David T E Lim
Minister of State for Defence and Information and the Arts
Chairman National Youth Council

You meet for your annual convention at a time when there is anxiety over the future of the global economy, and global security.

Peace and stability, and economic growth are mutually reinforcing ideas. Economic progress is hampered when there are conflicts and wars. Likewise, people will want to live in peace and harmony when they believe that this will give them better lives.

It is important for young leaders to understand how interdependent our world has become. Events and developments in one country or region impact people who live in other countries and other parts of the world. We are not untouched by tragedies that happen far away. Nor can we be mere bystanders in a world when troubles happen elsewhere.

Our friends and relatives who live in the other countries connect us to the world. We are joined by the same air we breathe, and water we drink. We compete for jobs, and collaborate for growth.

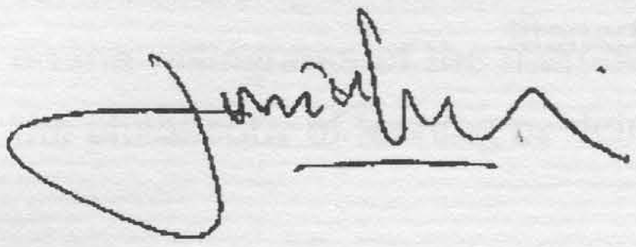

Today, a globalised economy is not just possible but inevitable, because of the way market forces drive competition and allocate resources. Money and people move to where they are able to exact the highest returns.

But a globalised world also brings unexpected challenges to the complex relationships between countries, communities and individuals. If challenges our sense of identity and purpose in life. Global diversity can make our world more colourful and exciting. It can also polarize us, and separate us into enclaves of opposing ideas and commitments.

Young leaders must meet these challenges with courage and fortitude. Your theme this year, “Nurturing Young Leaders in a Globalized Economy” is timely and apt.

The future is what we make of it. You will need daring to break new ground, and to venture into new businesses and markets. At the same time, you will need empathy and concern for communities you do business in, to sustain the social peace that is so important for growth.

I hope that this National Covvention will a time of learning, insight and resolve for you. I wish you well in your endeavours, and hope that you will contribute in your own ways to the continuing progress of Singapore.

Georges A Bouverat
World President - Junior Chamber International 2001

As Junior Chamber International President for the year 2001, I am delighted to greet President Tan and the members of Junior Chamber of Singapore on the occasion of the NOM's 29th National Convention to he held at the Grassroots Club at Yio Chu Kang Road on October 6 and 7, 2001.

Junior Chamber has been expanding its area of influence, successfully carrying out countless programs, projects and ideas. We are in more countries and cities than anyone ever imagined at our founding. But although we have increased the number of our organizations, we have not built up our membership. Now we must concentrate our efforts and leadership on this one area.

In an increasing competitive globe, innovation is not only valuable, but also indispensable. The principles that have governed both business and society for more than 200 years are becoming obsolete. Organizations must radically transform themselves to survive and become more competitive. We should continually scan the environment and develop new structures, processes and working relationships.

"Nurturing Young Leaders in the Globalized Economy" could not be more timely. As you all know, JCI now has the same corporate logo and the same corporate pin all over the world. I truly hope that, by now, every one of you has received his or her new JCI pin from your national leaders. JCI has adopted its new slogan "Entrepreneurs in action" for the next five years. All upcoming JCI meetings will have "Entrepreneurs in action" as their theme. The objective is to strengthen JCI's image around the world and to show that we are really one organization for one world and with one agenda.

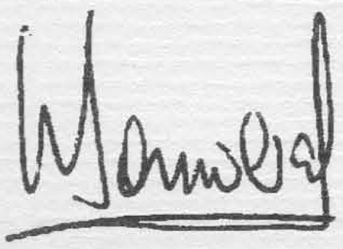

However, this is not enough. What if every national and local organization in the world adopted this slogan as their slogan for the upcoming years? I am convinced that you will help, at all levels, focusing and profiling Junior Chamber International as an organization that truly reflects the spirit of its members, "Entrepreneurs in Action."

Moreover, if we accomplish this objective, we will be fulfilling the dream of our founder, Henry Giessenbier, because we will focus on JCI's agenda, working together toward a common objective. Being members and leaders of our great organization means serving JCI's interests first, so we may all achieve success. And the interests of JCI are set forth in the vision of our founder, the Mission of JCI, the JCI Creed, the JCI logo, the JCI slogan, and the four Areas of Opportunities of JCI.

Let's truly adopt JCI's agenda and let's continue to be creative young men and women. Not creative in drafting different agendas, but creative in the ways we implement JCI's agenda, from which we will all benefit.

Best wishes of success !

Entrepreneurs in Action.

GEORGES A BOUVERAT
WORLD PRESIDENT 2001

JUNIOR CHAMBER INTERNATIONAL

Junior Chamber International (JCI) was founded in Mexico City on December 11, 1944 when representatives from eight nations met to create an organisation that would address global concerns. From these eight nations, Junior Chamber has grown to include more than 123 nations and spans across every continent.

With over 9,000 chapters in 123 nations and territories, JCI is a world-wide federation of young professionals and entrepreneurs between the ages of 18 and 40. For more than 50 years, JCI has focused on the "contribution to the advancement of the global community by providing the opportunity for young people to develop the leadership skills, social responsibility, fellowship and entrepreneurship necessary to create positive change."

JCI's programmes stem from four Ares of Opportunty through which members can acquire or refine leadership skills and benefit society. The Areas are :

Business : JCI provides its members with the necessary contacts, leadrship and personal business growth through numerous forums and programmes to develop themselves as young entrepreneurs andbusiness executives. JCI strongly suppport business development in all lands as a means to eliminate poverty and human suffering.

Individual : Activities within Junior Chamber are geared toward increasing individual members' personal development and helping them to reach their full potential. Junior Chamber provides members numerous opportunities to develop skills as officers and project leaders of local and national organizations and of communities. To provide members with the best personal and development training. JCI offers many programmes as wll as certification from its International Training Institute. By helping individual members acquire expereince as decision-makers, JCI contributes to the development of tomorrow's community and business leaders.

Community : Tens of thousands of JCI projects are conducted each year in more than 9,000 communities, all of which have a positive societal impact. Junior Chamber members have united to conduct community programme under the JCI Major Emphasis Theme (MET). Starting in 1997, and through 2001, the JCI MET is "JCI : Bridge to the New Millennium", with focus on the sub-topics "Youth and Children", Peace and Sustainable Development".

International : In an increasingly interdependent world, members realize the needw for international collaboration, tolerance and peace. JCI offers members numerous opportinities to understand and be involved in global issues. Through international conferences, academics. programmes, twinning (siste-chapter relationships), and business exchange, Junior Chamber enables members to promote goodwill and attain a deeper understanding of the global challenges of tomorrow.

JCI membership offers a challenges that make life more meaningful, worthwhile and personally rewarding. A lot depends on the willingness of the member to identifty and pursue these opportunities. This is one organization that supports the philosophy of leaning by doing.

The idea is not to look for what the organization can do for you, but to see what you can do for yourself through the organisation.

Wen Teik Lew
JCI Executive Vice President Area B - Junior Chamber International 2001

My heartiest congratulations to each and every member of Junior Chamber of Singapore, in time for its 29th Annual National Convention to be held at Grossroots Club, Yio Chu Kang Road from October 6th to 7th 2001. I do believe that this biggest event will mark an auspicious moment as we continue to build a stronger and better organization.

We recently concluded the JCI Daegu ASPAC Conference with a huge succes. Once again I offer my sincere thanks for assisting me with my duties as Conference Chairman and more particularly for actively participating in the event.

In retrospect, almost one full year has passed and we, the NOMs in Area B are about to celebrate what we have achieved to date at our respective national conventions. We have studied the past and learned from our trials and errors. Now is the time to fully engage in the discovery of new way to build the Junior Chamber on a more solid basis, changing our old paradigm and bringing new ideas.

I want to take charge of this misison. This year will be gone sooner than you think, but what you do for the organization will remain. We are at the threshold of the New Millennium, that calls for our voice and action to prevail. Junior Chamber is the organization where every achievement is possible. Through Junior Chamber, our members become future leaders.

Again, now is the time for these hundreds of thousands of young leaders to come forward, to actively pursue the virtue of the organization and to bring the fresh and new spirits into the organization.

Wishing you a most prosperous event as Entrepreneurs in Action!

Fowzil Nawaz
Vice President - Junior Chamber International 2001

It is with pleasure that I send this message to all my friends in Singapore on the occasion of the National Convention, which will he held on 6th & 7th Octobr 2001.

It was indeed a privilege for me to have been assigned to Singapore as the JCI Vice President and I was really impressed with the function of Junior Chamber Singapore.

I wish to congratulate President Desmond Tan for the outstanding work that he has done this year in leading the Junior chamber Singapore and for outstanding projects done during the year.

Junior Chamber is all about learning and doing things that not only benefit the members but the community too. Also the Junior Chamber gives the opportunity for young people to develop their inner skills, the ability to lead and direct other to reach their goals and visions, to share the message of brotherhood and unity, to value the friendship that we gain in this organization and finally to be an example to others and to be a true leader. It is with pride that we say "ACHIEVEMENT IS NOT AN ACCIDENT IN JAYCEES. IT IS PART OF THE REASON FOR BELONGING".

I would like to reiterate the words of our founder Henry Giessenbier (quote) " From within the walls of the soul of this organization wherein the foundation of character and citizenship are laid, I hope a message will come forth in the sometime of tomorrow that will stir the people towards the establishment of a permanent and everlasting world peace "(unquote). This message which was uttered then is still applicable today and we have a long way to go to realize this dream of our founder.

While my sincere congratulation are extended to the active and resourceful team that made this year a success, I wish the incoming President and his team every success in their future endeavors and for the year 2002.

Patron, Junior Chamber of Singapore

As patron of Junior Chamber of Singapore, it gives me great pleasure to extend my wrm welcome to all delegates attending the 29th JCS National Convention 2001.

As Singapore realigns its economic policy to adapt to the fast changing world economic climate and China's entry into the WTO, I am glad to see that Junior Chamber of Singapore also focuses on the unique challenges faced by our young leaders today. This year's National Convention theme, "Nurturing Young Leaders in the Globalized Economy" is especially relevant as it is in-line with Singapore's vision to become a global city and a Knowledge-Based Economy. It also echoes one of the major emphasis themes of the Junior Chamber International (JCI) - "Entrepreneurs in Action".

I urge all participants to take up this wonderful opportunity to challenge our current mindsets and to nurture the leadership within us. The future leaders of our nation are amongst our ranks. Junior Chamber of Singapore shall provide you with the opportunities to develop yourself but the challenge starts with you !

My compliment to Marina Junior chamber for taking up the challenge of organising this 29th JCS National Convention.

JCI Sen (Dr) Derek Goh
Patron, Junior Chamber of Singapore

I take great pleasure to note that the 29th National Convention of Junior Chamber of Singapore will be held on 6th and 7th October with the theme "Nurturing Young Leaders in the Globalized Economy".

I wish to take this opportunity to congratulate Marina Junior Chamber for taking up the challenge to host the Convention and Mr David Lim, Minister of State for Defence and Information and the Arts and Chairman, National Youth Council for gracing the Opening Ceremony.

Junior Chamber International as a Youth Leadership Development Organisation with a worldwide membership of 400,000 members is in a strategic position to provide the future leadership in this age of Globalization and Knowledge Based Economy.

The Theme Day Seminar underscores three of the four areas of opportunities offered by Junior Chamber, namely Individual, International Affairs and Business. The two workshop sessions, "Young Leaders in Change Leadership" and "Franchising in 21st Century" are timely issues for deliberation by the delegates at the National Convention.

I am proud to be associated with the Junior Chamber Moverment in Singapore as its Past National President and Local Chapter President. I have benefited very much from the leadership training and the experiences gained in my Jaycee career. On this note, I would urge fellow Jaycees to share this conviction - "Add Value to Jaycee and Jaycee will Add Value to you".

May I wish one and all a successful 29th National Convention this year.

JC Desmond Tan
National President - Junior Chamber of Singapore 2001

One behalf of Junior Chamber of Singapore, may I extend a warm welcome to our distinguished guests, fellow and overseas delegates, Past National presidents, senators and friends who will be attending the 29th National Convention of our organisation.

As a small nation with limited resources, globalisation has presented us both the opportunities and challenges ahead. The Free Trade Agreements (FTA) concluded with our major trading partners is one of the key initiatives taken by our government to lay the grounds for our business expansion overseas. As young leaders in this organisation, it is therefore critical for us to acquire new knowledge and upgrade our skills so as to take on the challenges and excel in our respective professional and business fields. I would like to comment that the convention theme "Nurturing Young Leaders in the Globalized Economy" is a well-chosen one.

As we look back, I am pleased to witnessed a number of innovative projects initiated by our young leaders which include - "Renci Charity Car Wash" Project by City Junior Chamber and "Opera Gala Charity Night" by Orchid Jayceettes. Projects with international dimension include "Friendship Pack with KL Mandarin Junior Chamber on the Sister Island" and the Youth Exchange Visit by Miyazaki Junior Chamber which were initiated by Mandarin and Marina Junior Chambers respectively. Two of our members were also nominated by the National Youth Council to participate in the recent International Micro Finance Conference held at Maldives. The opportunities provided by these activities are in support of our mission - "To contribute to the advancement of the global community by providing the opportunity for young people to develop the leadership skill, social responsibility, fellowship, and entrepreneurship necessary to create positive change".

National Convention is the time for our members to get together to reflect and review our plan and achievements. The experiences gained and lessons learnt would enable us to refine our goals and steer our future direction. Besides the seminars and fellowship programmes, the Convention is also an important occasion on leadership succession as a new group of leaders would be elected to lead the national organisation. I wish them all the best in their endeavour and will continue to offer my service to this organisation.

We are honoured and grateful to have the consent of Mr. David T E Lim, Minister of State for Defence and Information and the Arts and Chairman of National Youth Council to be our Guest-of-Honour to grace the Opening ceremony of the Convention. I would also wish to express our sincere appreciation to the National Youth Council, Patrons, and advisers for their support and guidance. Last but not least, my heartfelt congratulation goes to the hosting LOM, Marina Junior Chamber, JC Jerry Tseng, Convention Director and his hardworking committee for bringing us an eventful convention.

Yours in Jayceeism,

JC DESMOND TAN
NATIONAL PRESIDENT 2001
Junior Chamber of Singapore

THE FORMATION AND DEVELOPMENT OF JUNIOR CHAMBER OF SINGAPORE

The Beginning

Singapore first heard of the Junior Chamber movement at a Rotary Luncheon at Adelphi Hotel in October 1949. The then JCI Vice-President for Asia, Gregario M Feliciano, was describing in moving terms a civic organisation which was capturing the minds and hearts of young men around the world. The meeting heard that the Junior Chamber had been setablished in Manila, Philippines on December 20, 1947 with an initial membership of 18 members. On September 3, 1949, a second Asian Chapter was established, this time, in Japan.

Covering the luncheon was a reporter from "Malaya Tribune", Ted Goh Tuck Chiang, who with other non-rotarians further queried Feliciano on the aims and objectives of Junior Chamber. Feliciano told them that Junior Chamber could inculcate civic consciousness among its members through active participation in constructive projects designed to improve the community, the nation and the world. Ted and the others were so inspired by Feliciano that they held a discussion on thier own at Washington Cafe' Bras Basah junction of North Bridge Road. These inspired young men then went round, recruiting like-minded young people. They went more for executives (managing directors etc) rather than "junior" executives because they needed not only organisational ability but also members who could subsidize the projects that they would be implementing. Their hard work culminated in the forming of the Singapore Junior Chambr of Commerce on December 8, 1949. The 30 or so young men gathered together to elect Ted Goh as the first President of the Singapore Junior Chamber of Commerce.

To learn more about the Jaycee movement, the Chamber sent representatives to the Regional Conference of Asian Jaycees in Hong Kong in 1951.

Ted Goh's initial efforts at getting the Chamber going came to a standstill with his departure to the States for further studies in late 1951. Founder members who face personal difficulties stopped coming to the Chamber. Only one sole delegate attended the VI World Congress in Montreal.

Formal Affiliation

In August 1952, with the returnof J. S. Lee from the VII World Congress, the Chamber comprising of 8 members, revived its activities. The President then was Frank Wakerman who was also President in 1953 when three members attended the 3rd Asian Regional Conference in Manila. Later in the same year, a sole representative attended the VIII World Congress at San Francisco. This congress is significant of the formal affiliation of Junior Chamber of Singapore.

Extention Programmes

Membership and extension programmes were aggressively introduced inthe 1970's, thus moving slowly towards a multi-lom organisation. The Singapore Jayceettes (ladies chapter) founded in 1971 was affiliated to the Junior Chamber of Singapore in 1972.

In 1973 on the advice of Mr Royce Pepin, the JCI Wporld President during his visit to Singapore, the name Singapore Jayceettes was changed to "Orchid Jaycees"" pending the approval of the Registrar of Socitieses. The change in name was to avoid confusion as the word 'Jayceettes' refers to wives of Jaycees. The Singapore Jayceettes was an independent organisation insofar as the Constitution & By-laws were concerned. This gave rise to problems of presentation to JCI. The solution was then for the representatives of the Junior Chambr and Orchid to draw up the National (NOM) Constitution.

A pro-tem NOM committee was formed in 1973 which also recommended the creation of two new chapters (LOMs) - Serangoon and Jurong. With the formation of these two new LOMs, a fresh submission of the constitution of the four LOMS were made to the Registrar for approval in late 1973.

On 2 April 1975, the Registrar of Societies formally gave us a reply which included also a guideline on the desired constitutional structure. Jurong and Serangoon merged to become a new chapter - Merlion Chapter, Singapore Jayceettes was officially dissolved becoming the Orchid Chapter. The founding chapter became known as City Chapter.

Extension programmes proceeded well in the 1980s. Currently, there are 4 LOMs under the umbrella of Junior Chamber of Singapore.

JC Koon Kay Sheng
President - Marina Junior Chamber 2001

First and foremost, I would like to thank my dedicated Convention Organising Committee sincerely from my heart for organising the 29th National Convention of Junior Chamber of Singapore.

The Convention's theme "NURTURING YOUNG LEADERS IN THE GLOBALIZED ECONOMY" spells the importance and the need for young Singaporeans to be equipped with requisite business knowledge and core skills to meet the challenges in a convergence market. With adequate exposure and preparations, they would be able to champion changes, help develop creative leadership in their respective fields and reap the benefits in the globalized economy. This convention therefore provides our young leaders including the youths an opportunity to explore collectively three interesting subjects which will be presented by our distinguished speakers.

I wish to extend my sincerest appreciaton to the National President and National Board of Directors, our advisors and patrons, our sponsors and the speakers for the guidance and generous support. And last but least, the local and foreign delegates for your active participaent in this Convention.

JC Jerry Tseng
29th National Convention Director 2001

Junior Chamber offers great opportunities to Jaycee members to develop their potential and learn from each other as both the organisers as well as the participants in the various projects that we have organised. Organising and participating such events nurtured us to become a better leader, and a better person - precisely an example of our theme -"Nurturing Young Leaders in the Globalized Economy".

Despite the economic downturn, Jaycees have displayed great spirit and continued to be involved in community projects benefiting the under privileges and participated actively in local and international leadrship and entrepreneur related projects and seminars. You all have done a marvelous job! During the two days convention, we have, besides the serious discussion, also planned a series of seminars for the members and aspiring youths. On this note, I wish to express our sincere appreciation to Mr David T E Lim, our Guest-of-Honour for gracing the Opening Ceremony, JCI World President Georges A Bouverat and JCI Officers for their well wishes, our patrons, sponsors and trainers for their support, our National President, NOM board and advisors for the guidance, the organising committee for the hardwork and finally you all, the delegates for making this Convention a memorable and fruitful one.

That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life; That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations; That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise; That government should be of laws rather than of men; That earth's great treasure lies in human personality; And that service to humanity is the best work of life.
