MESSAGE FROM

NATIONAL PRESIDENT

Hong Kong is a blessing land, despite we face a lot of internal conflicts, but still, we pardon from extreme weather, poverty, and war. We have 12 years of free education, and with almost one-third of the population having attended post-secondary education. Compared to many of the third world countries; we are empowered to have a better quality of life.

However, many tragedies happened in Hong Kong recently, due to the study pressure. It forced students to give up their lives at a young age. No one can avoid this heartbreaking news, and youth mental health has come to a point we need to put to an end. This year various chapters have created projects to help youngsters in the different age group to release pressure to prevent overwhelming demand. JCI members provided a useful tool Active Citizen Framework, which enables us to find the root cause of social issues, and provide solutions. I genuinely believe that we will be able to build a better future and a better society.

Education is a crucial factor to develop youth. By providing correct information, we can make a difference in their life and create a long term impact on society. This year JCI Hong Kong initiated Be the Change Week, lining up with the government, commercial partners, and NGOs to engage students to help them develop an excellent environmental friendly habit. As a result, we engaged over 2000 students from 13 different schools in Hong Kong.

Dear members of JCI Hong Kong, our objective is to provide development opportunities to empower young people to create positive change. Although there is a lot of social issues, conflicts, and problems ahead of us, I believe developing youth to be a leader can help to change the world. Let's join hand together and create a better future!

Interview with

MR. JOHN TSANG CHUN-WAH, GBM, JP, THE FORMER FINANCIAL SECRETARY OF HKSAR GOVERNMENT

Does it ring a bell when you see these three words: 'Unity, Trust and Hope'? These three words were printed on the backdrop of the 2017 Chief Executive election campaign by the Honorable Mr. John Tsang Chun-wah, GBM, JP, the former Financial Secretary of HKSAR Government. Tsang is also known as「薯片叔叔」"Uncle Potato Chips".

After the dust has settled in the 2017 election campaign, Tsang was keen to transform his vision into reality and launched「Esperanza 薯片叔叔共創社」in September 2018. The Spanish word "Esperanza" means "Hope". He shared with a confident smile that everyone, particularly the younger generation, wants to have "Hope".

There are many non-profits, social enterprises and startups seeking to address social problems in Hong Kong. They provide a variety of services in education, elderly care and social welfare, to name but a few. With a greater extent of collaboration, these agencies should be able to generate an exponential effect on the community.

Tsang wants to make bigger use of Cross-Sector Collaboration (CSC) and hopes to leverage Esperanza as the platform that lines up different groups to form a network and provide services in a more effective way.

Esperanza has launched Reimagine Education, its first initiative under the Reimagine It series. Tsang has highlighted the importance of reimagining education in the 21st century and identifying the skills that we should possess amidst a rapidly changing world. Esperanza is defining and re-defining what 21st century learning should mean with different stakeholders, and gathering their views to provide a blueprint to guide future actions.

According to a Harvard Business School research, half of the current jobs will disappear in the next couple of decades whilst new jobs will kick in. Similarly, a research by the Institute - for the Future (IFTF) revealed that 85% of the new jobs in 2030 are not known yet. We may not know the exact skills required in the future but undoubtedly changes are coming. Tsang said that some large enterprises in the western world are not simply accepting academic degrees as sufficient to represent the acquisition of the required skills in the 21st century. They are looking for the requisite abilities in soft skills such as communication and collaboration.

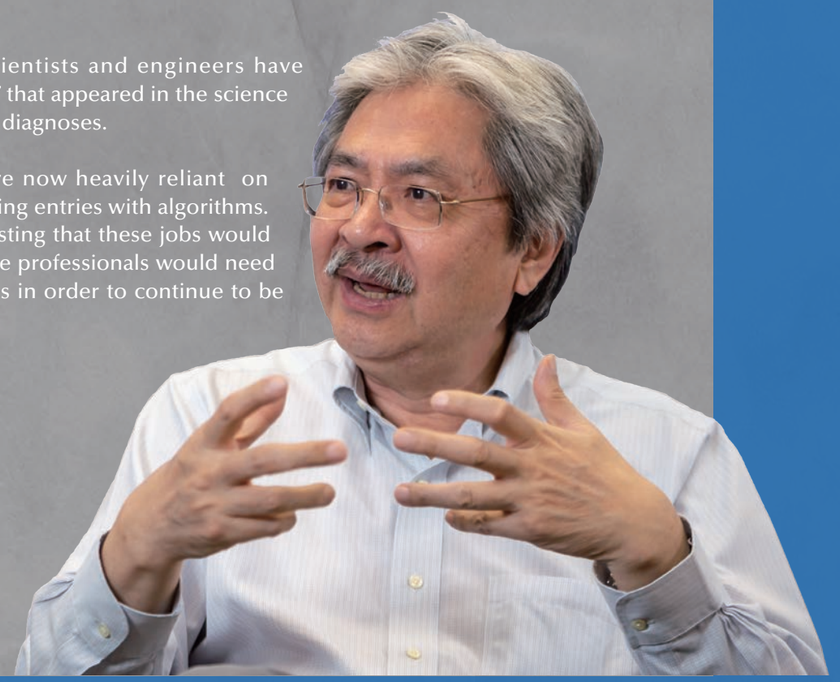

The problem with existing school systems lies in the application of curricula inherited from the industrial age in the 19th century with the main objective of driving productivity of the workforce without considering individual capabilities or interests. It is, therefore, not difficult to see how difficult it would be using 20th century trained teachers to apply a 19th century curriculum to prepare our young generations for the 21st century. This is problematic indeed.

Tsang then shared a few interesting examples of how technology is beginning to displace occupations that are hugely preferred by Hong Kong parents. He was referring to the three Cs, lawyers, doctors and accountants.

In a 2018 study, IBM Watson , an artificial intelligence software was used to compete against 20 experienced lawyers in reviewing five legal documents. The result demonstrated that IBM Watson outperformed humans in terms of speed and accuracy. It took the software just 26 seconds to achieve 94% accuracy versus a human spending 94 minutes and achieving only 85% accuracy. There was another test with over 100 lawyers in which the AI software won with an accuracy rate of 86% versus humans performing at 62% on average.

In the medical services area, scientists and engineers have invented devices like the 'tricorder' that appeared in the science fiction 'Star Trek' series for medical diagnoses.

As to the accounting field, we are now heavily reliant on computers to automate book keeping entries with algorithms. He stressed that he was not suggesting that these jobs would disappear soon, but definitely these professionals would need to learn to work with these devices in order to continue to be functional in these field.

The power of AI will continue to grow. We have yet to discover how AI could possibly change our lives in a significant way. Human workers in traditional jobs are gradually replaced by AI. We need to learn to live and collaborate with AI, and use it for the good of our civilisation and to enjoy the convenience that AI would bring.

“ Just like mass production machineries invented in the industrial revolution in the 19th century, AI is releasing us from labour intensive jobs and giving us the second chance to focus on our personal interests. ”

– John Tsang

Tsang commented that naturally, it would be easier for governments to install policies to change the current education systems from the top down. However, government bureaucracies are like huge aircraft carriers that are difficult to turn around.Tsang has made use of the Esperanza platform to bring together different stakeholders in education to brainstorm ideas that would help re-define 21st century education with a bottom up approach.

He has even suggested that we should spread out the education resources that are allocated primarily in the early part of our lives to different stages of our lives. For instance, we can save some of our education resources from the initial period to perhaps when we reach 30-40's and 60-70's.

“ Continuous learning, diversification of job assignments and shortened working hours are new trends in the 21st century amongst the young generation. Employers are required to understand the new trends so as to meet the expectations of future young candidates. ”

– John Tsang

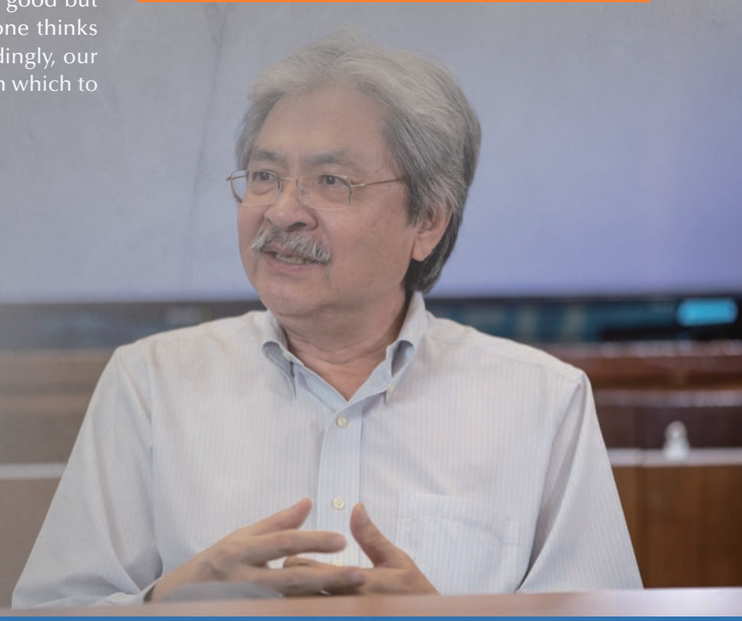

Tsang also shared his point of view on leadership. One definite quality of every leader is 'charisma' that attracts people to follow his lead. At the same time, a leader must be humble enough to listen to and accept different opinions. Leaders should allow healthy debates and embrace differences. It is not necessary for everyone to share the same values but it is important to align the citizens in the same direction in achieving the same objective. Tsang also believes that combining the uniqueness of different people in a team will definitely make it stronger than the efforts of any individual. A leader, while holding onto his vision and objective, must be open-minded enough to accept ideas from his colleagues in achieving the ultimate goals. It is always important to reach a consensus on important decisions, but the emphasis must be placed on the process of getting there. last but not the least, a leader should always be optimistic.

“ I could be smarter than a particular person but it is unlikely for me to outperform the combined intelligence of a group. ”

– John Tsang

Finally, he encourages all JCI Hong Kong members to stay curious. We are all achievers but occasionally, we would encounter challenges and would feel frustrated. This is normal but we must not abandon our initial passion. We must continue to fight for our beliefs. We need to keep learning new things in order to remain relevant. We are all members of the society; the contribution we make is not just for our own good but also for our future generations. When everyone thinks in a positive manner and takes actions accordingly, our society will definitely become a better place in which to live.

Interview with

MS KELLY HUANG, 2019 JCI VICE PRESIDENT

Ms Kelly Huang, JCI Vice President, owns a trading company of traffic safety products and has been an active citizen since she joined JCI Taiwan in 2008.

Kelly has international experience when she joined JCI Taiwan International Affairs Team and has attended seven JCI Area Conferences and four JCI World Congresses.

Kelly's cheerful and energetic characters always make people feel warm. JCI Hong Kong National Publication Team was pleased to have an interview with her and got to know more about this charming female leader.

Q: Who has impressed you the most since you grow up and why?

A: The most important person to me is my mother. She very often supports and encourages me. She always tells me that "you don't need to be the best. The most important thing is, she has tried your best!" She doesn't push me and always give me the chance to try. She fully supports me during my JC life; no matter what steps I take. For example, I decided to accept the challenge to take the position of JCI Vice President this year. She gives me full support and makes me feel warm. It is so touched that there is always someone stands besides me.

Q: As leaders, we are encouraged to absorb new ideas from time to time. Reading is a typical example. Do you have any book that recommends our members to read?

A: I don't recall the exact name of my favourite book but I am interested in reading business management and leadership magazines. Frankly, I do not have too much time to focus on reading books for, say, one month. However, I do enjoy reading magazines before I go to sleep. I usually spend 15 minutes or half an hour in reading; this quick reading session gives me inspirations for leadership, business operations, and even my JC life!

Q: Who do you want to say thankful?

A: There are two people who I want to say thank you: Director of 2016 JCI ASPAC - Bill Teng and 2018 National President of JCI Taiwan - Ping Kun Li. They encouraged me to take the challenge during my JCI journey and always believed in me by telling me that "you can do it"! Under their guidance, I learnt a lot and improved myself as a leader, especially the attitude I need to have when facing difficulties. So I have to thank you to both of them for their encouragement and help me growing.

Q: What leadership style do you use? Can you use a few words to describe yourself?

A: My leadership style is leading by example. I will show my team how to do it; or even perform the tasks together. Since JCI is a volunteer organization, teammates may not be as passionate as I am. They may challenge me by saying, "why should I listen to you?" That is why I always lead the team by setting an example.

Q: You have attended 7 JCI area conferences & 4 JCI World Congresses. Which one impacted you the most? Any special experience you have in those conferences?

A: Definitely the 2016 JCI ASPAC Kaohsiung hosted by JCI BoAi , where I was one of the COC members. I was the special assistant to the Conference Director. During the preparation stage, we have gone through lots of meetings with overseas JCI members. I found that there are so many different cultures at JCI. Managing teamwork and cultural differences at the same time make me learned a lot; even though we unavoidably may have arguments. From my past experience, adopting the same ideas for a group is not always easy.

Q: Do you think your decision of joining JCI has helped your business to grow?

A: Yes, joining JCI is quite helpful for my business. It is a good way to learn how to do business with people around the world. At my company, I am the owner; therefore everyone has to listen to me. They cannot argue with me. But at JCI, I have different roles; sometimes I need to cooperate with many people and work with different chapters. As a result, I have learned how to listen. So it is quite different compared to doing business.

Q: Any remarks for members of JCI Hong Kong?

A: Never forget why you have started (" 不 忘 初 心 "). If you join JCI because of happiness, please keep the happiness. Please continue to make friends and learn new things at JCI. Don't forget why you join JCI initially. After a few years, you may feel tired and bored, but please keep going and don't forget the happiness JCI has brought you.

Leadership Development

TRAINER MENTORSHIP PROGRAM

Trainer Mentorship Program (TMP), organized National Training and Development Commission (NTDC), has begun for over two months already. 14 groups of mentor and mentees have been meeting up frequently and working really hard to prepare their unique training, which will be conducted in TMP Summit on June 9. As the organizer, NTDC has arranged four sessions to provide support to our mentees in every aspect.

First of all, since this year the training topics selected by the mentees have to be related to Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), we have invited 2015 JCI Hong Kong Jayceettes President Senator Naomi Chan to conduct a 2 hours SDG workshop to strengthen the knowledge of our 28 mentees in this particular area. We believe this training could give a solid foundation for the background of their training and secure the accuracy and authenticity.

Beside the content and information deliver in their training, NTDC also pay no less attention to the training and presentation skill of our mentees too. Therefore, a training skill workshop has been arranged on April 27 with National Vice President Senator Terry Chan and 2014 JCI Sha Tin President Senator Priscilla Wan to be the trainer and provide a 4 hours training to educate our mentees the technique and knowledge of structuring the training materials, delivering the content, and facilitating the audiences.

Moreover, to keep our mentees away from fright, we has arranged two experienced JC members who happened to be professional MCs as well, NHT Winita Yeung and JCI City Immediate Past President Cyrus Tang to conduct a training on May 23 also.

With all the effort of all parties, TMP Summit will be no doubt to be the best stage for our mentees to begin their journey as a trainer in JC. Please support them and join the summit in June 9!

Together We Care 2019 – Say No to Add Oil

With one in six Hongkongers suffering from a diagnosable mental health illness, between 2010 and 2015 the number of young people seeking treatment for mental health problems at public facilities increased from 12,500 to 22,300, according to the Hospital Authority's psychiatry department. The biggest jump, 75 per cent, was in those under 15 years of age. As 2019 unfolds, Together We Care will show our care and concern about mental health for primary four to six students and their parents. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Through the three non-general interactions and activities - including drama, picture books, paintings, help parents and children to understand and manage emotions to enable the children to grow up happy and healthily. Sharing on parenting offers families the benefits of both parents building relationships with their kids, encouraging healthy child development, and creating a platform for parents to collaborate efforts for their child's well-being.

More exciting event will be held on 29 Jun 19, stay tuned with us for further details!

首個「Power!Up Day －城市女動力日」從身、心、靈鼓勵女性「愛自己」

現今女性在社會上的角色越來越多元，各人都在不同的場合中擔當著不同的崗位，對內對外都承受著不同壓力，有些女性會因為不同原因放棄自身夢想及初心。由城市女青年商會舉辦的「Power!Up Day －城市女動力日」已於2019年5月18日成功舉動。集合市集、工作坊、心靈、健康、靈性分享等不同活動，希望從「身、心、靈」三大方向，讓女性了解、休整、接受、突破自己成為「現代木蘭」，為「自我」重新定義，希望連結各界的新世代女性，互相鼓勵共同「愛自己」，一同以正面、積極的心態去實現自己夢想！

2019年全港時尚專業女性選舉以「現代木蘭 - 多元現代女性的動人故事」為題，透過表揚由評審委員會每年選出不多於10位在職場及社會服務範疇有傑出表現的女性，以她們如花木蘭般的精神勉勵現代女性，鼓勵更多香港女性毋忘初心、重拾夢想，為社會創造積極正面的影響。選舉詳情：http://jcicitylady.org.hk/hkpels/

Flagship Project - Children's Play Rights

I have a right to relax and play.

Article 31 of the UNCRC says that children and young people have the right to have fun in the way they want to, whether by playing sports, watching films, or something else entirely. They have the right to rest, too.

Children and young people should be able to take part freely in cultural activities, just like adults. The government should make sure it's easy for them to do this whether or not they have a disability.

Therefore, JCI Tsuen Wan launched a flagship project Children's Play Rights since 2017 to react this article. Play Date is just a part of Children's Play Rights project and it was successfully held on 7 April 2019. The function had invited 15 pairs of parents and children to participate and we have 2 professional instructor to teach parent that how to play with your kids and demo in real time. All children are having fun during the event and parents learnt that FREE PLAY is actually good for children to inspire their creative and enhance communication skills.

To enhance the social impact and let more parents to know about children's right to play, we are going to held a Children's Play Rights Carnival on 28 July 2019 at Tsuen King Circuit Sports Centre in Tsuen Wan. Come and join us and disseminate this article!

JCI Lantau's April Monthly Fellowship Gathering

JCI Lantau's April Monthly Fellowship Gathering, to be conducted on 13 April, 2019, will be conducted in the CLP Power's power academy in Shek Mun by CLP Power's immediate past managing director, Ir. Paul Poon. Ir. Paul Poon will be using his 38 years of power industry experiences bringing into light to the participants of managing a stock listed giant on innovating the ways of how Hong Kong is to be powered while attaining United Nation's Sustainable Development Goal No.7, Affordable and Clean Energy.

Can you imagine that with the Hong Kong's standard of living and the unparamountly high land value, CLP is able to generate power and distribute power at a reliability of 99.999% that is more reliable than cities like New York or London while at the same time CLP is charging a energy rate that is lower than our neighbouring cities in China? Through the influential talks by Ir. Paul Poon, the participants will be inspired to step up the quality of the goods sold while managing cost to control the sales price.

Throughout the presentation (Cleaner Energy Greener Future), the participants will be exposed to the different opportunities of building a cleaner Hong Kong for the future. While so, the participants can put into perspective about the business opportunities on how CLP has exploited the green power throughout Asia Pacific. Moving towards a greener future can also be profitable and the business opportunity for cleaner energy has untold business opportunities.
