We believe:
That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life;
That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations;
That economic justice can best be won by free man through free enterprise;
That government should be of laws rather than of men;
That earth's great treasure lies in human personality;
And that service to humanity is the best work of life.

我們深信：

MESSAGE FROM PATRON

My warm congratulations to all the winners of the 1991 Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection Award and to the Junior Chamber of Commerce on organizing this important event.

The Award gives recognition to young individuals who have excelled in their career and are exceptionally dedicated to community services. Over the past 21 years, the TOYP winners have formed an important driving force in the community and I am sure this year's winners will carry on with this fine tradition of encouraging others in their quest for excellence and giving their best to the community.

GUEST OF HONOUR

The Hon. John J. Swaine C.B.E., Q.C., J.P.
Deputy President of Legislative Council

MESSAGE FROM GUEST OF HONOUR

I am delighted and privileged to have been invited by the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce to be the Guest of Honour at the 1991 ceremony to mark this year's selection of Hong Kong's Ten Outstanding Young Persons.

The selection is made on the basis of personal achievement in the candidates' area of work or interest and contribution to the community. The first awards were made in 1970, and over the years many of the awardees have gone on to distinguish themselves in their respective fields as well as in public service.

So this year's 10 Outstanding Young Persons can feel justly proud at being selected and inspired by the fine example of their predecessors to seek further fulfilment.

I extend to them my congratulations and best wishes.

MESSAGE FROM SPONSOR

Over the last several months, we have been reading in the pages of our daily newspapers about the lives of past winners of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection. Each of these stories has been a source of inspiration and pride to those of us who serve the Hong Kong business community. They have demonstrated a true sense of commitment to excellence.

The ten young persons who have been selected this year add even more depth to that pool of talented individuals. We wish to extend our congratulations to the ten recipients for setting an outstanding example of accomplishment in leadership, dedication and service to the community.

Pacific Link, as one of Hong Kong's young businesses, has made a commitment to strive for excellence in its business and to provide opportunities for young people to develop professionally.

It is with great pride that Pacific Link has sponsored this year's search for Hong Kong's leaders. We wish to extend our sincerest congratulations to the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce for making these selections possible and for its leadership and dedication to this most worthy effort over the years.

MESSAGES FROM JUDGES

We live in a fascinating and very special place where many outstanding individuals work hard with determination, selfless dedication and yet, find time to serve our community in meaningful way. Hence, it has never been an easy task to select ten from among so many outstanding young men and women and, indentify what form of achievement truly deserves to be recognized and ought to be held up as a model to other young persons.

I am very pleased to have been asked to participate again in this year's TOYP Selection, a challenging and informative task for myself and, I am sure, also for my colleagues in the judging panel.

I congratulate the successful candidates and also, applaud the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce for organizing this event so meaningfully and successfully.

SIR ROGER LOBO,

MESSAGES FROM JUDGES

Congratulations to the winners of Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection 1991. In winning the award, it is not only representing your personal achievement but also your dedication to the development of Hong Kong. The Outstanding Young Persons Selection is an annual event to promote and honour our young people whose participation in their relevant fields are being recognized. In winning the award I hope this recognition will encourage you to participate in the public affairs of Hong Kong and to set an example for other young people to follow. Again, I congratulate you on winning the award.

Regards.

THE HON. ALLEN LEE PENG FEI,

I regard it as an honour to have served on the panel of judges for the 1991 TOYP Selection. Not only have I been impressed by the outstanding qualities of each of the nominees, but I also see them as representatives of the talent andpotential of our community. Their achievements and enthusiasm for more reflect the kind of vigour, confidence and determination which have made Hong Kong what it is today, and which will take us through all the challenges facing us. The people of Hong Kong can be proud of these outstanding young people.

To the winners I offer my warmest congratulations. The Award is a recognition of their leadership, commitment and contribution to the community. I hope it will motivate them even further. May I also congratulate the HK JAYCEES for their success in organising the TOYP Selection scheme, and wish them every success in the years to come.

THE HON. E. B. WIGGHAM,

MESSAGES FROM JUDGES

I write to congratulate the winners of this year's Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection. To have successfully entered the competition and won is indeed a glory unto itself; however, the true meaning and therefore, the true worth of the event lies not as much in the collection of a prize as in the responsibility given one to build and lead the society in which we live.

Past recipients of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons have, in all their careers, achieved great heights and many of them, too, have been influential in contributing to the political, social, educational, economic and other areas of development in Hong Kong. In the face of the many challenges ahead, perhaps the idea of following in the footsteps of previous winners is worthy of emulating.

Wishing you all the best for a bright future for yourselves and for Hong Kong.

DR. DANIEL C. W. TSE,

The Ten Outstanding Young Persons award by the JAYCEES is now so well recognised that competition for nomination has become intense. The JAYCEES search for excellence among so many outstanding young persons in Hong Kong has drawn in an astonishing number of excellently qualified candidates.

It is most rewarding to be able to meet these young people and hear from them how they have been involved in the so many aspects of the life of Hong Kong.

A first requisite for nomination is success in the candidates chosen field of work, whatever that is. We have seen candidates from a great variety of callings.

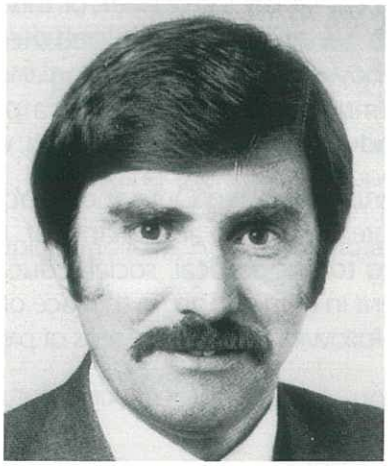

A second requirement is that the candidate, in addition to excelling in his own work, has made a substantial contribution to the life of Hong Kong outside his normal activities.

It is not easy to combine these two requirements. Those that do can justifiably be described as outstanding. In this context they are outstanding young persons so there is still a lifetime of service in front of them.

I congratulate all those who have been nominated this year and wish them every success in the years ahead.

MR. D. C. BRAY,

MESSAGE FROM SELECTION CONSULTANT

The future of any society depends upon the young people of today, those that are destined to become tomorrow's leaders. Strong leadership, across a broad range of activities, is essential for the development and well-being of our community.

Through the 'Ten Outstanding Young Persons' programme, the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce has identified over the years a number of impressive individuals who have been, and continue to be, valuable contributors to Hong Kong society. By recognising the achievements of these people, Hong Kong has gained through their increased efforts, and examples have been set for us all to follow.

The value of this programme cannot be over-estimated. We at Ernst & Young deem it a great honour to have been involved in the selection process, assisting the panel to choose ten worthy winners, and we feel sure that the new recipients of this award will emulate their predecessors by applying their leadership skills for the further benefit of the people of Hong Kong.

MESSAGE FROM NATIONAL PRESIDENT
HONG KONG JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection is a very prestigious project in the community. H.K. Junior Chamber of Commerce has organised this project since 1970 and we are proud that this project has honoured over 140 outstanding young leaders in H.K. in the past two decades. A few of them has even further honoured by the award of World Outstanding Young Person Selection organised by Junior Chamber International in the past years. This selection has provided a means of recognition and encouragement to many young persons of exceptional quality in personal achievements and contributions to their professions and the community.

On behalf of Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce, may I take this opportunity to congratulate all the awardees and I am sure that their achievements have been well recognised by the honour of receiving this award. I do hope that they will continue to contribute towards the well-being of the community and set good example to encourage the other young people to strike for excellence in their fields as well as to contribute to our community.

I would also like to take this opportunity to thank The Hon, Sir David Ford, K.B.E., L.V.O., J.P., the Chief Secretary, for patronising the project. The Hon, John J. Swaine, C.B.E., Q.C. J.P., Deputy President of Legislative Council for officiating at the award presentation ceremony. My sincere thanks to the distinguished panel of Judges and Ernst and Young, the selection consultations to this project, for their valuable time and efforts which makes this event successful.

My thanks and congratulations to Senator Connia Chu Lo, Chairman of this selection as well as hard-working committee members.

MESSAGE FROM WORLD PRESIDENT JUNIOR CHAMBER INTERNATIONAL

It is a privilege and honor for me to address President Daniel Cham, Officers and members of Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce on the occasion of your TOYP Awards Banquet.

As the 46th President, I would like to congratulate Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce on its outstanding leadership and support of our beloved organization. It is such devotion and dedication that make us all proud to be a part of this wonderful organization.

Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce makes the difference by offering its members every opportunity to improve individual and social skills and by being real partners and catalysts in the community.

As the world is changing very quickly, Junior Chamber has to make every effort to remain the leader through new ideas and projects by using its motivation, creativity and worldwide network. The ambition, creativity and vision of our members are still our most important resources. I am confident that your motivation and enthusiasm will be a part of the fast-changing world.

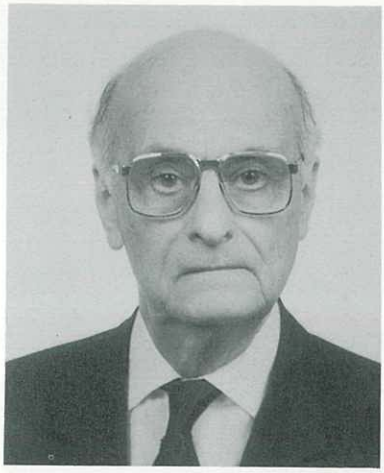

I take this opportunity to encourage each of you to strive to make ours a greater organization of stronger individuals. You are proof that Junior Chamber is a positive force among people with ambition and a will for personal improvement.

Best wishes for a most successful TOYP Awards Banquet!

Happiness and health to all of you, and don't forget: You Make the Difference!

MESSAGE FROM HON. LIFE PRESIDENT
HONG KONG JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

It is right and proper that the community should acclaim the outstanding achievement of young persons in every walk of life.

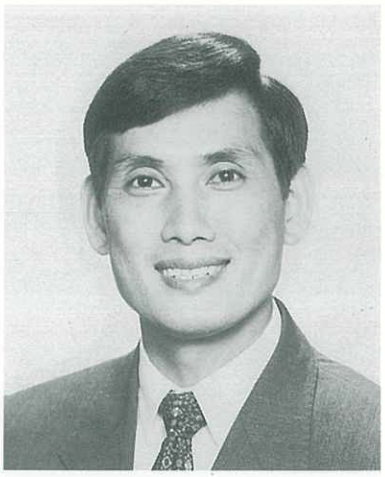

Each year ten young men and women, who have given of themselves to the community beyond the call of duty, are chosen very carefully to be honoured by society.

They set also the standards which other young people might wish to emulates.

Congratulations.

A. de O. Sales
Hon. Life President

MESSAGE FROM SENATE CHAIRMAN
HONG KONG JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

My sincere congratulations to the ten Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection awardees and Hong Kong. Congratulations to the awardees for their achievement, contributions and courage to accept nomination and the tough challenge of the screening process. Congratulations to Hong Kong for not lacking in talented, dedicated, positive and caring outstanding citizens.

The road to success as demonstrated by the TOYP awardees is no easy one. Their struggle through the many failures provide good examples and incentive to young people, and help motivate them to work towards their vision and goal. They are models for others to follow.

I wish all the awardees continued success in their career and community services. I wish Hong Kong will continue to bear successful young people to work for the much needed stability and prosperity.

To the organizing committee, I offer my sincere congratulations for a job very well done.

NIPP/Senate Chairman

MESSAGE FROM TRUSTEE CHAIRMAN
HONG KONG JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

As time flies, I still remember when I sat in the 1st organisation committee of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection some twenty years ago. Today, In recognizing these young persons for their outstanding achievements, we expect a greater challenge waiting ahead. A challenge that they are willing to serve mankind, to maintain human dignity and to contribute prosperity.

Congratulations to those being selected!

MESSAGE FROM SUPERVISING OFFICER
HONG KONG JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

It is my great pleasure to extend my heartfelt congratulations to the 1991 Awardees of the "Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection".

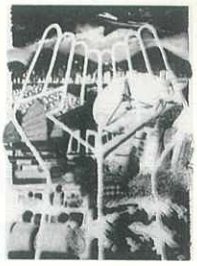

The recognition of outstanding achievement is a very important part of the Jaycee concept. These ten awardees have achieved their successes through self-struggle and determination. They have set very good examples to motivate young people in Hong Kong and are truly deserved to receive such honour.

Taking this opportunity, I would like to extend my most sincere thanks to the capable chairmanship of Connia Chu Lo and her dedicated organising committee members who have paid such a meritorious part in making this project a very successful and outstanding one.

Finally, I wish you all a very memorable evening.

MESSAGE FROM CHAIRMAN
THE OUTSTANDING YOUNG PERSONS' ASSOCIATION

Each year, Hong Kong honours its young men and women for their oustanding achievement in their repective fields of endeavour and service to the community. On behalf of the Outstanding Young Persons' Association (TOYPA), I extend my warmest congratulations to the ten prominent individuals receiving the TOYP Award this year. The encouragement given to the awardees would further stimulate their desire to service our society.

Since its inception in 1977, TOYPA has been recruiting quality members and uniting the efforts of past awardees for the betterment of our society. During the years, TOYPA has launched numerous projects towards the well-being of Hong Kong. We would certainly welcome the new awardees to join the Association.

I would also like to congratulate the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce for another successful year in organizing this meaningful and widely recognized community project.

Chu Pui Hing
Chairman of TOYPA

MESSAGE FROM PROJECT CHAIRMAN
HONG KONG JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Welcome you all to this joyful Awards Presentation Banquet of the 1991 Ten Outstanding Young Persons (TOYP) Selection.

Assuming the chairmanship of this prominent project is one way to fulfill my commitment to further serve the JC and the community since I have been awarded "The Most Outstanding Chapter President of the World" in 1990. This award has not only brought me honours but greater responsibilities which I am most willing to discharge because I believe: The more I have gained, the more I should contribute.

In the past six months, my mind was preoccupied with thoughts of this project, and my friends can hardly count the number of white hairs I wore on my head. Yet, the experience is tremendously rewarding.

Judging from the public response, media coverage, support from celebrities and various organisations, I have good faith to say that the 1991 TOYP Selection is an overwhelming success.

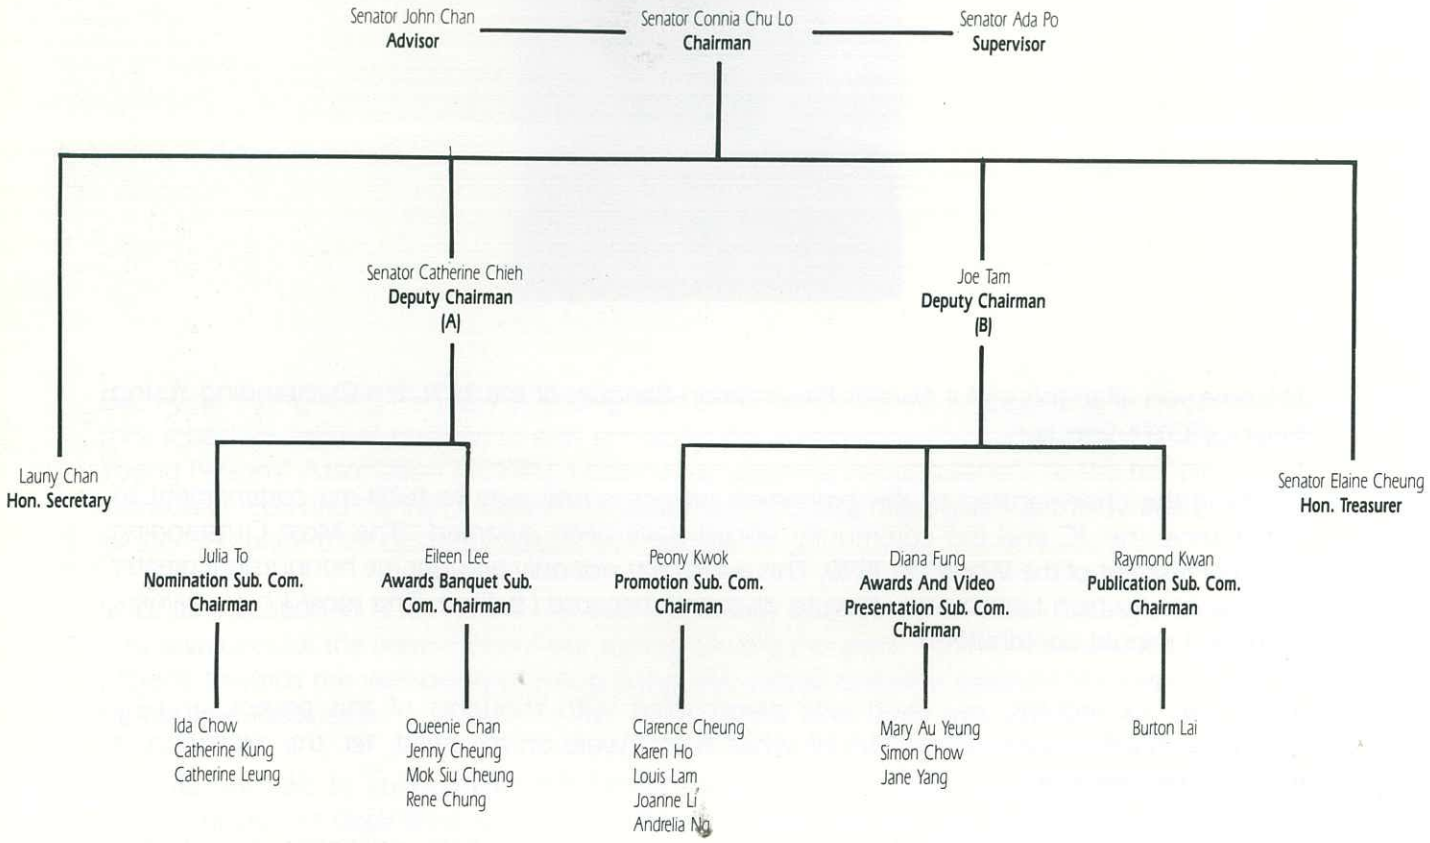

Witnessing the great achievement of this project, I must express my warmest gratitude to the patronage of Sir David Ford, K.B.E., L.V.O., J.P., and The Hon. J.J. Swaine, C.B.E., O.C. J.P., to the efforts and guidance from our Panel of Judges, to the generous financial support of Pacific Link Communications Ltd. as well as to the professional assistance of Ernst & Young.

In the JC family, I owe my heartfelt thanks to my advisors, in particular to Senator Ada Po and my talented committee members, who have diligently completed their duties as a group of amateurs and demonstrated an impressive JC spirit.

Once again, I congratulate the 1991 Awardees and wish the future TOYP Selections be as successful as ever!

Eric has been involved with the Red Cross ever since he was in his mid-teens. As a non-privileged child, he was pleased to become involved in projects where he could tutor children in their studies. His commitment to the Red Cross has earned him increasing responsibility within the organisation.

At the age of 20, he was in charge of 2000 members in Kowloon. And as a result of his efforts, the youth movement grew from around 7,000 to its present 12,000 members. Eric has been the Assistant Director of the Hong Kong Red Cross (a voluntary office) since 1985, and is also the chairman of the advisory committee for the Hong Kong Association of the Deaf.

A straight forward and non-self promoting man, Eric has managed to climb the social ladder despite his humble origin. His father was a fishmonger and to help make ends meet, Eric used to help his mother do needlework.

Eric has dreamed of going to the university himself, but the financial situation of his family prevented him from doing so. Instead, he accepted a job as an Executive Officer in the Hong Kong Government, and was able to finance part of his younger brothers' education. Finally, in his mid-twenties, Eric could fulfill his dream. He was granted full time paid leave to study law.

When 200 applications were lodged for the scholarships, Eric managed to secure one of the seven awards. He completed his LLB, did his articles and decided to become a solicitor. He was appointed to the Crown Counsel in less than three years' time — the shortest that one had ever been promoted to this position.

He was invited to study the Joint Declaration and answer to the press on any issues concerning the Chinese language elements. He was also asked to serve as a member of the Consultative Committee for drafting the Basic Law.

Eric has been promoted to the position of Deputy Law Draftsman, and is the first local Chinese to have achieved this. He is also heading the team responsible for drafting the Chinese versions of all new legislations.

Eric views his career with content. He believes that HongKong is one of the few places where one is able to change the quality of life and their social status through hard work. He has not forgotten his beginning, and has certainly not forgotten people who are less privileged than himself.

Rev. Chan has been involved in social activities for many years. As a fresh graduate, he has worked with rehabilitated drug addicts for five years. After taking up a course on Clinical Pastoral Studies in the States, he returned to the territory and began the chaplaincy services at the Government's Grantham Hospital.

Realising the value of this service to the patients, Rev. Chan decided to present a seminar on this discipline for the medical and nursing community. It was well received, and acted as the catalyst to chaplaincy services in non-religious community hospitals. (To date, with the help of the Government and local Christian Community, chaplaincy services have become available to 19 Government and non-Government hospitals.)

Acknowledging the needs and benefits for patients (especially those suffering from prolonged sickness) to air out their emotions, Rev. Chan, along with some nurses, organised regular gatherings for patients suffering from kidney disease.

He has also taken up the initiative to assist rehabilitation of psychiatric patients. A laundry service which offers employment for newly released psychiatric patients was established in the Shamshuipo District. However, owing to the scarcity of financial resources, the service can only provide limited number of transitional employment vacancies. Yet, it has proved to be a valuable training ground for former patients in regaining their confidence for re-employment in the real world.

In view of his extensive involvement in social services, Rev. Chan certainly deserves recognition by the general public. He has displayed enormous patience, caring and virtues which are all too scarce in the modern world.

Chau Yau completely lost his sight at the age of six, the cause of which — whether it was hereditary or due to ill health — is still not known. He entered the Ebenezer School & Home for the Blind, a charitable organisation, at the age of 8. He later went on to study at St. Francis Xavier's College, the University of Hong Kong and the University of London, where he attained a MSc in Information Systems.

In spite of his physical burden, Mr. Chong pursued higher education and achieved two degrees. Realising the difficulty facing a blind person looking for employment, he set up a company called International Technology (HK) Ltd. with friends from university. Although the company is still in operation, Mr. Chong now works for the Hong Kong Government as an Administration Officer in the Education and Manpower Branch of the Government Secretariat.

As president of the Hong Kong Association for the Blind (HKAB), Mr. Chong has represented Hong Kong as a delegate at conferences worldwide, speaking at over 20 conferences and publishing 17 papers. He has undertaken research projects in areas of general welfare (not restricting to the blind), and is the only disabled member of the working party on the green paper on rehabilitation.

He is actively trying to build a "barrier free" society so that individuals with disabilities can be free from discrimination and patronisation. This has translated into improvements on certain public transportation systems, primarily for blind and wheelchair-bound people.

Mr. Chong has also made a sustained effort to combat the problems of employment for the disabled. He has established Hong Kong's first blind computer professional's employment services in 1989 and has been actively soliciting firms to hire blind professionals.

His initiatives in helping the blind has extended beyond the territory — he is working on improving the conditions of the blind in the PRC; and is acting as an advisor on the Golden Key project in China, which aims to integrate blind children into ordinary schools.

Over the past two years, he has arranged conferences for interested parties in Taiwan, PRC and Hong Kong to unify the Chinese braille system (three are in use currently.) Through his liaison, five working parties have been established to address specific aspects to unify the Chinese braille system.

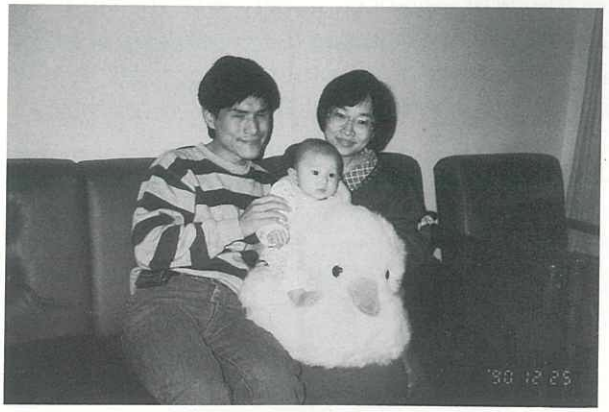

He is committed to educating the public that the blinds are a valuable resource. Blind people in Hong Kong and China have benefited as a direct result of his efforts. In spite of his disabilities, he serves as an encouragement to all young people and has demonstrated the inconveniences in life are not insurmountable.

KWOK Ching Kwong, John
Area: Professionals
郭　正　光

John's life-long ambition to become a neurosurgeon was fueled by the disbelief that no one could help his grandmother who died of cerebral hemorrhage. He channelled all his efforts into this ambition from the age of 15.

Accepted at the Royal College of Surgeons in Dublin, Ireland in 1973, John has spent the next 13 years studying overseas before returning to HongKong. He began working as a medical officer in 1985, and is now the Consultant Neurosurgeon and Head of the Neurosurgical Department at the Kwong Wah Hospital.

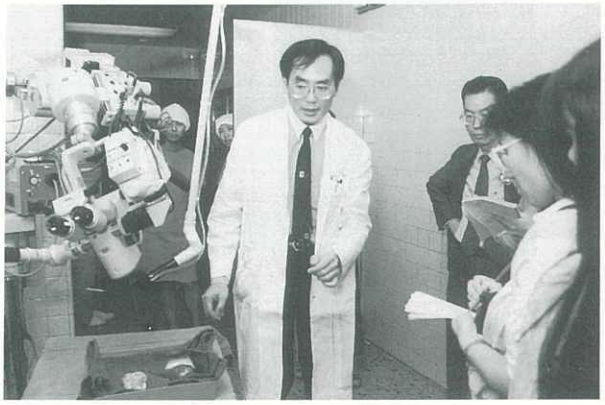

Since working with the Kwong Wah Hospital, John has been involved not only with clinical work, but is shouldered with a very heavy administrative burden as well. He is constantly involved in raising funds and liaising with government officials to upgrade the department's resources.

John has also taken up the task of promoting and providing better surgical care of HongKong's low social strata and the elderly. Besides successfully raising over HK$12 million for the free outpatient services at Kwong Wah, John was instrumental in setting up the "Caring Tree" Campaign (which aims to raise HK$60 million through public donations) to ensure the operation of the free service.

When he first returned to HongKong, local neurosurgery techniques and instrumentation were some 15 years out of date. Today, despite manpower shortages, John's relentless efforts in research and fundraising have ensured that HongKong practices the most advanced surgery with the latest instrumentation. He was directly responsible for introducing embolisation to the Far East, and as far as he is aware, Hong Kong is the only centre using embolisation (a technique which allows brain surgery to be conducted by passing tubes from the stomach thus not requiring lesions to the skull.)

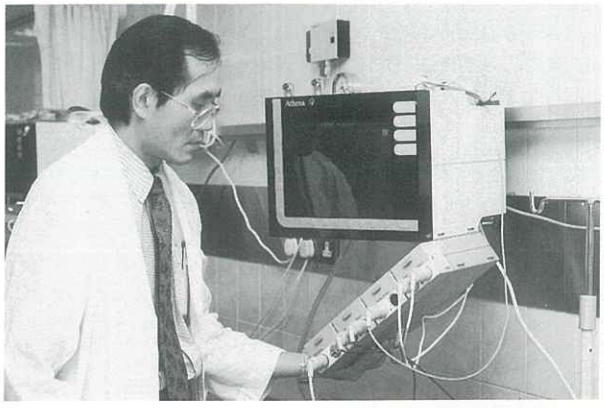

Apart from dedicating his life to neurosurgery, John is committed to improving the health care services in Hong Kong. He is not interested to emigrate as he feels he has much to contribute here. Modest about his career achievement, he is determined to shape the future of surgery in Hong Kong, by bringing it in line with the rest of the world.

Contracting polio at an early age, Michael was fortunate enough to make a full recovery. After a normal education, he began working as an auditor with Price Waterhouse. In his next job with Gilman's as an auditor, he performed some restructuring work for Hong Kong Reinsurance, and was later asked to join the company. He is now the Director and General Manager of his own company, ASRA (Asia Security Reinsurance Agency Ltd.)

Under his guidance, ASRA has enjoyed steady growth in a difficult market, and has helped establish Hong Kong as an important regional reinsurance centre. Through his work, Michael has extended his activities in this field, and is now a director of two other companies.

Apart from his work, Michael is active in two other areas, The Volunteers and the Aikido Association. His recovery from polio, which paralysed him from the waist down, inspired him to keep active and fit. He joined The Royal Hong Kong Regiment in 1975 and has now risen to the rank of Major. Demonstrating superb leadership qualities, he was appointed as ADC to the late Governor, Sir Edward Youde, and then to Sir David Wilson until September 1990

Michael's involvement in martial arts began at the age of 13. Achieving a black belt at kendo, he has become a qualified instructor and 3rd Dan in aikido. Aikido, is a form of martial art used for self-defense and restraint, and both the Royal Hong Kong Police Force and the British Army have been training their officers with it. As one of the only few Aikido's instructors in Hong Kong, Michael has devoted his time in training the police, and has been instrumental in getting the Correctional Services Department to adopt aikido in training its officers.

It is remarkable that Michael has been able to achieve such a great deal whilst leading a normal family life. His work with The Volunteers and through the Aikido Association has been of enormous benefit to the community.

Gilbert has demonstrated his leadership when he sat on various student organisations' committees in the university. Upon graduation in 1976, he worked as a secondary school teacher and took on the post as Executive to the New Territories District Office in 1977. His decision for the career move laid mainly on the announcement of a 10-year housing plan by the then governor Sir Murray MacLehose.
A lot of Land Executives was employed to make acquisitions of lands from the New Territories' residents. Gilbert applied for the position, feeling that as a Saikung resident for over 30 years, he felt he should look after the interests of the native residents in this regard and that he should ensure the smooth implementation of the housing plan.

He resigned from his post and set up his own business in 1985. Within a span of 6 years, his business expanded from a staff of 2 to 35. He is also an elected member on the Sai Kung District Board, elected member of the Regional Council and a member of the Heung Yee Kuk New Territories. He was recently elected as member of the Legislative Council under the Regional Council Constituency.

Despite his heavy workload, Gilbert is very active with his social responsibilities. He helped establish welfare services for the elderly, set up scholarships for students, and raised funds for various charity organisations. His achievement at work and his willingness to dedicate his time to community affairs will truly inspire others to follow his lead.

Despite his humble beginnings, Eddy has forged an impressive career and has made some groundbreaking contributions to Hong Kong's watch industry. Working as a junior sales clerk with Sunciti Manufacturers Ltd., — a subsidiary of Citizen Watch Company of Tokyo. Eddy was eventually promoted to Sales Manager in 1976. He left the company after 14 years, and started his own watch company, Campell Timer Ltd.

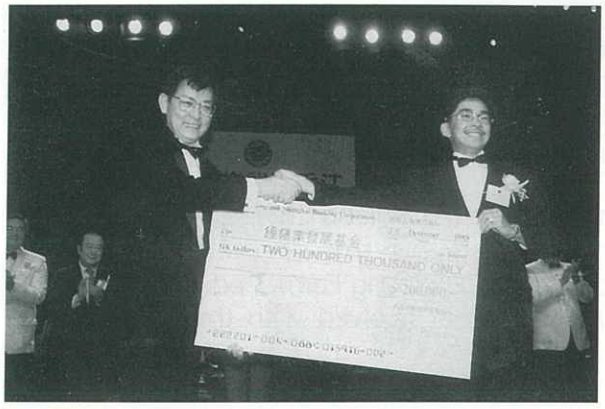

During this time, Eddy developed the local market for Japanese parts and components. It was particularly impressive as Hong Kong market was almost completely dominated by Swiss-made mechanical products and technology.

His contributions to Hong Kong's watch industry go beyond that of developing the local market for Japanese parts and components: he has helped Hong Kong manufacturers learn from Japanese technology and strengthen their competitive position in the international market; he has started the Watch Industry Development Fund in 1987, which subsidises training and staff development programmes for the industry.

Apart from being actively involved in establishing training programmes at the Hong Kong Polytechnic, the Hong Kong Productivity Council and the Hong Kong Vocational Training Council, he was also instrumental in introducing copyright registration and computerisation to the watch industry.

As director and chairman of the Watch Manufacturers Association, Eddy has organised many delegations for the industry to investigate potential markets over the world; among them was the "The Hong Kong International Watch and Clock Fair '89", which was the largest in Asia, and the second largest in the world. It attracted record 626 booth applications from Hong Kong and overseas.

Eddy has shown himself to be a visionary who is dedicated to the improvement and development of the industry. As a result of his efforts, the industry has been able to gain a solid footing in the international market in the short span of a decade.

Bessie's family moved to Hong Kong from Mainland China when she was a little girl. Since her parents believed that girls do not need much education, she began to work, after completing Form 3 education, as a class mistress at 17. And for the past 23 years, she has been involved with the pre-school education and training for the deaf.

She received her education from the University of Manchester, the University of Hong Kong, and the Washington University specialising in the education of the deaf. Even more admirable is the fact that she furthered her education while working part-time to support herself. She has also obtained a scholarship from the Central Institute for the Deaf at the Washington University.

Bessie has worked as an administrator and teacher at the Hong Kong Host Lions Centre for the Deaf, a counsellor for the Central Institute for the Deaf in the US, and class mistress at St. Gabriel's School for the Deaf in Sydney, Australia, the Mongkok Lutheran School for the Deaf and the Saviour Lutheran School, prior to her current positions as the headmistress of a kindergarten and the director of the school for deaf children in Hong Kong.

Setting up a school in educating the deaf 10 years ago, Bessie is still continuing her strive to upgrade the screening process for deaf children to increase their chances of integration into society. Her techniques have been so successful that over 96% of the deaf children trained at her school have been able to integrate into "normal" schools.

In addition to providing training for children, she and her staff also work with parents to teach them how to interact with their children. For only $550 per month, her school provides an intensive 45 minutes one-child-one-parent and one-teacher weekly session.

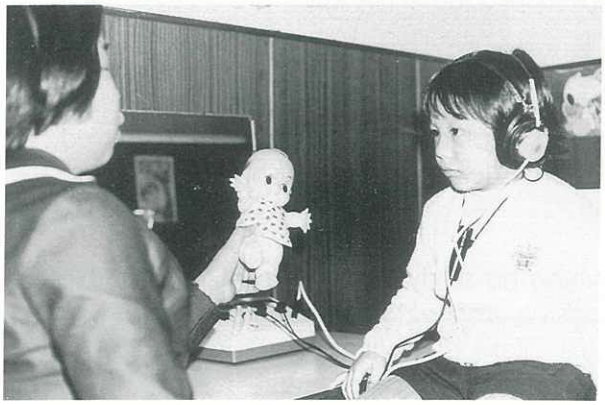

Her dedication in educating the deaf children is well regarded among her contemporaries, and her work has been so impressive that Lady Wilson has twice given recognition to her achievement. Bessie has also written a book entitled "How To Correct Children's Speech" and was called upon to represent Hong Kong in regional and international conferences on special education for deaf children.

She was given the 1978-1979 Rotary Foundation Education Award for Teachers of the Handicapped which included a scholarship at UBC in Vancouver Canada. Yet she turned down the opportunity because she did not want to leave the children she was working with at the time.

Bessie sees her nomination as a candidate for TOYP not so much as a personal recognition, but as a way of increasing public awareness about the needs of deaf children.

WONG Kwok Shing, Thomas
Area: Professionals

汪　國　成

Thomas has a vision about nursing in Hong Kong. He believes that the introduction of "holistic nursing" — that is taking into account of the physical, social and psychological aspects of patient care, with sole the problems confronting the nursing profession in Hong Kong.

As a nursing trainee for 2 years, Thomas was disillusioned with the nursing system in Hong Kong — it was far from the ideals portrayed by career advisors. He decided to pursue his schooling in England, and after completing his nursing diploma, applied for a job at the Royal Adelaide Hospital in Australia.

It was here that he discovered that nursing was what it should be. The nurses paid more attention to their job and treated each patient as a person rather than an object. In short, the nurses enjoyed their work, and the patients were happier as a result. Thomas realised then that his true vocation was to educate nurses rather than to become one.

He returned to Hong Kong ten years later, after furthering his study and career in Australia. He took up the post as a lecturer at the Hong Kong Polytechnic, and with a colleague, implemented the first-ever degree on nursing in Hong Kong. The first intake of students occurred in 1990.

In an attempt to spread his message of "holistic nursing", Thomas has set up workshops and seminars for qualified nurses on the subject. He has also written many papers on it, and is currently studying for a Ph.D.

Besides dedicating his time and efforts into elevating the standard of nursing in Hong Kong, Thomas has also participated in forging links with China, particularly with Guangdong. He will be a keynote speaker on Emergency Nursing at a conference in Singapore in 1992.

YU Tak Sun, Ignatius
Area: Civic and Social Services
余 德 新

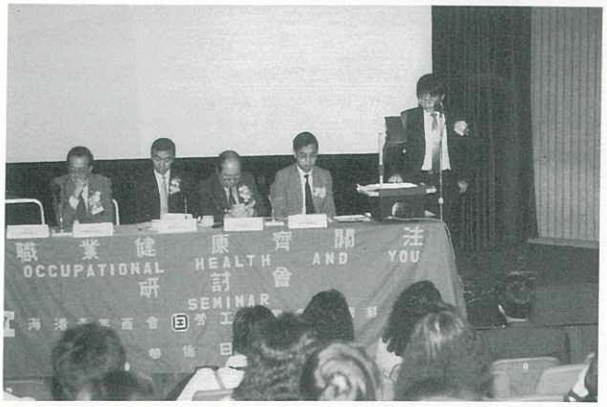

Reared in a white-collar family, Ignatius has been taught the value of serving people, and critically examining the problems in society. He was involved in social services and ran a club for children at the age of 15. He studied medicine at the University of Hong Kong and took up courses in Public and Occupational Health in Texas and Australia.

Inspired by Elsie Tu's Kwun Tong Inquiry Service, Ignatius and his university classmates opened a similar service in another area. It aimed to provide information and assistance on labour, hawking and housing for the lower social strata who were often unaware of their rights. He had gained much insight as to how underprivileged the blue collar workers were through this service.

Following his internship, Ignatius worked in a community health centre. His involvement with workers led to his decision to launch a series of safety and hazards programmes for them. Hong Kong has the highest number of accidents of all industralised countries, and Ignatius felt it a need to inform workers on the occupational health and safety problems they face. He also initiated a volunteer group to provide information and treatment services in an evening clinic.

After setting up the clinic for three years, Ignatius decided to obtain his Masters in the USA. When he returned to Hong Kong, he registered the clinic as a charitable organisation and rallied the support of the medical profession to provide voluntary services for workers. As funding the clinic's premise became increasingly difficult, he turned to running programmes to educate workers on health and safety instead.

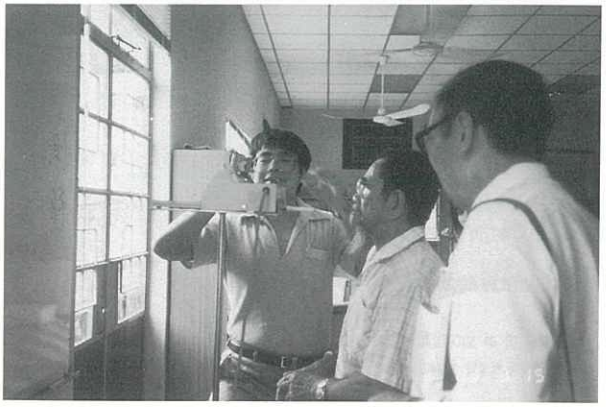

He went back to full time work and gave part of his income to finance the operation of the Workers Health Centre. Hong Kong workers have benefited as a direct consequence of his initiatives.

INTRODUCTION OF TOYP SELECTION 1991

INTRODUCTION

The history of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection dated back to 1938 when the American Junior Chamber introduced this project to its community. Result proved that many of their receipients had become eminent figures later in their career including their late President John F. Kennedy and his successor Richard Nixon.

Prompted by the overwhelming success of this project overseas, Hong Kong Jaycees organized our very first Selection in 1970 under the patronage of his Excellence the Governor of Hong Kong. The selection had become an annual project of the Hong Kong Junior Chamber since and it is now in its 19th year of history. It has grown with such prominence that the HKJCC's parent organization, the Junior Chamber International, has also adopted the same idea and introduced the Ten Outstanding Young Persons of the World Selection in 1983. The HKJCC is an organization which aims to provide training opportunities for the young to develop their leadership skills and social responsibility that cater to meet and develop positive changes in society.

OBJECTIVES

1) giving formal recognition to the young who excel in professional endeavours and commitment to the community.

2) promoting prominent roles played by the aspiring young in shaping a better future for the society; and

3) providing an incentive to all promising young who seek further advancement in personal achievement as well as public services.

NOMINATION

Nominations for the TOYP Selection 1991 were invited from all individuals from 14 July to 24 August 1991. The nominations should fall in any one of these areas:

i) Commerce and Industry
ii) Civic and Social Services
iii) Professionals
iv) Entertainment/Sports/Arts

PROPOSER

Nominations should be proposed by individuals who are 21 years or above, or by public/private organizations. There was no limit to the number of nominations to be submitted by each party.

NOMINEE

The candidate so nominated must:

i) be between 21 and 40 years of age as of 31 December 1991;
ii) has been a resident of Hong Kong for at least five years.

APPLICATION

1. Each nomination must be submitted with:

   i) a prescribed nomination form in which all the items and details must be duly completed, and endorsed by both the proposer and candidate;
   ii) a photocopy of the candidate's Hong Kong Identity Card;
   iii) two recent black & white photographs of the candidate in passport size with his/her name printed on the back.

2. The candidate must attend an interview by the Selection Consultant as and when required, and supply supporting documents for examination in the course of preliminary screening.

3. Shortlisted candidates must attend the final interview by the Panel of Judges.

4. The candidates must sign a statement of consent to allow publication of facts contained in his/her nomination form, as well as to indicate his/her willingness to attend the Press Conference and Awards Presentation Ceremony on 20 October (Sunday) and 24 November (Sunday) 1991 respectively should he/she be selected.

SELECTION CRITERIA

The candidate's personal achievement in his/her area of work/interest and contribution to the community constitute the major criteria for consideration in the Selection.

PRELIMINARY SCREENING

Ernst & Young was appointed as the Selection Consultant to verify all the data contained in each nomination form, to examine the eligibility of each candidate, and to recommend a list of candidates for final judging. All information pertinent to the nominations would not be released to the public and media until a final decision on the selection had been reached.

FINAL JUDGING

All shortlisted candidates are required to attend an interview by a Panel of Judges on the 4 October 1991 that allowed for a final assessment of the qualifications and performance of individual candidates respective to their areas of work or contribution to society consequently, a group of successful candidates were selected.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF RESULTS

Result of the TOYP Selection 1991 was announced on 20 October 1991 at a Press Conference. The successful candidates were notified of the result by registered mail and invited to attend the Press Conference. All successful candidates and their proposers were invited to attend the Awards Presentation Ceremony on 24 November 1991.

AWARD FOR SUCCESSFUL CANDIDATES

Successful candidates will be:

1) awarded a TOYP trophy at the Awards Presentation Ceremony;

2) eligible to apply for membership of The Outstanding Young Persons' Association;

3) may be nominated to participate in the TOYP of the World Selection organized by the Junior Chamber International.

RECOGNITION FOR SUCCESSFUL PROPOSERS

Proposers of all successful candidates will receive a souvenir in recognition of their nominations at the Awards Presentation Ceremony.

TOYP SELECTION 1991 IN PROGRESS

FACTS ABOUT
JUNIOR CHAMBER INTERNATIONAL

CURRENT FACTS

Name:
Junior Chamber Internatronal (JCI), the name was changed from the previous Jaycees International to the above name in the Sydney Congress in 1988, is a worldwide association of young people between the ages of 21 and 40, which welcome all nationalities, races and religions.

Membership:
Over 400,000 in nearly 13,000 communities throughout more than 80 member nations.

Purposes:
The purposes of the Jaycees, as outined in the JCI Constitution, are "To contribute to the advancement of the global community by providing the opportunity for young people to develop the leadership skills, social responsibility and fellowship necessary to create positive change."

History:
The organization was founded in St. Louis, Missouri, U.S.A. by Henry Giessenbier on October 13, 1915. His idea spread and on December 11, 1944 representatives from eight nations met in Mexico City and the world organization Jaycees International (JCI) was founded.

1991 President:
Reginald Schaumans

Headquarters:
The Junior Chamber International (JCI) Secretariat is located in Coral Gables, Florida, U.S.A. Staff of 35 provides bilingual membership and development services to its Local and National Organization Members. Its chief administrative officer is the Secretary General Den Lamey.

Theme:
Each year, Junior Chamber International adopts a major emphasis theme program which is implemented on a worldwide basis. The theme that is selected relates to a major problem of problems with universal significance. In this theme program, members can select from a number of specific projects that are most relevant to the needs of their respective communities.

The theme recommended for 1991 is "Jaycees... Young People for World Peace". The Sub-Theme adopted for 1991 is "Economic Interdependence", it is somewhat unique for an organization like JCI to become so involved in such an enormous issue, but, as a leadership training organization, it has the responsibility of directing this leadership and community initiative into a program that is base on the search for a better world balance and ultimately world peace.

Areas of Opportunities:
This concept promotes the adoption, by national and local organizations, of a balanced program of activities which will offer the membership: individual, management, community and international opportunities.

Rights of the Child:
JCI recognizes and supports the United Nation Declaration of the Rights of the Child. In 1979, Jaycees throughout the world conducted programs which directly affected the lives of more than eleven million children. In 1982 and subsequent years, national and local organizations has and will conduct permanent and continuing programs to assist with providing for the basic needs of children as set out in the Declaration.

Annual Meeting:
The 46th JCI World Congress will be held at Helsinki.

THE OUTSTANDING YOUNG PERSONS' ASSOCIATION

The Outstanding Young Persons' Association, TOYPA in short, was formed in 1977. The Association is made up of awardees of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection. Membership of TOYPA exceeds one hundred persons.

The Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection, introduced to Hong Kong in 1970, is an annual major project of the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce. Each year the award is open to nominations by the public. After the process of carefully vetting candidates' data by an appointed auditor firm, the candidates are presented to a Judging Panel consisting of recognised leaders in government, business, industries, various professions and education. Merits are given to the candidates' achievements in their respective fields as well as their contributions of personal time and efforts in service for the community.

The Outstanding Young Persons' Award not only gives proper recognition to the achievements of the recipients, but also carries with it certain responsibilities. All of those selected as Outstanding Young Persons are expected to make further contributions to the community of Hong Kong and to serve as inspirational examples to other young people. It was with this spirit that recipients of the Award work as a united group to serve the community.

The aims of TOYPA are:—

1. To sponsor and organise projects for the well-being of people in Hong Kong.
2. To submit recommendations/proposals to the Government or relevant authorities on matters pertaining to the welfare of Hong Kong.
3. To assist in the annual selection of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons.

TOYPA membership covers diverse industries and professions and includes a number of members serving on the Executive Council, Legislative Council, Urban Council, Regional Council, District Boards, Drafting Committee for the Basic Law of Hong Kong SAR, Consultative Committee for the Basic Law of Hong Kong SAR, and National People's Congress of the PRC.

Since its inception, TOYPA has organised and sponsored numerous projects for community service. All financial resources for service projects originated from funds raised. TOYPA's principle in service projects is the involvement of members' participation. In all projects organised, co-organised or sponsored by TOYPA, members take an active role in the organising work.
