back Campaign

Project Chairman Michael Ngai presented the survey results to the media and public.

The "Survey Results Announcement and Forum" of "You and I Bring Hong Kong Back" Campaign organised by Hong Kong Junior Chamber was successfully held on 6 July 2003 at Convention Centre, Hong Kong.

The Hong Kong Institute of Asia-Pacific Studies of The Chinese University of Hong Kong was commissioned to conduct a survey by HKJC. It was comforting to conclude from the survey results that the SARS epidemic had made a positive impact on Hong Kong people's attitudes towards the value of life. Over 36% of respondents indicated an increased sense of belongings toward Hong Kong following the SARS outbreak, versus 12% indicating the opposite. More importantly, 73% of all respondents believed that the number of people willing to help others had increased.

It was followed by the announcement of the theme projects to be organised by LOMs under 4 areas of opportunities:

Areas	Projects	Organised by
Business	SME eMarketing Campaign	Victoria

Let's take a group photo - JCI VP Kyong Ho Lee Welcome Dinner at HK Yacht Club

P Nini taking the opportunity to ask about JCI opportunity

Yum Cha Lunch with JCI VP on July 30, 2003.

The night was full of laughters - look at P Asako !

There were over 60 JCs joined the Welcome Dinner for JCI VP Kyung-ho Lee at the HK Yacht Club on the 29th July 2003. He shared with us the opportunity and network that JC offers. Participants were also invited to share with all about themselves and their work.

JCI VP encouraged us to make use of the opportunity that JCI offers and make friends with other countries. ASPAC and World Congress are good places to meet with other Junior Chamber members and make friends. "We should not just collect name cards and put them aside," said JCI VP Kyung-ho Lee, " we should make good use of them." He also said that people like to wait, but not knock. He encouraged us to knock, he said "when you knock, you will gain, make use of Junior Chamber members to make friends with other chapters, not just the own chapter and also make friends with other countries."

JCI VP also joined the NBN gathering on the 30th July 03. There were over 20 participants. He shared with all the opportunity that JCI offered and encouraged all to join ASPAC and World Congress.

President Academy

Although President Academy has undergone its evolution since its inception in 1993, its objectives remained unchanged through the years --- a high powered training course designed to train potential office bearers who are determined to serve the JC organization.

The 2003 President Academy was jointly hosted by Lion Rock, Harbour and Apex Junior Chambers. It was held at the HK Institute of Education in Tai Po on August 9 & 10 . This year, there were 43 participants. Various programs like goal-setting exercise, self-awareness program, visioning for Hong Kong Junior Chamber, team-building exercise, strategic planning, team project and presentation were tailor-made to the participants so as to prepare them to become outstanding leaders of Junior Chamber. Needless to say, the participants were enlightened with widened vision and renewed commitment after the intensive training offered by our coaches.

Team spirit is being built through interactive games.

Special thanks must go to our head-coach Past National President Senator Justin Lui and the advisor and founder of the course, Past President Senator Bassanio. We also thank a number of encouraging and motivating coaches who made the Program such a success, they are Past National President Senator Eddy Wong, International Graduate Senator Joseph Ho and Certified National Trainer Past President Senator Tony Tsang.

Sailing Through Waves

Under the umbrella of "You and I bring Hong Kong Back" campaign, Sha Tin Junior Chamber teaming up with Lions Club of Shatin organized "Sailing Through Waves" in the summer. This project included three elements: overnight camp, seminars and social service. In the camp, the coaching team headed by Senator Paul Chan delivered the topics of self-awareness, personal planning, team building, etc. to the participants by using their professional JC training skills. Participants then acquired the basic skills to conduct a CD project in the seminars. The final part is learning by doing. The participants were formed themselves into three organizing committees to carry out their own social service projects. The first team held their project on September 21, 2003. The team members brought the children from Children's Home to the Hong Kong Federation of Youth Groups and Bride's Pool to enhance their awareness of environmental protection. The other teams will hold their service projects in October and November.

Children Silver Tongue Contest "Brighten your life with Children's China Passion"

兒童金口獎比賽-「小朋友的中國情、中國心-活出人生的意義」

The theme of Children Silver Tongue Contest 2003 was "Brighten your life with Children's China passion". In this critical time of SARS and economic downturn, it was important that we stood side by side to express our passion and love our community.

The project was supported by Alex Fong (方力申), Summer Youth Programme Committee, Civic Promotion Committee, Education and Manpower Bureau, HK Education City, City University of Hong Kong, Jockey Club Charities Trust, FYSK(蓬瀛仙館), HKJC Trustee, MTR, KCRC, New World First Bus and Roadshow. 10 newspapers reported the project and the awardees were invited to "TVB Kid's Click" (至 net 小人類) to present their speech. The children cherished their learning experience from joining our contest. About 300 parents and students attended the contest.

The organizing committees had been working days and nights for 7 months. Many North District Junior Chamber members offered their helping hands. It showed what team spirit and miracle was.
