Message From PATRON

Congratulations to the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce for having successfully organised the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection for the past 18 years. The quality of the Award Recipients and the wide-range of community services that they represent continue to attract the attention of the community and rightly so. Your recipients have extended their efforts through the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Association which they formed in 1977. That Association has undertaken many useful community activities and is taking a growing interest in current issues.

Thanks to the efforts of the Junior Chamber, you have brought together an enthusiastic and contributive group of young leaders, I wish you every success in identifying another good crop of talent this year.

David R. Ford, KBE, LVO, JP

Message From GUEST OF HONOUR

It takes with me great pleasure to congratulate the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce on its success in organizing the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection this year.

Over the past years the Selection has provided a means of recognition and encouragement to many young persons of exceptional qualities in personal achievements and contributions to the community. As human resources is a definite asset to any social and economic development for which the role of young people should be highly valued, the Selection is very significant to the development of Hong Kong, particularly at a time when it enters a new era facing increasing forces of changes and challenges.

May I take this opportunity to wish all the ten award winners would continue to strive for advanced achievements and contributions to the community in the days to come.

Message From JUDGES

In a society such as ours, where hard work, determination, dedication and reward for enterprise play a very large role in peoples daily lives, it is not an easy task to select ten outstanding persons from among the many very worthy individuals, all of whom, in their own way, are a credit to Hong Kong. I am very honoured to have been invited to participate in this year's TOYP selection and be given this splendid opportunity to appreciate the professionalism, expertise and achievement of our own young people who came before the selectors for interviews.

I extend to the awardees and indeed, to all others who have participated this year continued success and best wishes in their endeavours. I also wish to congratulate the Hong Kong Jaycees for organizing yet another successful event.

Roger Lobo, CBE, LLD, JP

The Ten Outstanding Young Persons have achieved success by their own initiative.

I am sure they also have a strong commitment to serving the community of Hong Kong.

To all the awardees this year I appreciate the good work you have done and wish you greater success in the years to come.

Chan Ying Lun, JP

The future destiny of any community is shaped and influenced by the strength and vitality of its leadership which in turn is determined by the qualities of its up and coming young leaders.

Throughout my career, it has been my privilege to work with the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the pursuance of its objectives. In this context, I met quite a number of the outstanding young persons selected over the years. I must congratulate the organizers of this annual event for sponsoring and promoting such a worthy and fruitful cause. They have helped to nurture one of our major social assets.

Augustine Kam Chui, JP
Secretary for Municipal Services

Message From JUDGES

Hong Kong is an outstanding place so it is not surprising that in Hong Kong there should be so many outstanding young persons coming forward for consideration by the panel of judges each year.

To sit as a judge is a rewarding and yet humiliating experience. It is rewarding for it makes an opportunity, however brief, for an in depth discussion with a great many very talented young people who have been nominated for the award. It is humiliating to see such achievement by so many and compare these achievements with one's own life at the same age.

The ten young people selected this year have come from a great variety of callings. They are all outstanding in their own fields but also have in common made considerable contributions to the welfare of Hong Kong.

If any sign was still necessary to demonstrate the certainty of continued success for Hong Kong it would be the promise held out for still greater things for these young people.

Denis Bray, CMG, CVO, JP
Executive Director of the Community Chest of Hong Kong

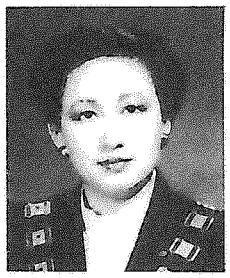

I feel honoured to have been invited again by the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce to serve on the Judging Panel of this year's "Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection" and to contribute a Message to the programme of the Award Presentation Ceremony.

I would first of all like to congratulate all the award recipients on their well-deserved success. As a member of the Judging Panel, I certainly realize that the honour which is now bestowed upon them did not come by chance. These outstanding young individuals have been chosen through a lengthy and thorough process. I am therefore pleased that their dedicated professional achievements and commitments to the community, which have earned them the award, are now being accorded public recognition and commendation.

To conclude, I would like to commend the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce and especially the Chairman and Members of the Selection's Organizing Committee on their praiseworthy efforts in continuing to make the Selection a major event of our community.

Message From PRESIDENT
JAYCEES INTERNATIONAL

It is with a deep sense of pride that I congratulate all the members of Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce on the auspicious occasion of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Award (TOYP) through the medium of this commemorative souvenir book.

I congratulate these young people who are being honoured this year with the hope that they will feel some satisfaction from our efforts to recognize them. Each honouree has shown their commitment, reminding all of us that no problem is too difficult to solve with creative enterprise and hard work. They are living examples of the Jaycees' belief that "Earth's great treasure lies in human personality and that service to humanity is the best work of life." May they accept this honour and may it encourage them to continue to contribute to the betterment of their community and their country.

May the past 15 years serve as a testimonial to current members that this award is a great enterprise and that it is needed in the world today. As you set your sights towards the future I urge you to open your minds to new ideas. Seek out new ways to encourage more young people; to encourage projects that exemplify the ideals and principles of the organization.

I would further like to congratulate the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce for their great efforts to organize this worthy program for so long and also hope that they will continue to recognize such outstanding young people. They are the architects of tomorrow.

Have a wonderful celebration and best regards for a most successful future!

Message From EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT JAYCEES INTERNATIONAL

To honour young individuals, who contribute in an extraordinary way to their community, is one of the Fine Tasks of JCI.

You, Hong Kong Jaycees, clearly demonstrate by this 16th Organisation of TOYP, that you really grasped the mission of JCI.

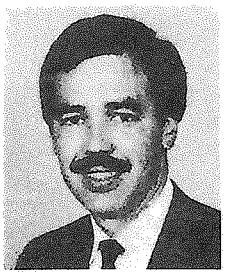

To give young people opportunities and samples to take up their responsabilities towards their community in order to create a better world to live in.

On an international level, TOYP is the most outstanding JCI PR Programme. Your example of 16 years TOYP history shows that it is equally important to conduct this programme at a national level.

Congratulations to the winners, and I personally hope to see one of them as TOYP winner at the next world congress.

It is indeed very inspiring and a great pleasure that the award winners of the Selection have for many years set fine examples for the Jaycees and others, at both national and international level, on striving for service to and betterment for the community.

As an international organization that provides leadership training opportunities for the young persons, we, the Jaycees, share the great honour of the success of the Selection in Hong Kong this year.

May we congratulate the award winners on this occasion and bless them the advancement and success in the forthcoming days.

Message from HON. LIFE PRESIDENT
HONG KONG JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Hong Kong honours its Ten Outstanding Young Persons. This is in recognition of selfless community service and personal achievements far from the ordinary.

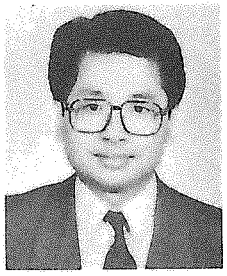

Jaycees in many countries acclaim traditionally the work done by young people beyond the call of duty or the norms of their business or profession. Their achievements are held up for all to know and also surely for other young people to emulate their example.

It is the energy and enterprise of emergent community leaders over the years, strongly supported by the sustained hard-work and self-sacrifice of the mass of the people, that has made Hong Kong such a vibrant and progressive society by any standard.

It is fitting and proper therefore to turn public attention each year to the young people who help Hong Kong to forge ahead in a fiercely competitive world. For, they also hold the promise of further success for the future.

Message From SENATE CHAIRMAN

HONG KONG JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Progress towards a better world has been the main purpose in selecting the Outstanding Young Persons. Essential to this purpose has been the axiom that "progress is the servant of time" and that the significance of a person's life is clearly indicated by achievements made in his most useful years. The young persons selected over the past years have represented the cultural, economic, and personal progress of their time. Many of these young individuals have gone on to become well-known for their achievements. Others, less famous, have nevertheless continued to serve mankind in a great variety of ways.

It is the desire of the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce to honour and recognise those who have achieved and established against great odds.

To the honourees tonight, my heartiest congratulations, may I challenge you to polish your talent and continue to contribute to the well being of the community.

Mr. Aser But

Aser But was born in Macau in 1949 and graduated from Northcote College of Education in 1968, but as a physical education teacher rather than as an artist. Due to his inherent desire to study art, he attended evening classes and eventually graduated in this subject in 1973 from Grantham College of Education.

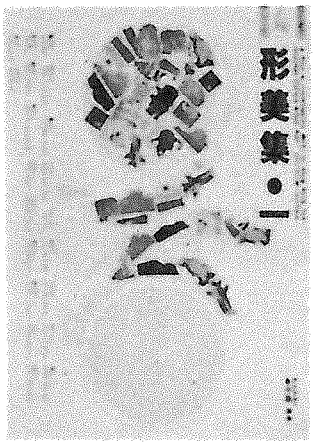

Since then Aser has devoted his whole life to art to become one of the foremost painters in Hong Kong of the present day. Having practised contemporary Chinese painting with the masters Liu Shou Kwan and Wucius Wong, he became Art Master at St. Peter's Secondary School, where he remained until 1979, when he joined the Swire School of Design at the Hong Kong Polytechnic, where he is now a senior lecturer.

Perhaps his main contribution to his field has been his teaching and his willingness to pass on his skills to others. After further study in London and New York, he was able to obtain support to introduce extension courses, which take place in the evening and continue to offer teaching to non-qualified individuals who would not normally have the opportunity to study art.

Aser has also devised and written five volumes of art and design reference books for both students and teachers. Eventually this series will be extended to ten publications, and all are reasonably priced so as to reach the maximum number of people.

It was in 1974 that Aser gave his first exhibition, and since then his works have been exhibited not only in Hong Kong but also in Macau, China, Taiwan, Yugoslavia, West Germany, and the United States. Not surprisingly, he has won various awards over the years for his work. The year 1974 also saw Aser as one of the founders of the Visual Art Society, a group of Hong Kong artists devoted to making the people of Hong Kong more aware of contemporary art.

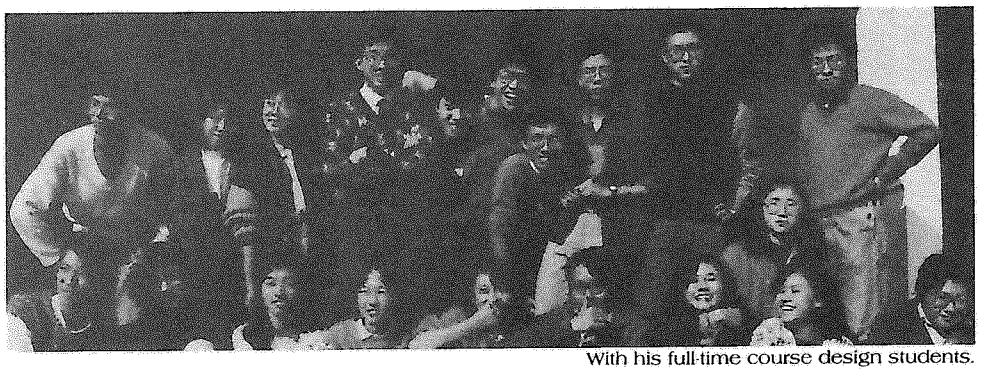

In our commercial world, it is people like Aser who add different aspects to our lives, and who bring credit to our city through the pursuit of an interest which can appeal to anyone. Aser's all-round contribution in his chosen field is more than worthy of the highest recognition.

Third book written by Aser But entitled A Folio of Contemporary Work by H.K. & Overseas Chinese Artists, Part I, 1988.

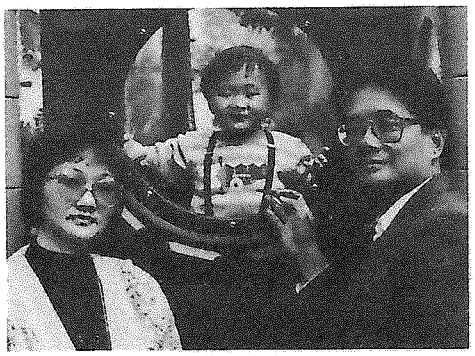

His recent one-person exhibition in Macau in 1986.

With his full-time course design students.

Entitled Heaven by Banyan No. 8, 1987.

Aser & his wife & younger child.

張 瑪 莉
Ms. Mary Cheung

From her early life as an orphan at the Po Leung Kuk, Mary Cheung has taken advantage of all the opportunities that have come her way to become a well-known and respected personality in Hong Kong.

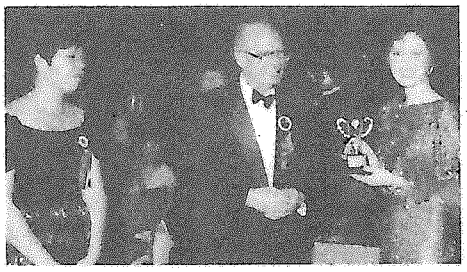

Her unfortunate early beginning to life instilled in Mary an inherent sense of commitment to the community, and there is no doubt that Mary would have performed charitable acts even if she had not won the Miss Hong Kong Beauty Contest in 1975. This event gave her the platform to a career through which Mary has managed to influence thousands of people from different walks of life.

As a television personality, Mary has concentrated on programmes which serve a useful purpose, for instance 'Crime Watch', 'ICAC Special' and 'Family life Education'. Various newspapers and periodicals publish Mary's articles which focus on matters of everyday life and give sound advice to the man in the street, and Mary is always willing to give her time to fund-raising events for charity. More recently, Mary has had her first novel published.

At the same time Mary has tried to develop her own abilities, and since 1980 she has practised Chinese painting and photography. In this respect Mary has participated in various exhibitions and contributed to magazines.

Moreover, Mary recognised at an early stage the importance of academic qualifications, and she has made use of her Diploma in Management Studies to the extent that she is now the Managing Director of her own company in the entertainment field.

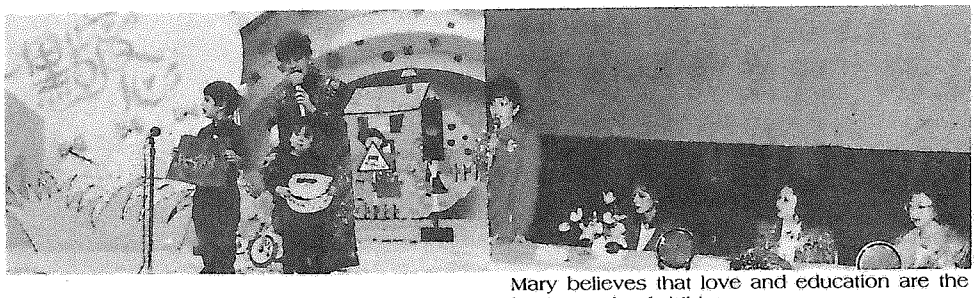

At home, Mary is a devoted wife and mother, adding the final piece to a full life which has been achieved through her own determination to succeed against all the odds.

林 小 玲
Ms. Cecilia Lam

Cecilia was born in Canton, and endured a difficult childhood, partly due to the fact that her parents were divorced when she was very young. All of these early problems instilled in Cecilia a desire to succeed, and having achieved distinction at school she was determined to go overseas to broaden her experience. Her family eventually put aside their objections, based on traditional customs, and Cecilia arrived in Canada at the age of eighteen to pursue her studies.

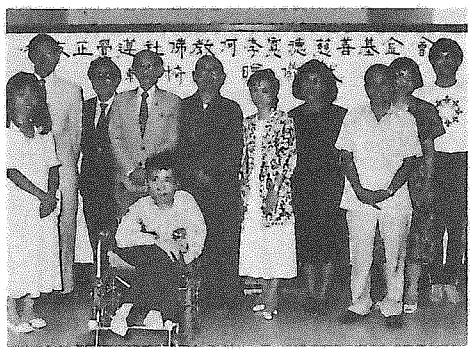

Having chosen her career, occupational therapy, Cecilia was admitted to the University of Manitoba on a three-year diploma course, and during this period she had to supplement her income through working in various jobs. Eventually Cecilia obtained a B.Sc. in Occupational Therapy from Alberta University, and then she worked in several hospitals in Canada gaining experience in rehabilitation.

After thirteen years in Canada, Cecilia finally returned to Hong Kong, having been offered the position of Administrator and Principal Occupational Therapist for Rehabaid & Rotary Rehabaid. In these positions, Cecilia has applied her extensive knowledge to providing better quality health care and to improving the quality of life for disabled persons. Whilst being responsible for the day-to-day running of two rehabilitation centres, and at the same time concentrating on the expansion of the services provided, Cecilia has introduced totally new concepts, for instance focussing on the sexuality of disabled people.

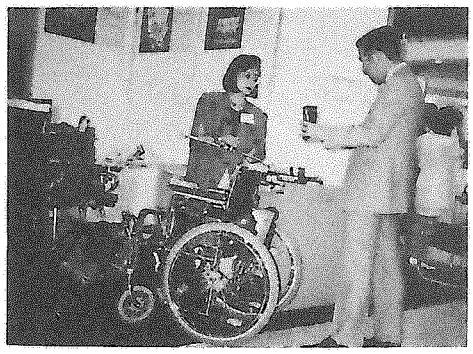

To make Hong Kong people more aware of the problems of the disabled, Cecilia has arranged seminars by distinguished overseas speakers, whilst she continues to devote a large portion of her spare time to training staff and raising money for various projects, one of which is a Mobile Centre to educate the public and bring rehabilitation services to more localities.

Despite her heavy workload, and raising a family as welll, Cecilia has found the time to obtain a M.Sc. in Health Management, and she is also a certified gemmologist. Even in the latter field, Cecilia teaches for one evening a week and strives to convince jewellery companies to offer job opportunities to disabled people.

Through sheer determination, Cecilia has achieved a great deal and has devoted her life to an underprivileged sector of our community, notivated by her desire to help others. As such, Cecilia sets a fine example and is a deserving winner of this award.

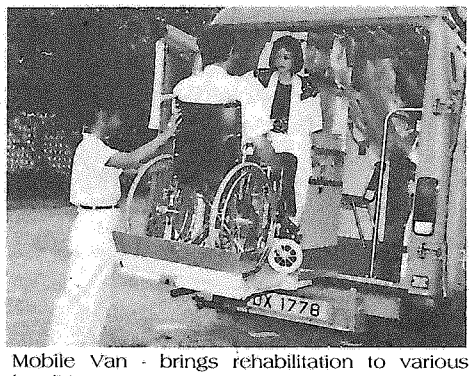

Volunteered help to charitable organization.

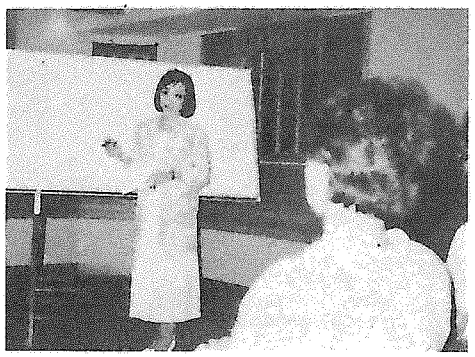

Cecilia's participation in exhibition.

'Toy Library' for disable children with special funding from Rotary Club.

Mobile Van - brings rehabilitation to various localities.

As a qualified gemmologist Cecilia gave presentations in Seminers.

梁 振 英

Mr. C. Y. Leung

C Y Leung ('C Y') was educated at King's College and the Hong Kong Polytechnic before attending Bristol Polytechnic in England where he obtained a B.Sc in Valuation and Estate Management. On returning to Hong Kong, he joined Jones Lang Wootton, a leading firm of international valuers, auctioneers and property consultants, in which he has risen through the ranks to become a proprietor, a most senior position with regional responsibilities.

As a recognised expert in the property sector, C Y participates as a Board Member of the Land Development Corporation and as a member of the Building Committee of the Hong Kong Housing Authority. Through these and various other committees, C Y offers the benefit of his advice and wisdom in formulating policies.

Of most significance is his contribution to a new publication, 'Guidance Notes on the Valuation of Property Assets', which has been put together by a joint working group from the Hong Kong Institute of Surveyors and the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors. Given the relative importance of the property sector in the Hong Kong economy, this document is seen as a major step forward in improving standards within the industry.

An article by C Y, 'The Land Tenure System of Hong Kong', has received wide recognition, and his concern about the training and development of young professionals has led him to become an external examiner at the Hong Kong Polytechnic.

Outside his work, C Y's main contribution is through his position as Secretary General of the Basic Law Consultative Committee, in which he acts effectively as the manager of the backroom team which provides various services to the members. This position entitles C Y to a seat on the Executive Committee, to which he adds his wise counsel.

A true professional and a capable leader, C Y has the potential to play an increasing role in the development of the economy and in the future stability of our society.

C Y is a recognised expert in the property sector.

He shared his professional knowledge with others.

He is the Secretary Ceneral of the Basic Law Consultative Committee.

C Y contributed a lot in community services.

Besides, he also has great interest in sports.

Ms. Christine Loh

Christine was born and raised in Hong Kong, and attended the Island School before continuing her studies in England at Bedford High School and Hull University. At the latter institution, Christine initially studied geology but later changed to law, in which she achieved her degree.

On returning to Hong Kong, Christine joined Philipp Brothers, one of the world's leading commodity houses, as head of the Non-Ferrous Metals Department, and in March 1987, Christine was appointed as Managing Director. The Hong Kong office is the third largest in the Philipp's organisation, with around 50 staff spread across four departments, namely bullion, soft commodities, countertrade and industrial metals.

Outside her work, Christine has a keen interest in a wide range of activities. In the political arena, Christine has been an active member of the Hong Kong Observers, well-known commentators on public issues and more recently concentrating their efforts on the debate and resolution of the Basic Law.

When appointed several years ago, Christine was one of the youngest members of the Law Reform Commission, and she currently chairs a sub-committee studying the Ordinance covering the sale of goods and the supply of services. Still on the public service side, Christine is presently a member of the Admission, Budgets and Allocation Committee of the Community Chest.

Christine's personal interests are mainly devoted to the arts, and she has served on the Board of Governors of the Arts Centre, and on the Board of Directors of not only the Hong Kong Festival Fringe, but also the Chung Ying Theatre Company. Along with a few friends, Christine helped to form The Asian Theatre, which was established to present drama from other Asian countries to both Cantonese and English audiences, an original concept. Finally, Christine plans to establish a mobile exhibition to display works by Hong Kong artists to the ordinary man in the street, and the first such exhibition is scheduled for December 1988.

It is remarkable that Christine finds sufficient time to involve herself in so many different fields, but her effort and interest remains unflagging, and the beneficiaries of her works are the people of Hong Kong in the widest sense.

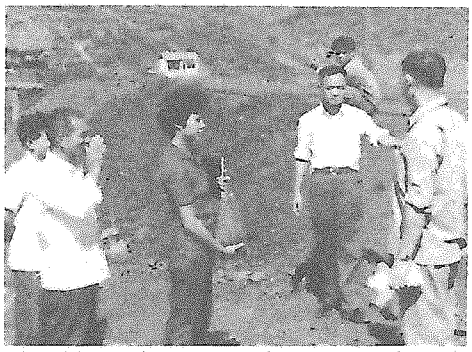

Christine was invited to be a guest speaker in Rotary Club luncheon meeting of Nov. 8, 1983.

Annual X'mas party of Philipp Brothers H.K. Ltd in 1987.

Prime Minister Margaret visit H.K. at reception at Gov't House in Sept. 27, 1982.

1981-1984, Christine used to constantly visit mines & smelters in China.

1987, speech on China Trade to the Korean Trade Association in H.K.

麥 華 章
Mr. Mak Wah Cheung

Perry Mak went to Queen's College and then to the University of Hong Kong, where he studied for a B.A. Degree in Western Philosophy and Comparative Literature. With a keen interest in local politics and foreign affairs, he joined the pro-Beijing newspaper, Wen Wei Pao, in 1975, and by the time he left, in 1987, Perry had risen to become Deputy General Manager.

In his employment with Wen Wei Pao, Perry enjoyed some notable achievements. He travelled widely on assignment, companying Chinese leaders on overseas visits, and in 1980 Perry was the first Chinese person ever to be chosen to attend the Journalists' Institute in Paris under a French Government Scholarship sponsored by the EEC. Perry later identified the need for a European edition of Wen Wei Pao, and in 1981 he was transferred to London to establish this venture. The European edition proved to be an invaluable aid to overseas Chinese, not only in keeping them informed about Hong Kong, but also in helping them to assimilate the laws and customs of European countries.

Inspired by his desire to achieve a totally independent editorial policy, Perry established his own newspaper, the Hong Kong Economic Times, in the latter half of 1987. This publication provides a comprehensive coverage of the economic scene in Hong Kong which, after all, is the basis on which our city is founded. In a saturated market, the newspaper has found its niche and has achieved a very good circulation within a short period.

It is the policy of the newspaper also to make people more aware of charitable institutions and their activities, and Perry's contribution to the community in this respect cannot be denied. He serves on the Public Relations Committee of the Community Chest and on the Communications Committee of the Salvation Army, utilising his journalistic skills to further the aims of these organisations.

Above all, Perry brings a refreshing approach to the world of journalism, and is ever aware of the need for press freedom, backed up by sound, sensible reporting of the facts.

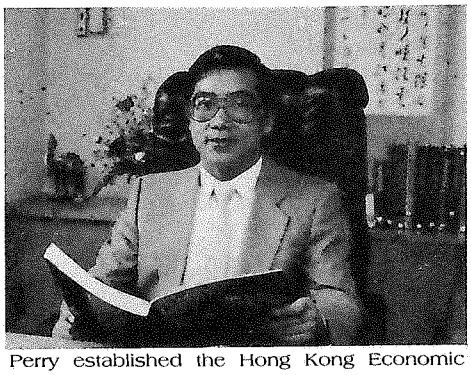

Perry shows his concern to the community not only through the press but also through participation.

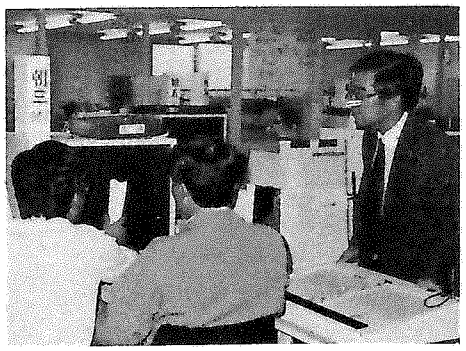

Mak was the Hon. Adviser in raising fund for a Chinese primary school in London in 1986.

Close-encounter with Zhao Ji - yang in Germany 1984.

Perry established the Hong Kong Economic Times.

Visit to the press in Japan in 1986.

Ms. Deborah Siu

Born in Hong Kong, Deborah attended St. Clare's Girls School before taking up her first job in a local tour company. Within a few years Deborah had attained the position of General Manager, and she later became the Chairman & Managing Director. In the early seventies, Deborah purchased a seat on the Kam Ngan Stock Exchange and was the proprietor of her own stockbroking company. Having achieved success in two such diversified industries, Deborah then turned her hand to photography, and she is now the Managing Director of her own studio. In this field, Deborah was one of a group of ten professionals from Hong Kong who won a major prize at an exhibition in West Germany in 1987.

It was during the mid-seventies that Deborah became involved in charitable activities, motiviated by her desire to help others in need. Consequently, Deborah is now participating on the committees of a wide range of organisations and a great deal of her time is taken up in directing and advising on their affairs. Mr. Tam Wing Kun

Tam Wing Kun ('Tam') spent the early years of his life in very difficult circumstances, being forced to take on menial jobs whilst still at school in order to earn money to care for his sick father. Unable to complete his formal education, Tam joined a freight forwarding company as a messenger, and it is a tribute to his hard work and dedication that he eventually founded his own company, Intergulf Express Ltd, which itself is part of a group of companies established by Tam in the airfreight, travel and courier industries. With offices spread throughout the world, Tam's company acts as the General Sales Agent for Saudi Arabian Airlines and LanChile Airlines, and without doubt has established a sound reputation in this very competitive field.

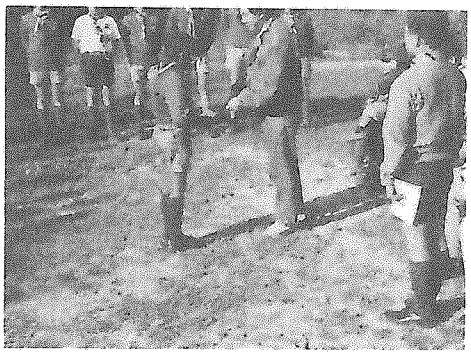

It is through the Lions Clubs, which he joined in 1981, that Tam performs a great deal of social work. He has instigated and played an active role in a multitude of programmes and events geared mainly to the elderly, but also to young people as well. For instance, motivated by his desire to maintain traditional Chinese values, Tam helped to launch the 'Campaign for the Elderly', followed later by the 'Ten Most Outstanding Elderly Contest'.

During the past few years, Tam's efforts towards the Junior Police Call have set a fine example to the young people of Hong Kong and he is currently the Honorary President of the JPC Outstanding Leaders' League. His interest in this sphere extends also to the Kowloon Tong District Scout Council, and Tam was appointed as the Organising Chairman of the 1988 Scout Carnival.

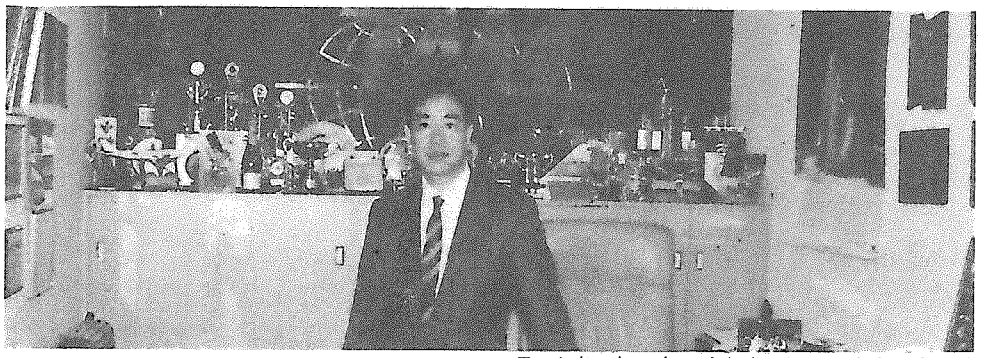

Inspired by the fact that his own dreams came true, Tam has dedicated a part of his life to bringing some joy to the lives of the underprivileged. At the same time, Tam has built up a very successful business from scratch, and he is also a devoted family man. As such, Tam is a deserving winner of this award and he will no doubt continue to play an influential role both in community service and in the business sector, to the benefit of all those around him.

Mr. Richard Tsang

It was at the age of about ten that Richard sensed that his vocation lay in the music field, and his teenage years were spent playing the guitar and composing simple folksongs. An early attempt to study piano-playing met with failure, but eventually Richard went to the Chinese University from which he graduated with honours in 1976. He was then awarded a full scholarship by the University of Hull, England, and became a Master of Music in 1978. Thereafter, he commenced a full-time career in music, starting as a teacher before joining RTHK Radio 4 in 1979, of which he is now the Head.

Aside from his career achievement in obtaining his present position, Richard has composed numerous works ranging from chamber music to large orchestral compositions. Some of his work has been performed overseas whilst he is frequently commissioned by bodies such as the Urban Council and the Hong Kong Arts Centre to compose pieces.

Further he is an active conductor, gives public lectures on music appreciation, writes occasionally for periodicals, and acts as an adviser to various organisations.

To encourage the young, Richard has played an important role in launching annual events such as the 'Young Musicians of the Year' and 'Young Music Makers' competitions, both of which have proven to uncover new local talent.

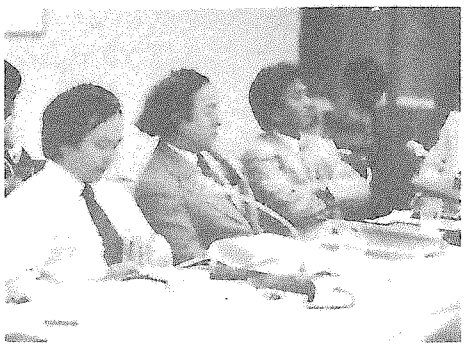

Richard is the Chairman of the Hong Kong Composers' Guild, a professional body aiming to promote Hong Kong music both locally and abroad through various activities. Each year, one composer from Hong Kong attends the International Rostrum of Composers, organised by UNESCO, which is designed to further the exchange of experiences and ideas in the field of music composition.

In developing international links, Richard has also brought about Hong Kong participation in the Asian composers' League and the International Society of Contemporary Music and later this year the 1988 ISCM-ACL World Music Days Festival, of which Richard is the Chairman of the Programme Committee, will take place in Hong Kong.

The Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection, introduced to Hong Kong in 1970, is an annual major project of the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce. Each year the award is open to nominations by the public. After the process of carefully vetting candidates' data by an appointed auditor's firm, the candiates are presented to a Judging Panel consisting of recognised leaders in government, business, industries, various professions and education. Merits are given to the candidates' achievements in their respective fields as well as their contributions of personal time and efforts in service for the community.

The Outstanding Young Persons Award not only gives proper recognition to the achievements of the recipients, but also carries with it certain responsibilities. All of those selected as Outstanding Young Persons are expected to make further contributions to the community of Hong Kong and to serve as inspirational examples to other young people.
