THE JAYCEE CREED

We believe:
That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life;
That the brotherhood of man
transcends the sovereignty of nations;
That economic justice can best be won
by free man through free enterprise;
That government should be of laws
rather than of men;
That earth's great treasure
lies in human personality;
And that service to humanity;
is the best work of life.

MESSAGES FROM JUDGES

I am indeed very pleased to have been invited by the Jaycees to participate in this year's TOYP Selection. Over the years, many young people have been nominated and selected as outstanding persons in their own fields of endeavour, all of whom have continued to perform good service to Hong Kong and our community

This year, we have, once again, endeavoured to select the best from among many worthy candidates, and it is an exercise which I find most rewarding and informative, for every time I participate in the TOYP Selection, I become most impressed and better informed on what is being done through the dedication of our outstanding young people.

I convey to the awardees and indeed, to all others who have participated, my best wishes, and I compliment the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce for organizing this annual event so meaningfully and successfully.

Chairman, Broadcasting Authority

The Outstanding Young Persons Selection is an annual event organized by the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce. The Outstanding Young Persons Award not only gives proper recognition to the distinguished attainments of people aged 21 to 40, but also reinforces in them a commitment towards the betterment of our society. This very quality of fostering social responsibility for initiating positive changes and improvements is essential to the stability and prosperity of Hong Kong society, especially in these critical years preceding 1997.

As a judge in this year's Selection, I have been reassured to find that our society has a ready pool of promising young people who endeavour to work for a brighter tomorrow for this community. Having a firm belief that they are the pillars of our society and that they make a major contribution to its advancement, I trust the Award can continue to acknowledge their effort and further their aspirations for a better world.

Rosanna Tam, J.P.
Member of the Executive and Legislative Council

I write to express my heartfelt congratulation to the award-winners of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection of 1989. I congratulate them not only on their being successful candidates but more importantly on the contributions they have made and shown for Hong Kong culminating to these awards.

The only natural resources we have in Hong Kong are our people. It is these highly innovated, extremely persevering, and uncompromisingly hard working people that make Hong Kong what we are today. In these days of political uncertainty, confidence and identity crisis, we need our people more — people who are convicted and committed to the future of Hongkong, people who together can keep Hong Kong afloat.

The Outstanding Young Persons can do much in contributing to this direction. Not only should they continue and perfect their already acclaimed achievements, they should also act as leaders to stimulate the awareness and potentials of Hong Kong people — young and old alike.

Keep up with the good work! Hong Kong needs you!

Leong Che Hung
Member of the Legislative Council

To sit as a judge is a rewarding and yet humiliating experience. It is rewarding for it makes an opportunity, however brief, for an in-depth discussion with a great many very talented and highly motivated young people who have been nominated for the award. It is humiliating to see such achievement by so many and compare these achievements with one's own life at the same age.

The young people selected this year have come from a great variety of callings. They are all outstanding in their own fields but have in common made considerable contributions to the welfare of Hong Kong. It was this feature, this year, that the judges were asked to give greatest weight to and one that we all thought was a most important qualification that those selected should have.

It was a great pleasure to serve, under Sir Roger Lobo's Chairmanship, with my fellow judges and to be able to join in discussions with the organisers on the qualities that we should look for. I am glad to say that our deliberations ended in unanimous agreement.

If any sign was still necessary to demonstrate the certainty of continued success for Hong Kong it would be the promise held out for still greater things from these young people.

Denis Bray, C.M.G., C.V.O., J.P.
Executive Director, The Community Chest of Hong Kong

I feel most honoured and delighted once again to be on the panel of judges for this year's Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection.

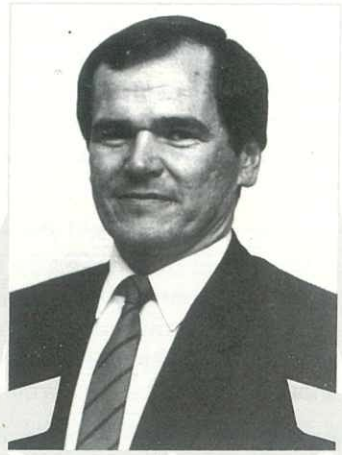

Over the years, the award given by the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection has become a symbol of achievement among the aspiring youth in our community. the signal honour attached to this distinguished award has certainly provided our young achievers more incentives to strive even harder.

Nowadays, in face of the mounting sense of uncertainty towards our city's future, the significance of the Selection has assumed a new dimension. It is indeed reassuring to see the Selection project publicly affirm and commend the achievements of our young genreation, not only in their professional endeavours but also in their commitments to the community. The Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce, which is the organizer of the Selection, must therefore be praised for its enthusiasm and efforts in promoting professional advancement as well as community spirit. I gladly pledge my full support to this meaningful project.

In concluding, I would like to offer my heartiest congratulations to the award winners this year and wish them further and bigger success in the years to come.

Director, Hong Kong Polytechnic

CHAN KA-KUI

After completing his studies at the Hong Kong Polytechnic, K.K. became a trainee quantity surveyor with a small firm prior to joining the Public Works Department. In 1978 he joined Hsin Chong Construction Co. Ltd., a major commercial enterprise currently employing over 600 monthly paid staff and 3,000 construction workers. Through sheer hard work, exceptional dedication and expertise, he has risen through the ranks to become the Managing Director of the Company within ten years. That he could have won the respect and trust of such a company in such a short time, while having no family connection with the owner, is unique and epitomizes Hong Kong as a land of equal opportunities.

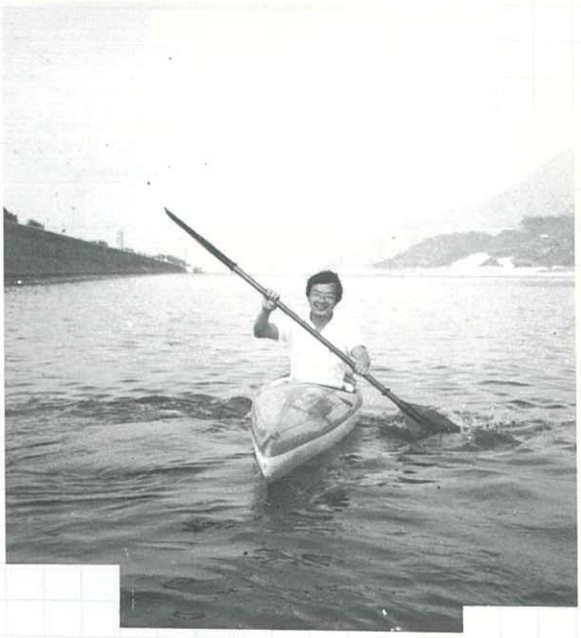

K.K. is actively involved in promotion of the survey profession, and highly regarded in the local construction industry for his professionalism. He is the current Chairman of the Royal Institute of Chartered Surveyors (Hong Kong Branch) and Vice President of both the Hong Kong Contractors Association and the Hong Kong Society of Builders. Much of his time is dedicated to the education and training of young surveyors and construction personnel. He was appointed by His Excellency The Governor to serve in the Vocational Training Council, the Building & Civil Engineering industry Training Board and the Construction Industry Training Authority where he serves also as Chairman of the Placement & Recruitment Committee. In addition, he is serving in the Advisory Committee on Building and Surveying of the Hong Kong Polytechnic, and is both an Advisory Committee member and an External Examiner for the Department of Building of the University of Hong Kong.

K.K.'s other main interest in life is sports. As a young man, he attained the Gold Standard of the Duck of Edinburgh's Award. He also attended the Outward Bound School (of which he is a member of its Trust Council) and the Olympic Academy in Greece. He is a founder member of the Hong Kong Canoe Union and since its establishment in 1973, he has been serving as its Hon. Secretary. As a result of his effort, the Asian Canoe Confederation was inaugurated in 1984 and Hong Kong was chosen to be the seat of its General Secretariate. His exceptional contribution to sports was recognised when he was appointed by The Governor to serve in the Council for Recreation and Sports. K.K. also serves in the Executive Management Committee of the Jubilee Sports Centre and is Chairman of the Scholarship Scheme Committee which is of great importance to the training and development of elite athletes.

Since 1988 he has been the Chairman of the Sir David Trench Fund committee.

CHENG KAI-NAM

Mr. Cheng is a hard-working and determined person who successfully completed a university education at a later age (having graduated with a Bachelor of Education degree at the University of East Anglia, U.K. in 1987 after having left school for almost 20 years) than most students. He is also a responsible husband and father, having helped his wife in her pursuit of a ballet teaching career and his only son in overcoming a hearing loss problem. Seeing education as his life-long career, he continues to further develop himself in his chosen profession by gaining admission to the Certificate of Education course of the University of Hong Kong last year.

As an earnest and dedicated teacher, he has been active in promoting the status of teachers in Hong Kong. He joined the Executive Committee of the Hong Kong Federation of Education Workers since 1977 and was elected its chairman for 1985 and 1987. During his terms of office, he developed the Federation to become one of the most influential organizations in the education sector through active participation in social service and education review. The membership of the Federation rose sharply through the recruitment campaigns launched by him and now reaches more then 4500 members.

He has actively participated in the promotion of civic education and democracy throughout the years. He has been a member of the official committee for civic education and has assisted in compiling a standard curriculum for civic education for Hong Kong students.

As a member of the Basic Law Consultative Committee, his efforts in promoting the awareness and discussion on the Basic Law to the community is well known. He has held numerous talks and seminars all over Hong Kong, as well as publishing a book this April containing answers to 50 questions from the public on Basic Law issue he encountered during his talks on the subject.

ALICE CHEUNG PUI-LAN

Alice began her career as a secondary school teacher before joining the Education Department as an Assistant Education Officer in 1984. Soon after her honeymoon at the age of 25, she was diagnosed to have cancer. Following Radiotherapy, she managed to complete her post-graduate course to obtain a Master of Arts degree in Translation in 1986. She is a member of the Hong Kong Translation Society and was duly acclaimed for her translation of Joseph Conrad's short stories collected in the book 'Typhoon'. Her medical condition is currently under control and she leads an active, normal life.

Alice first joined the Hong Kong Anti-Cancer Society in 1986 as a voluntary worker for the Hong Kong Cancer Hot-line. Making use of her personal experience, she has spent hours on end on the telephone every evening to help numerous fellow sufferers to get through their personal catastrophies, knowing very well that every call she received would remind her of her own ordeal. During the re-organization of the Hot-line in 1987, Alice emerged as the leader among the local members. She has since organized and expanded the independent Chinese-speaking Division and developed the Hong Kong service to a standard comparable to those in the western developed countries.

Alice has been the columnist for 'Cancer Topics', a weekly column of the Hong Kong Anti-Cancer Society in Wah Kiu Yat Po, since its inception 2 years ago. With the assistance of cancer experts of the Society, she has disseminated invaluable up-to-date knowledge to the public on all common cancers, dispelling misconceptions of this potentially lethal and yet often curable disease.

In the past 2 years Alice has played a major part in the script writing and production of cancer education pamphlets of the Society; and in recent months she has contributed her literary expertise to the preparation of the month-long roving cancer education exhibition in housing estates. In Hong Kong there are roughly 15,000 new cases of cancer per year, with an annual cancer death rate accounting for nearly one in three deaths in the territory. With her work directly benefiting the public in general and cancer patients in particular, her contribution to our community is certainly substantial.

RAGENCE LAM KWOK-FAI

Ragence studied in the United Kingdom at Harrow Polytechnic, and later obtained an M.A. from the Royal College of Arts. He gained no uncertain reputation in the fashion world by being named one of the best UK fashion designers by Cosmopolitan Magazine in 1976, and then the Times in 1977. By then, he was already feeling quite homesick from ten years' studying and working in England and Europe, so he came back to Hong Kong where he worked freelance for while before setting up his own company. He now manages a firm which designs, manufactures, markets and retails haute couture clothes under the 'Ragence Lam' label.

Ragence is a very well-known fashion designer in Hong Kong, as evidenced by his winning numerous awards, including the title of Hong Kong Fashion Designer of the Year in 1988. He has reached the top in a very competitive profession, more so locally than overseas. However, he has recently sold his first export collection to a major French buyer, a breakthrough that might well establish the 'Ragence Lam' label in overseas fashion centres.

Until recently, he was a guest columnist in the Ming Pao Weekly. He believes that fashion should not be just about clothes, but an entire way of life, reflecting a person's character, profession and lifestyle. Often described as avant-garde, Ragence likes to experiment with new fabrics and shapes. His forte is the deceptive simplicity of form achieved through complex cutting techniques.

Over the years, he has enhanced the reputation of Hong Kong's fashion design by appearing in a number of TV programmes produced overseas, and his assisting the Trade Development Council in organising various functions to promote Hong Kong fashion. His talents in this most competitive arena not only promoted the international image of Hong Kong's most important industries, but also made him a representative of the local fashion industry where he has served as the chairman of the Hong Kong Fashion Designers' Association for a number of years.

Brenda comes from a middle-class background. After graduating with a B.Sc. in Radio, Television and Film from the University of Kansas, she returned to Hong Kong in 1975 when she obtained employment with RTV as a Programme Assistant, rising to the position of Programme Director in 1977. She then switched to Commercial Radio to become a Disc Jockey and Producer.

Today, Brenda is a well known programme host both on TV and Radio, a popular character much loved for her warmth, sincerity and bubbly personality exuding an infectiously positive attitude to life. Never one to say 'no' to a good cause, most of her spare time is taken up by her involvement in charitable work and community service. Due to her concern for the less fortunate, she has given her time, effort and energy, unobtrusively helping diverse local charities, youth groups, student organisations, and international bodies such as UNICEF and World Vision. Whilst others in her field seek the limelight and monetary reward, Brenda sets out to help people from all walks of life, without seeking recognition or accolades, simply because she enjoys getting involved and making people happy in accordance with her sound, honest values based on Christian principles. Our community is the fortunate beneficiary of her delightfully overwhelming gift of happiness to all.

STEPHEN NG MING-YUM

Stephen and his well-to-do family fled to Hong Kong penniless from China in the sixties. Since his early school days, he almost always had to work in one way or another to pay for his own education, first as an illegal child labourer, then a factory worker. Despite the hardship inherent in a large, poor family, he continued, with determination and self-motivation, his education throughout his youth. His post-secondary education was financed through a combination of scholarships, grants, student loans and income from working as a private tutor and hawker. After graduating from the Chinese University of Hong Kong, he became a teacher.

Possessing a Master's degree in Education and a passion for teaching as an honourable life-long career, Stephen is not only a successful teacher, but also the author or co-author of a number of books on Hong Kong's affairs and education. As an experienced columnist, his regular contribution of articles on socio-political issues are published in various newspapers and magazines.

He has involved himself in community affairs since a teenager. When the political atmosphere of the mid-eighties became more liberal, he began campaigning for the District Board election in 1985. Currently being a member of both the Regional Council and the Tuen Mun District Board, he is active and dedicated in serving those he represents, while continuing his goal to promote civic education and democracy in Hong Kong. He has expressed a strong commitment to Hong Kong and believes that a stable and prosperous Hong Kong can contribute to the P.R.C.'s reform and progress.

Coming from a poor family, Wai-pong had to work as a hawker during his childhood. Hoping for a better future, he became an apprentice in a jewellery company by the age of thirteen. When he was 21, the global oil crisis had dealt a severe blow to the industry; and seeing a dwindling craftsman, he turned to driving a taxi to maintain a stable income. Discovering a passion for driving, Wai-pong has since remained as a taxi-driver to this day.

His dedication to his work was recognised by being selected in 1983 (with two-thirds out of the total number of nominations of 1,051 and being the youngest awardee) as one of five taxi-drivers to win the Golden Flag Award, based on professionalism, road safety, courtesy, service spirit and knowledge of taxi maintenance.

Seeing the hardship faced by the under-privileged, Wai-pong was determined to help them with the limited resources and meagre means available to him. Armed with but a fervent heart to serve and a genuine compassion for especially the handicapped, he began by joining various social work agencies in the early seventies, to finally become a persevering champion of the disabled and handicapped. His continuous efforts were rewarded with a Certificate of Appreciation from the President of the Agency for Volunteer Service Sir Jack Cater for his outstanding contribution to the community in 1985/1986.

Wai-pong has joined a number of taxi owners' and drivers' associations to represent the concerns of drivers. For the past few years he has been vigorously campaigning for the welfare of the under-privileged; of note is his involvement in establishing and ensuring the continued provision of free taxi rides for the handicapped and his strive for permission of taking disabled passengers in non-stop areas.

INTRODUCING TOYPA

Objectives

The Outstanding Young Persons' Association, TOYPA in short, was formed in 1977. The Association is made up of awardees of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection. Membership of TOYPA exceeds one hundred persons.

The Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection, introduced to Hong Kong in 1970, is an annual major project of the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce. Each year the award is open to nominations by the public. After the process of carefully vetting candidates' data by an appointed auditor firm, the candidates are presented to a Judging Panel consisting of recognised leaders in government, business, industries, various professions and education. Merits are given to the candidates' achievements in their respective fields as well as their contributions of personal time and efforts in service for the community.

The Outstanding Young Persons Award not only gives proper recognition to the achievements of the recipients, but also carries with it certain responsibilities. All of those selected as Outstanding Young Persons are expected to make further contributions to the community of Hong Kong and to serve as inspirational examples to other young people. It was with this spirit that recipients of the Award work as a united group to serve the community. The aims of TOYPA are: —

1. To sponsor and organise projects for the well-being of people in Hong Kong.
2. To submit recommendations/proposals to the Government or relevant authorities on matters pertaining to the welfare of Hong Kong.
3. To assist in the annual seletion of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons.

TOYPA membership covers diverse industries and professions and includes a number of members serving on the Executive Council, Legislative Council, Urban Council, Regional Council, District Boards, Drafting Committee for the Basic Law of Hong Kong SAR, Consultative Committee for the Basic Law of Hong Kong SAR, and National People's Congress of the PRC.

Since inception, TOYPA has organised and sponsored numerous projects for community service, spending over $1 million. All financial resources for service projects originated from funds raised. TOYPA's principle in service projects is the involvement of members' participation. In all projects organised, co-organised or sponsored by TOYPA, members take an active role in the organising work.

We apologize to those whom we have inadvertently omitted.

It's just as well you're used to making important decisions.

Hutchison Telephone now gives you not one, but two of the most advanced portable telephones in Hong Kong. And we're asking you to choose which one is best for your business. Not an easy task. Because both represent state of the art technology and reliability.

The first one is probably well known to you. It's the Citicomm 8900XL. And it's considered to be the most advanced portable in Hong Kong.

The other is the Citicomm 9900. It's Citicomm's newest model. And in many ways, particularly in terms of its advanced features, it's identical to the 8900XL. However, it weighs a mere 10 ounces and occupies only 13 cubic inches.

Both phones have been created by our U.S. partner, Motorola, the acknowledged world leader in telecommunications. So you're assured that both will put you in touch with the world.

And both the Citicomm 8900XL and 9900 are perfectly matched with the Hutchison Telephone system. Which gives you louder and clearer conversations than any other system in Hong Kong.

Importantly, because both phones are exclusive to Hutchison Telephone, you not only get the most technologically advanced phones in the world. You also receive the most reliable after-sales service and Hong Kong's longest warranty of 5 years.

We admit we've given you a difficult choice to make. But there's one decision we know you won't hesitate over. And that's deciding on who to talk to on the best way to improve your portable telephone communications.

If you'd like more information about Citicomm portables, please call us on 5-8079077
